Battle Of The Sexes Starts At Diaper Age, Says Barbour

The contest of male vs. female starts in diapers and customarily ends with the death of the male some years before that of his wife, Dr. Richmond Barbour, Independent-Journal "Parents' Corner" columnist, told a predominantly female audience of more than 200 last night in the Sir Francis Drake High School gymnasium.

Dr. Barbour opened his hour-long, humor-sparked address by telling his audience that he was not going to talk about sex. Strictly speaking, he didn't. He talked about sexes.

The speaker, who besides being a syndicated newspaper colmnist is director of guidance for the San Diego City Schools (and a parent), dealt mainly with the differing problems of rearing boys and girls.

The girls, he said, get a head start with an extra chromosome at the time the egg is fertilized. They stay out in front, developing more rapidly both physically and intellectually, until about the age of 14. Then the boys suddenly shoot skyward, put on muscle, and discover overnight that the female of the species is a very interesting creature.

But by that time, said Barbour, the girls have been aware of boys for two or three years —while the boys, "for the only time in the life of a normal male have been woman haters."

When the boys start to notice them, "it doesn't take the attractive, popular girls over two weeks to find out what's happening," he said. For the rest of their lives, the females

MRS. YOUNG'S WILL

$100,000 Bequeathed To Shrine Hospital

Mrs. Frances M. Young, a founder of the Marin Art and Garden Center who died Feb. 25, left $100,000 to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco.

Filing of a petition for probate and a ninth codicil to the will of Mrs. Young in Marin Superior Court on Thursday also revealed that she left $20,000 to Masonic Homes of California; $1,500 to the Sunny Hills Presbyterian Orphanage in San Anselmo; $5,500 to Guide Dogs for the Blind, San Rafael; $2,000 to the Marin County Humane Society, and $5,000 to the San Rafael chapter of the American Red Cross.

The residuary estate, after a number of personal bequests to friends and relatives, is to be divided between the medical schools of Stanford University and the University of California.

Attorney Francis V. Keesling Sr. of San Francisco said the amount of the estate is not yet known. It includes the mansion at Lagunitas road and Shady lane in Ross where Mrs. Young died at the age of 94 last month.

She was the widow of George H. Young, a San Francisco shoe

Ark Dwellers Win First Legal Skirmish

Judge Turns Down Sausalito Plea On Arques' Boat

Sausalito's ark and houseboat dwellers had cause for rejoicing today.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. yesterday refused to issue a temporary order to prevent Donlon J. Arques, Sausalito waterfront property owner, from permitting inhabitants of the battered old schooner Lassen to "pollute" the waters of Richardson Bay.

Sitting in Marin Superior Court, Judge Sims said the City of Sausalito, which sought the order, failed to offer sufficient evidence of pollution.

FIRST SKIRMISH

It was the first skirmish in Sausalito's latest campaign to rid its waterfront of arks and houseboats it claims are encroaching on the city's underwater streets.

City Atty. John B. Ehlen said inhabitants of the 140-foot vessel were discharging sewage directly into Richardson Bay, thereby contaminating it and making it harmful to fish and wildlife and a public hazard to swimmers.

Arques claimed he does not own the Lassen, berthed in Sausalito since 1932.

BILL OF SALE

His attorney, Wallace S. Myers, said the last bill of sale was made out to W. D. Cleverdon. He said Cleverdon, given berthage for the lumber schooner by Arques' father, now dead, had intended to use the ship again, but never did.

Ehlen told of going aboard the Lassen with William L. Hynes, city building inspector, and finding two toilets not connected to a sewer line. He said they also found evidence the vessel was being used as a dwelling.

"Have you snooped on the other 400 boats in Sausalito and seen what's being done on them?" demanded Myers.

Ehlen displayed photographs of water trickling into the bay from a pipe protruding out of the Lassen's hull. Judge Sims said the pictures and the testimony presented failed to establish grounds for temporary injunctive relief.

Battle Lines In San Rafael Ballot Drawn

Battle lines have been drawn for good in the San Rafael municipal election of April 13.

Police chief — Incumbent Frank Kelly vs. Lt. Charles Chiesa.

Board of education — Five running for three posts. Incumbents are Rex Silvernale, C. Paul Bettini and Roderick P. Martinelli. Newcomers are C. Roy Calder and Bill Thompson.

JUSTICE CARTER SAID CRITICAL

State Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow is in critical condition in San Rafael General Hospital, his physician reported today.

The doctor said a clot in the artery to Carter's right lung is depriving a portion of the lung of blood and is creating a secondary strain on his heart. (Carter was hospitalized last month after suffering a mild heart attack.) The physician said Carter also has pneumonia. Four specialists have been in consultation with Carter's physician.

GUESS IS ONLY 3 OFF

Lucky Carpenter Wins I-J Contest

He's lucky because his guess of the Independent-Journal's paid circulation as of Wednesday was the closest of any of nearly 1,000 who entered the I-J's opinion poll contest. Schoff's guess of 26,932 was only three shy of the actual total of 26,935. This won him $100.

He's lucky because he and his wife, Lee, are leaders of "the finest group of girls you could find anywhere," to use Schoff's words. He refers to Girl Mariner Ship 132.

The girls are lucky because each summer the Schoffs take them on a long camping trip. This year's trip will be the longest of all, to Camp Rockwood, the national Girl Scout camp near Washington, D.C. They'll leave June 22 and return Aug. 10.

"That $100 will buy a few things we need for the trip," Schoff said after being informed of his winning.

The girls travel by truck, with Schoff at the wheel. They camp out and cook their own meals en route. Last year they went to Sante Fe, N.M.; the year before to Payette Lakes, Ida. Nineteen girls have signed up for this year's trip to the national capital.

The Schoffs usually lock up their home at 69 Sequoia road, Fairfax, to make the trip, but this year Schoff plans to rent it.

"The house is paid for, and we don't buy anything on time," he said. "If we had payments to ment, we couldn't go with the girls."

Schoff is a self-employed carpenter and cabinet maker, 50 years old. He and his father came to Marin from Minnesota in 1931 and set up a cabinet shop business on B street in San Rafael, in the building now occupied by the Victory Grocery. After the elder Schoff died, his son closed the shop, and turned to carpentry, working out of his home in Fairfax.

Schoff still does home furniture making, however.

The girls of Mariner Ship 132 sort of substitute for daughters for the Schoffs. For the Fairfax couple has two sons: Clifford, a College of Marin student, and Harland, in the eighth grade of Fairfax Central School.

Here's Breakdown Of Where I-J Goes In County

When Leonard W. Schoff of Fairfax guessed the paid circulation of the Independent-Journal last Wednesday would be 26,932, he was almost uncannily correct.

The actual circulation totaled 26,935. Here's where they went, by districts, according to figures compiled by circulation manager Julian Leone:

San Rafael, 6,930; San Anselmo, 3,946; Kentfield, 1,900; Corte Madera-Larkspur, 1,388; West Marin, 908; Sausalito-Mill Valley area, 3,981; Novato-North Marin, 3,960; Tiburon Peninsula, 1,888. Also there were 267 mail subscriptions.

Dope Pusher Nabbed Via Arrests Here

Marin Information Leads To South S.F. Suspect

A dope peddler who last month yielded part of his marijuana cache to a young armed robber from Marin, was arrested at his South San Francisco home late yesterday by police and state narcotics agents.

Faustin Gene Mascarenas, 45, was apprehended on the strength of information furnished by Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos after two arrests which last week cleared up several major crimes in this county.

Chief Louis Belloni of South San Francisco police said more than two pounds of packaged marijuana was discovered in the home of Mascarenas. The cache, which officers confiscated, would have retailed for somewhere between $1,500 and $2,000, Belloni said.

$2,500 BAIL

Held under $2,500 bail, Mascarenas admitted he was a peddler of marijuana, the police chief reported.

Inspector William Bradley, of the Marin County Sheriff's Office, said today the South San Francisco arrest followed further investigation of Marin armed robbery suspects Leo Anthony Wiest Jr., 20, of 67 Olive avenue, San Anselmo, and Ramon Virgil Balliett, 21, of Santa Rosa. Both are being held in Marin County Jail under $5,000 bail.

ARRANGED MEETING

One night last month, Belliett told Wiest he could show him where to get some marijuana in South San Francisco. Neither had funds to make a purchase, but Balliett arranged a meeting between Wiest and Mascarenas by phoning the latter at his home.

Balliett then drove Wiest to the Mascarenas home, let him out of the car and parked some distance away. Wiest, armed with a .357 caliber magnum revolver stolen in a 1957 San Anselmo car burglary, held Mascarenas at gunpoint and demanded marijuana.

The robbery netted Wiest

2 Kids Hurt In Accidents In Hub City

Two children were injured in separate traffic accidents yesterday in San Anselmo.

A 10-year-old San Anselmo boy, Jimmie Johnson of 14 San Francisco boulevard, was struck by a station wagon on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in front of Isabel Cook School at 5:44 p.m.

The boy was carried on the hood about 10 feet, then dropped to the pavement.

UNDER OBSERVATION

Driver of the station wagon, Robert Paul King, 28, of 122 San Francisco boulevard, was westbound on Drake boulevard in the curb lane. He started to pass to the right of a car stopped at the pedestrian crosswalk in the front of the school.

King said he saw the boy dart across the street and slammed on his brakes. He left 25 feet of skid marks, reported San Anselmo Police Officer Chester C. Orr. King was cited for failure to yield a pedestrian right of way.

OFFICER HURT

The child is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young. Officer Orr, while helping to put the boy into a United Ambulance, suffered a cut on his right shoulder and a torn shirt from a tree cutter protruding from a passing car.

Sarah Wilkinson, 3-year-old granddaughter of attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, suffered a gash on her forehead which required five stitches to close in an automobile collision at 8:55 p.m.

The little girl was in a car driven by her grandmother, Mrs. Susan Fenton Gardiner, 56, of 2 Angela avenue, San Anselmo. Mrs. Gardiner was cited for failure to yield the right of way. Her auto came out of a driveway at 50 Park way and hit a sheriff's car driven by Deputy John Joseph Can-

Sports Show Crowds May Top 30,000

The large crowd that jammed the opening of the Marin Rod and Gun Club's sixth annual Sports and Boat Show at Bermuda Palms, San Rafael, last night indicated attendance for the three-day show would exceed 30,000, co-chairman Barney DeBisschop said today.

"It was our largest opening night crowd," said DeBisschop, "and if the good weather continues through tomorrow, we should top all expectations as far as attendance is concerned."

The show will be open until 11 o'clock tonight and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow.

On display are the largest selection of boats in the show's history, along with the latest hunting, fishing, camping and other outdoors equipment.

Exhibitions by the Marin Skin Divers Club and Northwoods Bowmen's Clubs, plus moving pictures on outdoors subjects, share the spotlight with the exhibits.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

South Sea Voyage Party Incentive

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Three of the four young men who are soon to leave aboard their ketch for a year in the South Seas are being honored at a large cocktail party tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willcutt in Kent Woodlands. Honored will be Jack's brother, Beal Willcutt, Gilbert Wheat Jr., and James Cunha. Also hosting the party are Beal's other brother, Dick Willcutt, and his wife, Kitty, and Beal's sister, Mrs. Bert Broemmel (Jean Willcutt) and her husband.

The three young men with Henry Taft, who is arriving next week from New York, will sail about the middle of April aboard the 46-foot ketch "Blue Sea" which is now anchored at Sausalito. Beal and Gil are living aboard the vessel now and installing a diesel engine. Jim, a San Francisco attorney, works aboard the ketch weekends. I phoned Beal (yes, there is a phone on the vessel) and he said he and his partners are taking along a dinghy so they can cruise around and land on the small islands. They'll sail first to Marquesas Islands and then to the Society Islands, landing first at Tahiti. I asked him if there were a possibility of making a cruise around the world and he replied that he and his pals had been "talking" of it. Beal returned some time ago from Europe where he was with the American Red Cross. Gil, whose first book for children, "Ants," will be published this fall by Simon and Schuster hopes to garner material for other books and articles on the cruise. Hank Taft was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Doubleday Co.

MORE CONVENTIONAL is the mode of travel of the Brown Woodburys of San Rafael who left last night for a trip around the world. They are traveling by plane and will go to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Macao, Manila, Djakarta, Bali, Bangkok, Calcutta, New Delhi, Vale of Kashmir, Agra, Madras, Colombo, Kandy, Bombay, Cairo, the Holy Land, Beirut, Istanbul, Athens, Rome and then visit Spain, Portugal, France, the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles.

TRAVELERS were the honor guests at the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schutte of Ross gave last night at the Olympic Country Club at Lakeside. Honored were the J. Benton Tulleys of San Anselmo who depart for Europe on March 27 and the Jack V. Watsons of San Francisco who take off for their continental tour on April 11. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Earle Young, who with their daughter, Linda, are going to visit the Orient soon, and Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Quilici, John Merryman and John N. Dicks, the latter couple from San Francisco.

A ST. PATRICK'S dinner party is being given tonight by the Charles Cains at their home in Greenbrae. However, only the decorations, not the menu, will carry out the theme. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barsocchini and Mr. and Mrs. George McKenna. On Saturday, March 21, Mr. and Mrs. Cain, with their daughter Candy are leaving for Palm Springs for Easter week. They'll headquarter at the Tennis Club.

HEEDING THE ADVICE, "Next time take the train," the Arthur V. Fays chose that mode of travel for their weekend visit in Reno, leaving on Thursday.

A DESSERT PARTY was given Thursday night by Mrs. Clifford Worth at her home on Palm Hill in Larkspur. Afterward she and her guests attended the Cove Players' production in Tiburon, a benefit for the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Worth's guests were Mesdames Victor Verdellet, William Henderson, George Boardman, Joseph Murray, Dwight Maxwell, Gail Adams, Jack Witt, Neil Ball, Edward Worth, Charles McLeran and Jack Van Wart.

THE THIRTEENS did it. Last night in one of the swank hotels in Washington, D.C., a highly successful fund raising event for the Democratic Women's organization was held. Mrs. Clement W. Miller, wife of Congressman Miller, was one of the 13 wives of Democratic legislators participating in the Friday, the 13th, benefit. Thirteen skits were presented.

A TOUR of the South has been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pring of San Anselmo who left here on Jan. 31. They went to Carlsbad Caverns, crossed the border to see Juarez in Mexico, and visited the important cities in the southern states. They were in New Orleans for five days, during the Mardi Gras, went to St. Augustine and down the east coast of Florida to Miami Beach. They left Key West by plane for Havana, Cuba, where they found life quite normal and the people hospitable and friendly. Back in the States, the Prings started their return journey over the Azalea Trail.

A DINNER PARTY will be given tonight by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow at their home in San Anselmo. Their guests will be Judge and Mrs. Harry Neubarth and Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Quinlan, Don Fleming, Floyd Gilman and Ralph Noah.

The Longfellows had as their guest for three weeks, Mrs. Evan L. Noyes (Clara Rideout). She left on Monday to rejoin her five children at their home in Indianapolis.

IN THE MEADOW of her new home in Hilldale, San Anselmo, Mrs. James Leach is entertaining the children of the neighborhood at an Easter egg hunt on Easter morning. She will be assisted by her granddaughter, Wendy Wilkins, and Mesdames Carl Weber and William During. Mrs. Leach is calling her new home "The Principality," the same name as the ranch she owned many years ago at Los Altos.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach recently sold their home on Crest road in Ross to Col. and Mrs. Charles Diehl. Lats night Mr. and Mrs. Leach were honored at a dinner party to celebrate their 27th wedding anniversary. It was given by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilkins of Ross.

HONORING Mrs. Clifford Mallory of New York, her sister, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore entertained at a luncheon at the Meadow Club on Wednesday following the Marin Symphony Guild concert preview. Mrs. Mallory recently arrived from a three months' tour of the Orient and will leave on Monday for New York. Last night, she, Mrs. Livermore and Mrs. Benjamin H. Dibblee made a threesome at the symphony. Mrs. Livermore's other guests at the luncheon were Mesdames Dibblee, Alfred Hurtgen, Frank Stratford, Margareta Katner, Misses Louise Boyd, and Newell Drown.

Several other luncheon parties followed the preview. Mrs. Robert Schultz, president of the symphony guild, entertained Mesdames Benton D. Mathews, Earle Marsh, Frank Hickman, Frank Kaye, Alvin Rockwell, F. A. Juch and Miss Emma Krohn.

Mrs. Fred Drexler had as her luncheon guests Mesdames A. J. Oehler, Delmar Clinton, Rodney B. Hartman, Philip Antrobus and Strothers Jones.

THE ORIENTAL and continental influences were combined effectively in decorations for the luncheon Mrs. Alfred Kuehl gave recently at her home in Kent Woodlands honoring Mrs. Gus Niederholzer and Mrs. William H. Price. As Gus and Peggy left on Wednesday for an extended tour of the Orient, lovely Oriental figurines were on the table. These vied for attention with the beautiful Royal Doulton figurines placed to honor Ruth Price. As she and her husband are soon leaving for Europe by BOAC and will buy a "Triumph" for their tour, there were a miniature plane an an auto caravan on the table. Guests saying bon voyage to Ruth and Peggy were Mesdames John Merryman, Mert Hipsley, Sherman Beers, Willard L. Frier, Peter Giovanzana, Paul Nederman, Hugh Middleton, Howard Haswell and Don Albertsen. This evening the Albertsens are hosting a large cocktail party at the Meadow Club.

SOUTH AMERICAN CARNIVAL was the name of the cruise which Mrs. Frank Howard Allen and her sister, Mrs. Uda Waldrop, made, and from which they have just returned. The name was chosen because the highlight of the cruise was the carnival in Rio de Janeiro. The two sisters left here on January 30 and spent a week in New York before boarding the "New Brazil" for the cruise which took them to Barbados, Rio, Santos, Montevideo, Buenos Aires and then back to Bahia and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. In New York again, Mrs. Allen and her sister spent another week before flying home.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS TOLD

The engagement of Joanne Picetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Picetti of Larkspur, to John Ferris Manning was announced recently at a tea given by her mother. The bride-elect has one brother, Joseph N. Picetti.

Joanne attended Notre Dame Convent through her grammar school and secondary years. She was graduated in June, 1957.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Manning of Hopland, is the eldest of five children, two brothers, Michael Fraser and Kevin Arthur, and two sisters, Maureen Ann and Joan Patricia. John is now attending the University of San Francisco where he is majoring in mathematics. He will receive the degree in June of 1960.

The couple plan to be married next January

AAUW Group Will View Model Of Bay

Members of the legislative section of Marin Branch of the American Association of University Women will make a trip to see the Bay Area Model at Sausalito on Tuesday, March 17, Mrs. William D. Fusselman, legislative chairman, anounces. She says that all members of the branch are invited. The group will leave in an automobile caravan at 9:30 a.m. from the home of Mrs. Alice Cochrane, 220 Kent Avenue in Kentfield.

The members will be taken on a conducted tour at 10 a.m. to view the model which the Army Engineers have installed at the former Marinship yards. Slides will also be shown of the proposed Biemond Plan

ALUMNAE

Election Day Slated By Pi Phi

Election of officers of the Marin Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi, Marin County, will take place Wednesday evening, March 18.

The meeting has been called for 7:45 p.m. at the Terra Linda home of Mrs. Dean H. Brokaw at 696 Las Colindas drive. Co-hostesses are Mesdames Daniel H. Anderson, Murray B. Peterson, Joseph Shipman and Peter S. Sommer Jr. Dessert will be served.

Other business will include plans for the annual Founders' Day luncheon April 21 at the Meadow Club and the May 20 Junior Bazaar at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Robert Kettenbach.

The Bay Area Council will meet May 12 at the home of the president, Mrs. Marion Scott in San Rafael. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Armor attended the last council meeting.

Initiation of the U.C. Pi Beta Phis included a class of 28 Saturday evening, March 7 at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Among the initiates were Janet Crist and Jerry Spencer of Marin. Janet, the daughter of Mrs. Anne Crist of 147 Pine street in San Anselmo, is a sophomore at U.C. She was graduated from Drake High School

DAR To Hear Of Conclave

Members of El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet on Monday at the home of Mrs. Christian J. Matthew in Greenbrae for luncheon and a business session. A report on the state conference in San Francisco will be given. Delegate to the conference was Mrs. Herbert K. Walton. Other members attending were Mesdames E. P. Bartholomew, A. E. Bermudez, J. L. Chaille, L. A. Dervan, K. R. Gregory, Vera Harlan, Thomas L. Harris, J. P. Hellman, C. J. Matthew, Julian Rice, G. K. Zantow and Dr. Eugenia M. Campbell. Hostesses for Monday's luncheon will be Mesdames A. E. Bermudez, B. F. King, R. E. Mittelstaedt, J. H. Smith and G. K. Zantow.

Mrs. John P. Hellman, II, regent of El Marinero Chapter, visited Park School in Mill Valley recently to present an American flag to the members of Brownie Scout Troop Number 281. The girls took part in a beautiful flag ceremony with the chapter's gift. Members of the troop are Patricia Collins, Rita Cromer, Haroldine Dunn, Bonita Kompf, Sheryl Norush, Darlene Persson, Nancy Reggio, Ricky Swarthout, Josephine Weeder and Leslie Wood. Mrs. Richard Weeder is the leader and her assistants are Mesdames V. E. Norush and G. E. Persson.

Priscilla Holmer To Be Bride March 28

On Easter Saturday afternoon, March 28, Priscilla Holmer will exchange marriage vows with Michael Bull at St. John's Church in Ross. The reception, following the 3 o'clock ceremony, will take place at the Kent Woodlands home of Priscilla's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Holmer.

The Rev. Harold E. Hallett will officiate at the nuptials. Priscilla's sister, Jane, who is a lawyer and a member of the legal staff of the International Cooperation Administration, is coming from Washington to be maid of honor. Elizabeth Conner of Greenbrae, a Kappa Alpha Theta sister of the bride, will be a bridesmaid and her fiance, Ens. John Cox, USNR of Piedmont, will be an usher. Priscilla has asked her friend since early girlhood, Molly Kent, daughter of the Roger Kents, to be her other bridesmaid. However, Molly is now in India and it is not certain she will be back for the wedding. She and her mother went together to the Orient but Mrs. Kent returned home and Molly went on to India.

Clark Deichler of Ross will be best man and Richard Gaetjen of Kentfield will be the other usher.

Mike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Bull of Ross, and his bride, will go to Santa Barbara for the wedding trip and will reside in an apartment in the Marina in San Francisco. A graduate of California School of Arts and Crafts in Berkeley he recently completed graduate work there and is now in business in San Francisco. Both he and Priscilla were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. His family formerly resided in Honolulu and he attended Punahou School there.

Priscilla, who attended Katharine Branson School, was graduated from University of California last year and is doing graduate work there.

A week ago tonight, Priscilla and Mike were honored at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Duffy and Mr. and Mrs. Nemschoff at the Duffy home in Fairfax. It was a two-generation affair, young people and their parents.

Elizabeth Conner will be hostess at the Spinster dinner a week from tonight and on March 24 Mrs. Millard Rogers is giving a tea at her home in Bret Harte Heights for Priscilla.

Salvage Sale Slated

In addition to the salvage sale on Saturday, March 21, at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley being held as a benefit for the British Benevolent Society of California, a home cooking stall will feature British recipes. Anyone having articles for the salvage sale is asked to notify Mrs. E. Carol Jackson of Mill Valley who will make arrangements for pickup. The British Benevolent Society of California was formed in San Francisco about a hundred years ago to care for nationals of the British Commonwealth in California.

Music Listening Group

The Couples Music Listening Group of Marin Branch, American Association of University Women will meet on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christensen, 18 Rolingwood drive, San Rafael. Listening to records will begin at 7:30. Mr. Christensen is program chairman for the evening and Mrs. Christensen will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Smith with hostess duties. Those attending are to made reservations with Mrs. Otto H. Meyer.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ike Speaks Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's report to the nation Monday night on the Berlin situation will contain no surprises and set forth no new policies, informed sources predicted today.

The talk could be regarded mainly as an educational effort, the sources said, in a move to put the Berlin situation into perspective as the President sees it.

Eisenhower's speech will be carried over KPIX television (Channel 5) and radio stations KNBC, KGO, KCBS and KFRC at 6:30 p.m. (PST).

KRON-TV (Channel 4) and KGO-TV (Channel 7) will run taped rebroadcasts at 9:30 p.m.

Urges War Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union can be deterred from "a final showdown at this time," predicts Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, if the United States is determined "to go to war if necessary for Berlin."

"We must be willing to go all the way down the road," says the Army chief of staff. "We can't turn back at any point."

Aid Cut Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower will be lucky if he gets three billion dollars from Congress out of the nearly four billions he wants for foreign aid.

Hays, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee who has voted for the overseas program in the past, spoke as congressmen eyed for economies the program sent them by the President yesterday.

Russ Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last October's nuclear tests by the Soviets produced a record rise in the radioactive debris in the stratosphere, says Dr. Willard F. Libby.

Libby, scientist member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said the rise was tremendous—the greatest in all the history of weapons testing by the Soviets, Americans and British.

Duncan Jury Rests

VENTURA (AP)—A jury which has heard three weeks of testimony is resting over the weekend before deciding Elizabeth Duncan's fate.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, is charged with hiring two men to strangle her attractive daughter-in-law, Olga Duncan, 30.

The jurors will meet Monday to begin deliberating. The prosecution has asked for a first-degree murder conviction, which is punishable by death or life imprisonment.

Freight Car Rampage

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Wrecking crews picked over a half-block of destruction today to determine if there were any more victims in the rubble left by seven runaway freight cars.

One person was killed and at least 16 injured, two of them seriously, when a gondola car and six box cars loaded with plywood thundered down the tracks at 60 miles an hour yesterday.

The runaway cars crashed through the Union Pacific depot, rumbled across a busy thoroughfare then plowed into a building housing two cafes, an automotive shop and several smaller shops.

Craemer Has Surgery

Justus F. Craemer, co-owner of the Independent-Journal, was reported in "good" condition today at Marin General Hospital, where he is recovering from minor surgery yesterday. He is expected to leave the hospital in a week.

Indian Ocean Revolt

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Rebels reportedly have seized five of the Maldive Islands in the Indian Ocean. The Maldivian government hinted today it considers the revolution pro-British and linked it with the British plans for an air base on Gan Island, headquarters of the rebel government.

Crash Injures 8

FAIRFIELD (UPI)—Eight persons were injured, none critically, today when a Greyhound bus struck a truck-trailer loaded with lumber in a rear-end collision on Highway 40 about 40 miles northeast of San Francisco.

Trees Being Planted In Sleepy Hollow

The two-mile length of Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow will remain a tree-lined boulevard, thanks to the determined efforts of the Legend Club, the Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. and several Boy Scout troops, who today and tomorrow are planting 100 young poplar trees along the route.

The community effort is being made to replace many old eucalyptus trees recently felled by the county as hazards, said Mrs. Richard Ehrhart, president of the Legend Club.

The trees are being planted by the members of Boy Scout Troops 50 and 70, Cub Packs 50 and 70, and Explorer Post 50 of Sleepy Hollow. They and other volunteers will be served refreshments during breaks in the labor

Science Fair Under Way At Cook School

Parents who visited Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo today could find out a lot about what their children and the neighbors' children can do.

On display were exhibits produced by about 180 Isabel Cook children for the school's science fair, a prelude to the Marin County Soience Fair to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Some of the exhibits were individually produced. Some were the results of group efforts. Some were produced entirely during classes and others were put together at home, said Principal James W. Stinchcomb.

Winners of honorable mention were Roger Bovard, eighth grader; Ed Kwiatkowski, Gregory Sherrick, Sharon Warrington and Nancy Smith, eighth graders, with a group exhibit, and seventh grader Libby Doucet.

The prize-winning and honorable mention winners will be exhibited in the Tam high fair, Stinchcomb said.

Chamber Hits Service Station Plan

Directors of the Novato Chamber of Commerce have voted to oppose developer Gerald Hoytt's plans for two service stations on Grant avenue opposite the present end of Seventh street.

The chamber board Thursday said it is reiterating a stand previously taken to oppose establishment of service stations in that area which would have access onto Grant avenue. It would not oppose stations with access onto the proposed Seventh street extension.

Hoytt's plans for the first phase of a contemplated shopping center on 15 acres along the south side of Grant avenue opposite Seventh street will be considered by the county planning commission at 2 p.m. Monday. The first phase plans include the two stations.

Marinite Elected At Demo Conclave

I-J Special Report

FRESNO—Mill Valley attorney Gerald N. Hill was elected to the board of directors of the politically powerful California Democratic Council at its convention in Fresno last night.

Hill, vice chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, easily out-polled Mrs. Irving Davisson of Napa for the post. He will represent the 1st Congressional District on the 30-man board.

Another local development in the convention which lasts through tomorrow was the announcement of opposition to Mrs. Gordon Strawbridge of Mill Valley for northern vice president of the organization. Izzy Barlas, prominent Petaluma poultry rancher and vice chairman of the Sonoma Democratic Central Committee, was the second nominee for the position.

Mrs. Strawbridge was Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk's campaign manager for Northern California in the November election. The voting for the vice presidency will be held tonight.

Twenty-two Marin delegates are present in Fresno.

Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands, vice chairman of the state Democratic Central Committee, introduced Sen. Clair Engle to the 3,500 delegates and alternates. Esther Lemley from Marin has been named 1st District delegation secretary.

Director Hill's first official act after his election at a district caucus which lasted to 2 a.m. was to announce adjournment for the weary 51st District Democratic club representatives.

BARBOUR

make the males pay for that two years when they couldn't be bothered with boy-struck girls.

The parent-counselor warned his audience of parents: "Don't get sarcastic when they fall in love."

"When we were in love it was wonderful," he said, "but when our children fall in love it is just plain nauseating. But don't let them know it."

ONE BIG WORRY

"One of the things that worries me most about modern education," he said, "is that I'm afraid we expect every child to be a happy, back-slapping used-car salesman type. If this happens, I wonder what will become of our civilization."

The educator rapped his fellow educators also for training girls "to be anything except a mother." The girls emerge from college with great career plans in their heads, he said. The first baby jolts them into rude disillusionment.

Little boys, he said, are born struggling against the strange, new world. They never quite get over it. That's why they behave like savages. And that's why even the grown man "should have at least one week a year when he doesn't have to shave or keep clean." But the typical city man "hardly dares to be a male," said suburban-dwelling Dr. Barbour.

Like the de-masculinized men, the de-feminized women have a tough time of it. "Pity the (quote) successful businesswoman who's eating her heart out in a world that's a little bit too hard for her!" he exclaimed.

FEMALE DURABLE

The female, said Dr. Barbour, can better withstand starvation, over-eating, heat, cold, disease and radiation than the male. And she adapts herself to the world more easily.

She will live longer. "You'd better look forward to being a widow for a good period of years," he told the mothers in the audience.

But to the age-old question, "which sex is superior?" Barbour answered, "We don't know."

Intelligence tests don't "prove them equal," he declared—because questions showing a sex variant have been eliminated from the tests.

So those very tests again prove they are different—vastly so, from the cradle to the grave.

Dr. Barbour appeared under auspices of Parent-Teacher Assns. of San Anselmo, Fairfax and Greenbrae. He was introduced by Mrs. William Turney.

ARREST

nine tins of marijuana and some pills of as yet undetermined content. He divided the loot with Balliett.

After obtaining this information, Bradley said today, the sheriff's office tipped off state narcotics agents and South San Francisco police about the activities of Mascarenas.

Bradley said Mascarenas also is suspected of having made numerous flights to Mexico and Los Angeles to pick up marijuana supplies for sale in Northern California.

When Balliett was arrested in Sonoma County, officers found a single marijuana cigarette concealed in his car. Wiest was arrested last month on charges of possession and use of marijuana, released on bail, then picked up last week on the armed robbery charges.

Bradley said Wiest told of robbing the Kentfield Pharmacy and a Santa Rosa market last year while under the influence of marijuana. Balliett is accused of driving the getaway car after the Kentfield holdup, which netted $173.

Wiest also has confessed to the $233 robbery of a San Francisco market last May 11, Bradley said. A portion of that loot later was returned by the youth in an envelope stuck under the market's front door, the inspector said.

Secretary Held On Charge Count

A San Anselmo secretary was in Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of passing about $300 worth of bad checks since January.

Mrs. Lois Elizabeth Pickart, 36, was picked up in Bakersfield and brought back to Marin Thursday by Asst. Police Chief Sam Serio of San Anselmo. She was in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. She gave her address as Post Office Box 202, Woodacre.

Serio said Mrs. Pickart worked for an insurance company under an assumed name until February.

Two Historic Days In Fight To Obtain Religious Liberty

Religious liberty — the freedom to worship as one's conscience dictates—is and should be the most guarded of all our blessings under the American way of life. Yet this right did not come easily or quickly, and like some of our other freedoms it had to be fought for.

Two days of this March commemorate important historical landmarks in the struggle for religious liberty.

On March 15, 1683 — 276 years ago tomorrow—Anne Hutchinson was banished from Boston because her religious beliefs did not conform to those of her neighbors. In the last month of pregnancy, she led a small daughter by the hand and walked to Rhode Island to seek shelter in Providence with Roger Williams, who had set up a more liberal regime there.

The other important date is March 16. It was on that day in 1641 that an important meeting was held by settlers in various Rhode Island towns. It was at this gathering that they adopted a form of government called "a democratic or popular government" in which no one was to be "accounted a delinquent for doctrine."

And so the first landmark was passed in what was to be a long struggle for religious liberty.

Today, centuries later, we still must be on guard lest our hard-won right of religious liberty be weakened by bigots who preach hate against Americans of one religion or another, trying to turn Christians against Jews, and blaming one group or another for the nation's ills.

Such rabble-rousers we must recognize for what they truly are—traitors to our American way of life.

Good Americans understand that their right to worship in their own way is weakened if they show prejudice against neighbors of other faiths. Freedoms are interdependent and when we trod on our neighbor's liberty we threaten our own.

Let's always remember that freedom of worship is one of our nation's strongest bulwarks. Let's all guard it sacredly.

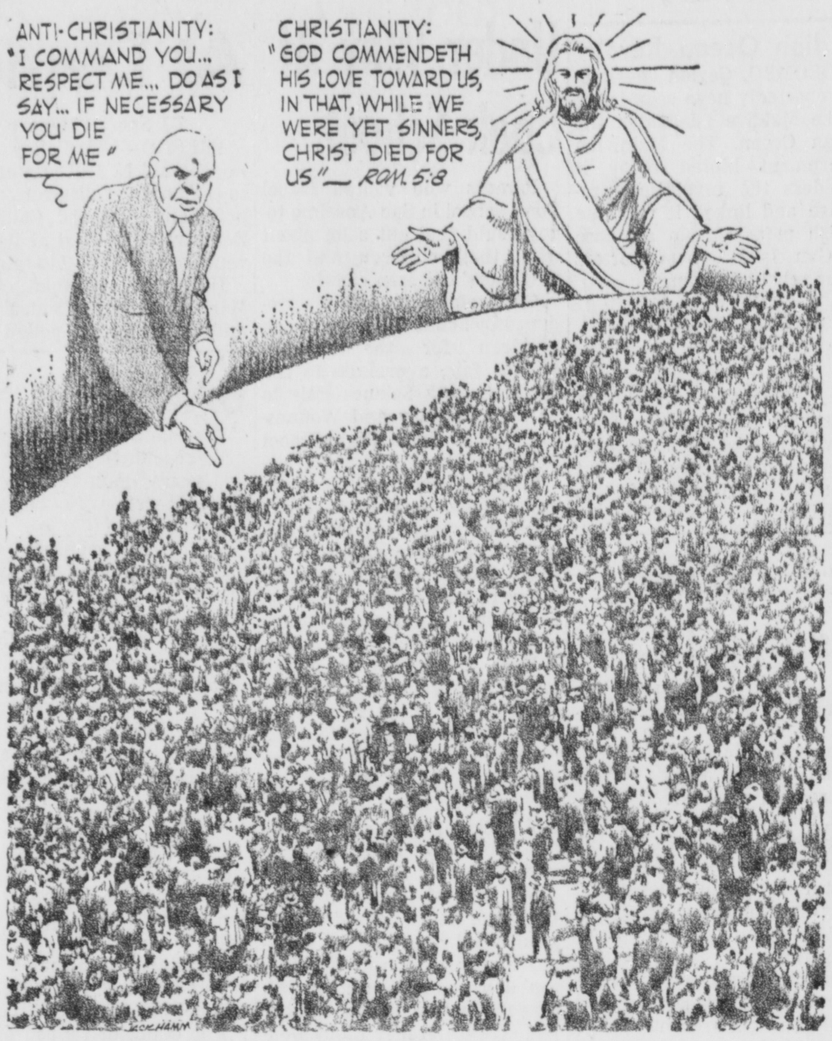
MERE PAWNS OR REAL PERSONS



THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

RECORD PRICE

The book, originally printed in Germany, is 9 by 6½ inches long and consists of 168 parchment pages illuminated with Biblical symbols.

Those who place such value on works of art can gain far richer treasure for themselves if they become imbued with the motivation which inspired their enduring beauty.

The original workers devoted painstaking effort to the long and arduous task of handlettering and embellishing this reproduction of Holy Scriptures. They were motivated by an ardent yearning to render glory to God and to be instrumental in reminding their fellowmen of the lasting beauty of His inspired word.

Develop the habit of reading a daily passage from the Holy Bible and then do something to apply its changeless message to our changing times.

"Thou are God, and thy words shall be true: for thou hast spoken to thy servant these good things." (2 Kings 7:28)

Allow me, O Divine Savior, to play a role in helping mankind to know Your truth, goodness and beauty.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

By CHAPIN A. DAY

The three-day annual meeting of the California Democraitc Council got under way last evening with a record number of Democrats in attendance, including 30 or so from Marin, even though it is not an election year.

One obvious reason is that last November their candidates were elected. It's a real celebration.

But the delegates have something else on their minds. They are thinking to next year when a presidential election is scheduled. They'd like the White House, too. And they want to be sure of keeping the state Legislature.

So this weekend's event is called an "issues conference." They're going to discuss the issues in (1) civil rights, (2) foreign policy, (3) natural resources, (4) planning for population growth, (5) economic problems, (6) public finance, and (7) election reform.

At first they were to pass no resolutions, but now that has been compromised so that resolutions will probably be adopted if they concern "pending legislation."

Marin Democrats are in the forefront as usual. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley is co-chairman for Northern California of the whole conference, helped with all the planning.

Gerald N. Hill of Mill Valley is on the Credentials Committee and is one of the section leaders in the discussions of public finance. Hill also was elected last night as CDC director from the First Congressional District, although he had to poll more votes than Helen Davisson of Napa to do it.

Another Marinite due for election is Nancy Strawbridge of Mill Valley. She's expected to be elected CDC vice president from Region V, which includes the First, Second and Third Congressional Districts. Her election is due tonight.

And then the regular top Demos from Marin, Elizabeth Smith of Kent Woodlands, Democratic national committeewoman, and Roger Kent, Democratic State Central Committee vice chairman, are also in evidence. Pretty good for a Republican county.

UNSUCCESSFUL GOP candidate for Congress, Fred Dupuis of Tiburon, has been getting some sly digs from friends because his campaign billboard just south of Novato is still very much in evidence.

"Did you take a two year lease on it?" they're asking him.

"Have you started to run already for next year?"

There was no two year lease —just two months. He just got his money's worth, Fred says.

On the other question, he hasn't such a concrete answer.

Yes, he is interested in running again. But No, he is not running, not unless he sees more support, more organization and more money than he had last time.

He'd enjoy running again, he'd like to be congressman. But he'd also be happy to campaign for someone else if the new candidate had the time, the organization and the money to make the race.

Now do you understand about that billboard?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Praise For Servicemen's Help

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

When I returned to Sausalito with my boat late Wednesday afternoon, a friend of mine showed me the article with reference to my being marooned on the mud flats off Mare Island.

It was quite evident that the article was a rewrite as I had not yet returned to the office when Larry Lovett phoned. I am not so concerned that some of the facts were not correct, but quite unhappy that the term "belatedly" was used with reference to the Coast Guard. I am sure that it was not the intention of your paper to criticize this branch of the government. Frankly I cannot praise them enough for the service they gave me; this also applies to the four navy men from Mare Island for their part in the rescue.

The boat was in an extremely bad spot and it was Jim Moore, boatswain's mate first class, that called in the navy for assistance. Mr. Moore is the Coast Guard officer in charge.

I am aware that the item of my rescue is no longer news, but if it is possible for you to find a way to give some credit to the men responsible for the rescue, I would greatly appreciate your doing so.

Coast Guard: Jim Moore, Bosun's Mate, 1st Class. Unfortunately, I did not get the names of the two men that assisted him.

I might add here that I was a guest at Mr. Moore's home overnight and he and his wife did everything possible to make me feel very welcome. He had my boat thoroughly checked the next morning and then I was on my way.

If there are any errors in this letter, you can blame them on the fact that I have had just about 17 hours sleep since Sunday night. I am sure you will understand.

Throw Out Big Circle

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The big circle one-way is creating more congestion than before. They should throw out the "Big Circle" and any other one-way streets. San Rafael does not need them.

You Can't Legislate Morals And That Goes For Discrimination Too

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There is an old saying around the state Capitol to the effect that "you can't legislate morals."

This is reasonably true. It's been tried in the past with such legislation as the 14-year attempt at prohibition, the anti-gambling bills in the Warren administration, and many other measures designed to keep people from doing something they are going to do anyhow.

The saying at the present session of the Legislature could easily be amended to say that "you can't legislate tolerance" either, as some misguided and fanatical groups are attempting to do with the so-called "Fair Employment Practices Act."

THIS MEASURE, which seeks to put an end to discrimination in hiring, as applied to the "minority groups," already with the blessing of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, has passed the Assembly, and amended up a little, probably will pass the Senate and be signed by the governor This will start a new period of rancor among employers, all of which could easily have been avoided by tossing the bill, which originally was Communist-inspired, into the waste-basket.

Some of the situations pointed out in connection with the bill would be amusing if they were not so pitiful. The measure, as it probably will finally be written, will be so worded as to force California business to be non-discriminatory in hiring help, but will provide for no tolerance between the minority groups themselves!

ALREADY, THE Senate Labor Committee has adopted a measure to exempt any farm workers who are domiciled on the farm because, as Chairman Robert I. Montgomery (D-Hanford) says, "you can't put Mexican Nationals with Filipinos."

And even before the measure got to the legislature, it contained a clause exempting religious organizations from its provisions, so it will be no discrimination legally for a Protestant to discriminate against a Catholic, or vice-versa.

Consequently, the measure probably will wind up exempting everyone from its provisions except California business, which if it wants to, can find a dozen or more methods of circumventing its provisions.

The result will be nothing but another government agency, more civil service employees to retire on the taxpayers, an increase in the state's two billion dollar budget, with little accomplished toward making California a state where all races and creeds can live together with mutual understanding.

CALIFORNIA PROBABLY has had less discrimination than any other state over the past few years. Admittedly, some discrimination exists, but is gradually being eliminated through the recognition of people as people, rather than as any particular race, color or creed.

Adoption of a law to force such recognition thereby can do nothing but set the process back many years.

And in turn, adoption of the FEPC measure in California marks one more step toward socialism, in view of the controls that are imposed on private business by governmental restrictions and the advent of another bureaucratic gang of government snoopers which will be able to tell the businessman how to run his business.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Old Cy Stebbins ambled into a Vermont crossroads grocery store one bitter cold night, and was furious when he found that every seat within spittin' distance of the pot-bellied stove was already occupied.

Cy wiped the frost off his visage, and asked the store owner in a loud voice, "Seth, got any raw oysters in stock?" "Plenty," Seth assured him. "Fine!" boomed Cy. "Jist you open two dozen and feed 'him to my horse outside."

Cy Stebbins was the richest old coot in the county, and the store owner wasn't anxious to cross him. He opened the oysters, and took them outside, and the entire company of hangers-on trooped after him to see a horse eat oysters. Cy, meanwhile, settled himself comfortably — and for good — in the seat nearest the hot stove.

Very soon the crowd trooped back and the storekeeper said, "I'm sorry, Cy but I don't think that horse of yours'll eat oysters."

"You don't say," marveled Cy. "Well, then, bring 'em here and I'll eat 'em myself."

San Rafael Police Chief Battle Due To Be A Close One, But Clean

Both candidates for San Rafael police chief are men who worked up from the ranks.

Chief Frank Kelly was a plumber and a band leader before he joined the highway patrol and dedicated himself to law enforcement.

Lt. Charles Chiesa worked in the coal mines, construction work, and in NWP warehouses before joining the police force.

It's going to be a close one, they tell me. Campaign stickers have come out. Chiesa has started his door-to-door campaign.

For 58-year-old Chief Kelly, it's going to be the fight of his life, especially because he needs just one more term to be eligible for the city retirement system.

Some people are hinting that the fur will begin flying as the campaign goes into the home stretch. But so far, at least on the surface, the campaign has been a clean one.

THE BATTLE for city attorney will probably be waged without personal animosity. It appears neither incumbent Al Bagshaw nor aspirant Tom Boyd have anything personal against the other.

If you were held up by a gunman, as Hiller was last year, you probably wouldn't mind having a sheriff's station nearby either.

KEN SCHAEFER of San Anselmo won a year's entertainment by being first to shake the hand of a radio personality last Saturday in Sausalito. But he almost made a fatal mistake,

The moment he spotted the radio man, he should have dashed up quietly and shaken his hand. But he was so excited that for a brief moment he just stood there pointing to the approaching car and shouting: "There he is!"

A dozen others started a mad dash that woke Ken up just in time to hurtle himself forward and win the prize.

SAN RAFAEL police buddies have nicknamed Officer Regnani "Paul the Jet."

Paul Regnani, lieutenant in the Marin squadron of Civil Air Patrol, piloted a T-33 jet the other day. He was up with Capt. Eric Hutchison of Hamilton Air Force Base for more than an hour.

ATTORNEY Frank Peebles, who used to have offices in San Rafael, has a government job in San Francisco.

He's in the Federal Building as legal adviser in the Bureau of Public Roads.

INVESTIGATORS Bill Bemiss and Tony Adam have more troubles. They tracked down so many missing fathers they posted the best record in the state—only 26 per cent unaccounted for.

Immediately they got a dozen phone calls from irate women who demanded:

"How come my husband has to be among the 26 per cent missing?"

With Adams Gone, Dulles In Hospital, Ike Is More Emphatic, Blunter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, who in recent weeks has had to depend more on himself than at any time since entering the White House in 1953, sounds more emphatic, blunter.

This showed at his news conference Wednesday. At his meetings with congressional leaders last weekend he reportedly was very much in charge.

The two men he leaned on most are now out of the picture.

Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief of staff in the White House until he resigned last summer, was a great cushion against the burdens of the presidency.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, now ill with cancer, had an extraordinary relationship with the President. He was Eisenhower's eyes and ears in foreign policy and much of the time his spokesman.

NOW FAR MORE of the presidential load has landed on Eisenhower's shoulders, along with its many irritations. And Eisenhower is responding with a show of vigor.

In times past, if you attended one of his news conferences and didn't have to concentrate on taking notes, your mind was apt to wander as Eisenhower rambled through generalities that lacked a sharp edge.

Not Wednesday. He still got wound up in long, involved sentences which often scrambled subject and predicate, but he made points that did have an edge.

PERHAPS IT WAS out of exasperation with congressional Democrats, who have been calling on him to pump more men and money into the armed forces, that he finally said in effect:

There's not going to be a land war in Europe; and if the Allied troops there can't cope with whatever is done by the far more numerous Soviet troops, then the whole situation has passed beyond the point of limited war.

He didn't volunteer any statement that if war could not be limited to land engagements then nuclear weapons might have to be used. But under questioning he indicated he was not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war.

This might have been intended to make the Soviets think soberly before they tried any adventures around West Berlin. But, since it might also make American Allies in Europe edgy, he must have thought of that.

It was tough talk. But Eisenhower's attitude on the crisis Premier Nikita Khrushchev cooked up on Berlin has been increasingly, although not blatantly, tough.

PERHAPS THE BEST sign of his bluntness came when he was asked what he thought of Khrushchev's proposal that maybe the Berlin problem could be solved by letting Soviet troops join Allied troops in West Berlin.

At first, almost as if from force of habit, Eisenhower launched out on an explanation with a generalized moral tone.

He said this country would consult in the most democratic way with its allies in framing an answer to the Soviet demands

Then, as if impatient with himself for not getting to the point on the question about Khrushchev's proposal, Eisenhower wound up by saying:

"Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it."

CHURCH OPENS NEW 'TREASURE MART'

Easter Morn Rites Set At Theater

Public Easter sunrise services will be conducted for the sixth consecutive year at the Marin Motor Movies at San Rafael under the auspices of Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael.

Services will be under the direction of the church's pastor, Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger. Music will be provided by the Treble Choir of the church under direction of Mrs. Lloyd Casselman and by Mrs. O. F. Liebeskind, organist.

"The service," Rev. Braunschweiger said, "provides an appropriate beginning for Easter Day and offers the convenience to the shoppers of being able to remain in their cars."

Churches Carry On In Red Lands

CHICAGO (AP)—Back from a survey of Protestant church life behind the iron curtain, Dr. T. Otto Nall, editor of the Methodist church's "New Christian Advocate," reports the churches there are carrying on "timidly, tentatively, but tenaciously."

He said there is less pressure on the churches in Russia than in Red-ruled East Germany.

Tall Baptism

DETROIT (AP)—It was quite a problem when Phil Jorden, a 6-foot-10 athlete, presented himself for baptism at Eber Baptist Church here. The baptistry is only 7 feet long. To avoid a head bumping, Pastor Bill H. Lewis let the candidate sit on a stool and baptized him sitting down.

Tithing The Tithe

KANSAS CITY (AP)—By a system of giving 10 cents out of every dollar of church income for world missions, the Church of the Nazarene reports it has upped its budget for world missions from one and a half million dollars to more than two and a half million in nine years.

Passion Week Mission Set

A Passion Week mission will be conducted next week for Our Lady of Loretto Roman Catholic Parish in Novato by Rev. Eugene Boyle of San Francisco.

Services will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. and will continue daily during the week at the same hour.

The mission will begin tomorrow when members of the Holy Names Men's Club receive Communion in a body at the 9 a.m. Mass. Afterward, they will assemble for a Communion breakfast at Rickey's Rancho Rafael in Ignacio. Judge N. Charles Brusatori will be guest speaker.

Larkspur Speaker

Dr. Carl Sweazy, president of the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary, will speak at Calvary Baptist Church, Larkspur, at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday. His subject will be "Visitation Evangelism."

The Fount

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP)—The majority of America's Roman Catholic seminarians come from middle class families, are graduates of home-town schools before entering seminary, and have at least one relative in the priesthood, a study by Rev. Joseph H. Fichter, a sociology professor, shows.

Religious Publicity Council Chapter Sets Marin Parley

Dr. George Hedley, Mills College chaplain and professor of economics and sociology, will be featured speaker at the fourth annual banquet of the Northern California chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council scheduled Monday at 6:45 p.m. at the Ralston L. White Memorial Retreat in Mill Valley.

Dr. Hedley will speak on "Christian Public Relations."

Dr. J. E. Dollar, chairman, will make the report of the nominating committee, and officers will be elected. An official delegate will be chosen to represent the local chapter at the national convention in Washington, D.C., April 11 and 12.

Brief yearly reports will be given by Mrs. Lottie Moody Sandford of Albany, secretary and publicity chairman; Winston H. Taylor of Mill Valley, treasurer and Religion in American Life chairman, and Melvin M. Swartz, Berkeley, membership chairman.

Three past presidents will be honored: Rev. Robert K. Menzel of Mill Valley, Taylor, and Dr. Dollar.

Palm Sunday Cantata Set

The choir of the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia will present the cantata "Tragedy To Triumph" by Bernard Hamblen, at the church on Palm Sunday, March 22, at 8 p.m.

The choir, directed by Dr. Judson Goodrich, will be accompanied on the organ by Ruth Aceves.

Church To Have Musical Program

A music vesper and fellowship hour is scheduled for 4 p.m. tomorrow at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

All three youth choirs—the primary choir, Crusader choir and junior high girls chorus—will sing. Hymns chosen by the congregation also will be sung.

The program is being sponsored by the church's music and worship committee and committee of deacons. The latter will serve refreshments.

'Roundup Time For Christ' Is Theme

Evangelist Dave Hood and his wife, Joan, will conduct two weeks of special services at Southern Marin Assembly of God, 29 Caledonia street, Sausailnto, starting tomorrow. Their theme will be "Roundup Time for Christ."

Services Mondays through Fridays will be at 7:30 p.m.; Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

3nd Lutheran Pastor Serving In Congress

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Rev. Walter L. Moeller of Lancaster is the third Lutheran minister to be elected to the U. S. House of Representatives. He was elected last Nov. 4.

The others were Rev. Frederick A. Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania, who served from 1789 to 1797, and Rev. O. J. Kvale of Minnesota, who was a congressman from 1922 to 1929.

It's Bears Vs. Gaels Tonight; Playoff Rated 'Tossup'

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It's defensive minded California vs. the hot shots of St. Mary's for the Western Inter-Collegiate Basketball Championship at the Cow Palace tonight.

The two teams easily battled their way into the finals of the Western NCAA Regional Tournament last night over outclassed foes.

Coach Jim Weaver's Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's ran up a 20-point advantage midway in the second half, then coasted to an 80-71 victory over outmanned Idaho State.

California piled up a 15-point margin at halftime, survived an 11 point shock treatment at the start of the second half, then went on to trounce Utah, 71-53.

The Cal-St. Mary's clash, set for 9 o'clock (PST) tonight, is rated as a tossup. In a preliminary game, Utah meets Idaho for the consolation prize.

The Utah players, who got the full court press treatment from Cal last night, were not impressed by the Golden Bears.

"I think St. Mary's, if it can shoot as hot against the Bears as it did against Idaho State, will win," said forward Gary Chestang of the Utes.

However, none of the coaches involved in the four team tournament would predict the outcome.

But if St. Mary's continues its shooting streak the Bears will be in for a rough time. With the regulars in the game the Gaels connected on more than 60 per cent of their attempts from the floor as they piled up a big lead over Idaho State early in the second half. The Gaels had a 39-33 lead at the intermission, then ran the margin to security early in the second half as forward Laroy Doss and center Tom Meschery collected 40 points between them —Doss getting 21.

This offset a sparkling performance by Jim Rodgers. Idaho State's watch charm guard, who tanked 29 points to take scoring honors for the night.

California defense, which led the nation during the regular season, was the big factor against the Utes. The Redskins hit on 44 per cent of their shots—but they got only 43 attempts. Ths compared with 74 shots taken by California—and that told the story.

Ahead 42-27 at the half, the Cal team relaxed long enough to see Utah score 11 points against 2 in three minutes of play, and cut the margin to six points. But Newell called for a time out and guard Denny Fitzpatrick and Al Buch took control and brought Cal into a commanding position.

Buch led the California scoring with 15 points, while forward Bob Dalton got 13 and Fitzpatrick 12.

CONNOLLY

It is a shame in a way, because it is not his fault.

In fact, Bill White, the Giant's first baseman, was well on his way to becoming a solid choice when he became a victim of international circumstances.

That was in 1956 AFTER he had played his first season as a N.Y. Giant, performing in 138 games, going to bat 508 times, hitting safely 130 times, collecting 23 doubles, 7 triples, 23 homers, driving in 59 runs for a .256 average.

Then Uncle Sam put the snatch on him for military service and removed him completely out of circulation. After his hitch in the Army White returned to the Giants to gaze upon his "fill-in," Orlando Cepeda, who became the rookie of the year.

White saw some action in 26 games, but the glamor he enjoyed in 1956 had faded.

White moved into Phoenix a few weeks ago pretty much crushed and crestfallen. He knew Cepeda was there and that if he was lucky enough he might alternate at first base.

THERE IS NO way to prove it, but I believe White is acres ahead of any first sacker, excepting Stan Musial and Cepeda. Barring a bad break, I would rate White as a great defensive infielder. He covers the ground in catlike fashion, is never off balance, can throw sharply and hard, and will hit big league pitching once he gets in shape.

If you have noticed the Giants have been talking about possible infield shifts.

One day you read where Cepeda is asked to get acquainted with third base; next day it's a story that he may alternate in the outfield.

Now all this fidgety stuff is, in my opinion, due to the Giants trying to make a place for White somewhere in the regular lineup.

In studying White's record you discover that whenever he has been able to play regularly, whether at Danville, Sioux City, Dallas or New York, he has averaged 20 or more home runs a season.

THE GREAT Babe Ruth hit 19 homeruns the first season he started on his homerun rampage.

So you can't sell White short when it comes to being a power hitter.

Bill Rigney, right now the push-button manager of the Giants, nevertheless likes White. He hesitates, and justly so, to rank him ahead of Cepeda.

"Rig" truthfully believes Cepeda will someday be one of the great hitters of baseball.

But "Rig" knows White is the more polished first baseman. And for that reason the yarns out of spring training are inspired for the purpose of trying to work out something that would keep Cepeda and White on as regulars.

BOWLING

Betsy Evans of the Modern Eve team scored a 560 series to highlight the Marin Bowl's Women's Scratch League Wednesday night. The outstanding series led her mates to a 4-0 win over Pierce Hardin Van & Storage, whose high scorer was Stella Kimmell with 456. Modern Eve also turned in an 820 game, high for the year.

Other results: Keaton's (Shirley Thurman, 459) d. Lucas Valley (Rosalie Sloan, 492) by 4-0; The Cellars (Grace Mueller, 499) d. Hamie's (Jennie Milligan, 461) by 3-1; Redwood Travel Advisors (Helen van Oosten, 485) d. R & M Style Shop (J. Small, 395) by 4-0; Redmond's (Myrna Sjoblom, 458) d. Jacques Coiffure D'Art (Marie Hensler, 426) by 3-1.

IN THE Monday night Lutheran Mixed League Helen van Oosten scored a 567 series, including a 208 game, to win top honors. Other high scorers were 553 by R. Ginther, 550 by Frank Keaton and 529 by S. Pillus.

4 Mill Valleyans Win Golf Honors

They were Mrs. A. E. Poarch, first in Class E with 101-29—72; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, second in Class C, 98-24—74; Mrs. Lynn Sumpter, third in Class C, 97-22—75; Mrs. Lloyd Seitzinger, third in Class D, 107-26—81.

Earlier in the week Mrs. Lilleston and Mrs. Henry Seagle, also of the M.V. club, won honors in a Pacific Women's tourney in Alameda.

Winners of the Mill Valley club's putting tournament yesterday on their home course were Mrs. Richard Finn, 25 putts; Mrs. Vollman Thoney, 29; Mrs. W. B. Smillie, 30; Mrs. Henry Seagle and Mrs. Lester Callendar, 32 each; Mrs. George Prydz and Mrs. Philip Dunning, 33 each.

Sparrow Brothers Take Top Novato Basketball Honors

Jack Sparrow, an all-around athletic star, was named the varsity team's outstanding player while brother "Moe" won similar recognition on the Class B team. Players did the voting.

The awards were made to highlight the Fathers-Sons Night banquet. Guest speaker was Bob Blake, junior varsity coach at University of California.

CHEESECAKE SPORTS DON'T MIX AT OSC

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State College President A. L. Strand has banned any further use of pictures of scantily clad coeds to promote OSC athletic events.

He criticized the use of photographs of seven coeds clad in one-piece bathing suits to publicize the recent Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament. The girls depicted various wrestling holds.

Strand said in a letter to R. S. Keene, OSC athletic director:

"Athletics at Oregon State are going to have to stand on their own feet." Such pictures "are all right for Miami Beach," but not for Oregon State, he added.

Giants' Bonus Babes Need More Polish

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—It looks as if some of the gilt edge San Francisco Giant bonus pitchers need more polish.

So the Giants sent a flock of youngsters today to their rookie camp at Sanford, Fla. From there they'll go to minor league clubs.

But two expensive 19-year-olds, Gaylord Perry and Ron Herbel, remained with the parent club.

Perry, signed for a $90,000 bonus, started Friday against the Chicago Cubs. Manager Bill Rigney lifted him after two innings with the score 9-2.

Herbel, $60,000 product, came on in the fourth, pitched 2⅓ innings and gave up five runs. He was the losing pitcher.

When the teams go through shooting it was the Cubs 16-12.

The one impressive note for the Giants was stringbean Dick Sovde who finished up, pitched 1⅔ frames, shut out the Cubs and struck out four.

6-8 GIANT

Sovde stands 6 feet 8 and weighs only 200 pounds. He's 23 and a sidearmer who had an 11-11 record last season with Corpus Christi in the Texas League.

The Giants and Cubs continue their exhibition schedule here today and Sunday.

Slender Ernie smashed a three-run homer off Gaylord in the first and a three-run repeater off Ron in the sixth.

The winning pitcher was Bob "Riverboat" Smith, a former San Francisco Seal traded to the Cubs by the Boston Red Sox.

Heinrich Sets 2 Nat'l J.C. Marks

In a three-way meet at the University of California yesterday, he swam the 220-yard freestyle in 2:08.4, 3.4 seconds under the J.C. mark, and the 200-yard butterfly in 2:13.6. The national mark for that distance is 2:20.6.

Herb Elliott In 3:58.9 Mile Win

BRISBANE (AP) — Australia's Herb Elliott, holder of the mile world record, ran a 3:58.9 mile today in the old Centenary Athletic Championships at New Lang Park. This compares to his world mark of 3:54.5.

Elliott, who recently returned from a visit to the United States and Canada, went the first quarter in 59 seconds, the half-mile in 2:01 and the three-quarters in 3:03.

Bahama Wins TV Bout; Plans Busy Schedule

The classy boxer from the Bahamas now wants shots at Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion from Nigeria, and former world middleweight rulers Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer.

He may get the crack at the Tiger, either in London or here.

"We're ready to go over whenever they say," said Yama's manager, Bobby Melnick. "I understand the London promoters wanted Greaves. After this big win, they'll have to deal with us. We're ready. And if Basilio and Fullmer are looking for action, Yama is ready to oblige."

Bahama looked like he belonged with the top 10 middleweights in winning the unanimous 10-round decision at the Garden last night. The bout was broadcast and televised nationally.

Referee Art Mercante had Bahama in front, 6-4 in rounds. The two judges made Yama's margin larger. Artie Aidello made it 7-3 and Leo Birnbaum, 8-2. The AP card had Yama ahead, 7-3. Greaves was penalized the sixth round for low blows.

67-Ft. Shot Put Limit—O'Brien

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World record holder Parry O'Brien says 67 feet is the maximum possible distance in the shot put.

The two-time Olympic champion and world record holder at 63 feet 2 inches explains it this way:

"Within the confines of a 7-foot circle nobody, no matter how big, can put the shot more than 67 feet. The circle limits the operating area, and no matter how huge a man may be or how strong, as he gets bigger his operating space becomes smaller."

He says he's aiming at 67.

Drake Mermen Set Two New Records

Double-winner Pete Sagues and John Hendry set new school records as they paced the Drake High varsity swimming team to a 49-46 decision over Washington High at Drake's pool.

Sagues swam the 150-yard medley in 1:42.5 for a new record and also won the 200 freestyle in 2:10.8. Hendry was clocked in 1:15.6 for the 100 breaststroke to put a new record in the books.

Drake also won the Class B meet, 40-34.

Drake Track Team Wins First Meet

Drake High School's varsity track and field team, paced by double winner Ken Combs, edged Galileo High yesterday in Drake's first meet of the season.

Combs won the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.1 seconds and the pole vault at 10 feet, 6 inches. Other impressive winners for Drake were Warren Miller with a 2:06.5 clocking in the 880 and Hagen Bruckner with 4:53 in the mile.

Galileo won the Class B meet, 59-50 and Class C, 64-12.

3 Of Top 10 Remain In NCAA Running

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky's defending champions are out, but first-ranked Kansas State and three other of the nation's top 10 teams are still in the running for the NCAA major college basketball championship.

Kentucky, seeking its fifth national crown and ranked second nationally, was unexpectedly eliminated by Louisville at Evanston, Ill., last night, 76-61.

The defeat of Adolph Rupp's Wildcats by a team that had dropped 10 of 27 games was by far the most astounding of the results of four regional tournaments. Kentucky went into the fray with a 23-2 mark.

Navy, which gained stature by beating North Carolina in a preliminary round last Tuesday, was defeated by lightly regarded Boston University, 62-55, in overtime at Charlotte, N.C.

Cincinnati, fifth ranked, Michigan State, No. 7, and West Virginia, No. 10, just managed to squeeze into tonight's regional finals. In contrast, Kansas State, St. Mary's, Calif., and California won in a breeze.

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

At Charlotte—West Virginia vs. Boston University.

At Evanston—Louisville vs. Michigan State.

At San Francisco—California vs. St. Mary's.

West Virginia, getting 36 points from All-America Jerry West—21 in the last nine minutes—came from 18 points back midway of the second half for a 95-92 decision over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia.

Michigan State, the rugged Big Ten champ, had a scare thrown into it by Marquette before winning, 74-69. The Spartans blew a 15-point lead but pulled it out in the closing minutes on three baskets by Bob Anderegg. Anderegg topped the scorers with 23 points.

Kansas State, Big Eight champion, rolled to a 102-70 victory over DePaul for its 21st successive triumph and a season's mark of 25-1. All America Bob Boozer got only 16 points, far below his 25-plus average, but Wally Frank came through with 23 — far more than usual.

CHAMPS TOURNEY

San Rafael Bows To Stockton Five

By ERNEST LEICHTER

San Rafael Bulldogs suffered their second consecutive defeat last night in the consolation game of the Tournament of Champions in Berkeley, at the hands of Stagg High School Dragons of Stockton, 39-27. The Bulldogs could not contain the jump shots of Bob Garibaldi, the all-northern California star, who garnered 18 points. Bob, the brother of Dick Garibaldi, the former Santa Clara great, brought a highly commendable 23.6 average into the fray.

San Rafael jumped off to an early 8-1 lead on push shots by Brent Marshall and Mike Curry who moved nicely around an effective screen by Ron Snidow. The Bulldogs held a comfortable 10-4 lead at the end of the first quarter.

In the ensuing quarter Stagg started feeding their big man Garibaldi. Bob deftly bolted free for easy layups and finally put Stagg ahead 13-12 with a jumper from the key. At the half the contest was still in doubt 17-15, for Stagg.

In the second half the Bulldogs attempted to double team Garibaldi and consequently the two forwards, Mike Noack and George Wells, were left open on the sides and potted easy jumpers.

The Bulldogs, trailing by six points with four minutes remaining, became desperate and began committing costly fouls. This enabled the Dragons to widen the margin and thus ice the tilt.

Certainly the Bulldogs have nothing to be ashamed of in their first Tournament of Champions appearance. Coach Bob Lincoln's boys held both McClymonds and Stagg even for almost a half. This is quite an accomplishment because between them, McClymonds and Stagg had a very imposing 42-1 record during the season.

McClymonds, the defending champion, downed Richmond, 43-39 yesterday to advance to the finals tonight against Acalanes which upset Sacramento, 52-49.

Tonight's final game between California and St. Mary's for the Western Regional basketball championship in the Cow Palace, will be televised locally by KTVU, Channel 2.

The NCAA granted permission for TV coverage yesterday after Tournament Director Greg Engelhard reported that all but a few seats had been sold.

S.R. Baseballers Lose To Galileo

The visitors collected eight hits off two San Rafael pitchers, while the Bulldogs got only five hits, including a double and single by shortstop John Spadoni and singles by Bill Roberts, Rod Tivel and Russ Bottini.

The loss was San Rafael's third straight, having lost earlier to Lincoln of San Francisco and St. Vicent's of Vallejo. San Rafael's next game is against Sonoma next Thursday at Albert Field.

The Heart of the Matter

IF YOU do business in Marin, and want to do more than a neighborhood trade, there is one best way to build and grow. That way is to follow the example of practically every successful Marin enterprise—advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The I-J covers the entire Marin Market. Nearly 100% of the 25,000-plus circulation is home delivered—right on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin families. This is paid-for and wanted circulation—no throwaways or free copies are included.

The reasons for the often amazing response to I-J advertising are simple: While the I-J is a complete NEWS-paper, the people in the compact, self-contained community of Marvelous Marin buy it for the ADVERTISING as well as for news and features.

Mr. and Mrs. Marin study the I-J carefully every day for "news" of what merchants and professional services are offering. Its pages are their No. 1 guide in buying and saving and operating the "business" of home-making efficiently and economically.

'Chinatown Police Chief' Dies At 82

John J. (Jack) Manion, who was born in Ross 82 years ago and known as "chief of police" of San Francisco's Chinatown for a quarter of a century, died in an Oakland rest center yesterday after a long illness.

Inspector Manion left Marin at an early age, attending school in San Francisco. He joined the San Francisco Police Department in 1907 and served until his retirement in 1946.

He became Chinatown's unofficial police chief in March, 1921, at which time he was a sergeant in charge of the Chinatown detail. Six powerful tongs were carrying on wholesale assassinations over gambling and slave girls until Manion induced them to hold a "peace conference."

He produced a peace treaty that pledged all those present to end violence in Chinatown or face deportation to China. His plan worked. There was not another tong killing.

Along with the killings, the slave trade died under his influence.

Survivors are his wife, Mary, who is in an Oakland rest home; a son and daughter, John Joseph Manion Jr., of San Francisco, and Sister Mary Clement, of San Francisco.

A requiem High Mass will be offered Monday at 9:30 a.m. at Old St. Mary's Church in Chinatown. The Rosary will be recited at Reilly Co., San Francisco, at 8 p.m., tomorrow.

Behrens Infant Dies In Hospital

James Edward Behrens, two-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry A. Behrens of 145 Kent avenue, Kentfield, died today in a local hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be made by Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

DEATHS

MAFFEI — In Marin County, March 12, 1959, James J. Maffei, dearly beloved husband of Zelda Maffei, loving father of Raymond L. Maffei and Estelle L. O'Donnell, loving brother of Erminia Picchi, Annibale, Oliver and Louis Maffei and the late Michael Maffei, and survived by seven grandchildren; a native of Sonoma, Calif., aged 68 years.

Friends are invited to attend the funeral on Monday, March 16, at 9 a.m., from the Chapel of Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green street, San Francisco, thence to S.S. Peter and Paul's Church, San Francisco, where a Solemn Requiem High Mass will be celebrated commencing at 9:30 a.m. Entombment, Holy Cross Mausoleum, Colma. Rosary, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Sheriff's Posse Meets Monday

Members of the Marin Sheriff's Posse will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Capt. Peter Helms, 139 Deer Hollow road, Sleeply Hollow, to plan activities for their newly organized parade unit.

The group, at a special meeting Tuesday, heard Donald A. Jenson, county administrator and civil defense coordinator, discuss how the posse could fit into the civil defense program.

Wife Says Husband Took Shot At Her

Virus Closes Hall To New Inmates

Marin Juvenile Hall will probably remain closed to new inmates over the weekend because of a cold virus that has hit a half a dozen youngsters.

However, the illness appears to be under control, Probation Officer Walter Busher reported today.

No new inmates will be allowed to enter the hall for a few days as a precautionary measure. At one point, two boys ran temperatures of 104 and 103.

Busher has made arrangements with Santa Rosa Juvenile Hall to take Marin youngsters who run afoul of the law.

A LITTLE DUTCH MAID
is what you'll feel like as you enter the living room and bedroom of this cottage-type rustic home through the charming Dutch doors. You'll also find the tradition of Dutch cleanliness easy to live up to as you breeze through the light housekeeping this home requires. This, of course allows you more time to relax in the large, beautifully kept yard with many trees, and privacy yet late afternoon sun, too. Paneling, beamed ceilings, and a brick fireplace provide a cozy atmosphere. A pleasant walk to downtown shopping. Immediate occupancy, so call now. Price $15,950.

MODERN RUSTIC BARGAIN PRICE
Here is an opportunity for you to purchase for your family a very delightful rustic home below the market value of comparable homes in the area. Natural redwood siding, beamed ceilinged living room, knotty pine, used brick fireplace complement the lovely tree studded setting. Living area includes 2 bedrooms, plus partially finished den and roughed in areas upstairs and down. Range and oven included. Ample play area. See this home now and agree it is a good buy for $18,450.

Marin To Take Part In Big CD Exercise

Marin County's resources to meet disaster conditions will be evaluated next week during a major civil defense exercise involving 43 counties in Northern and Central California.

Starting Monday and ending March 23, the exercise is designed to pinpoint emergency welfare and medical resources now available to meet the challenge of a war-caused disaster. The general public will not participate.

AGGRESSIVE ATTACKS

It will be assumed by civil defense officials that on March 10 aggressive attacks were made against nations friendly to the United States; that between March 11 and 15 the President recommended dispersal of non-essential civilians from danger zones in the United States, and that by Monday local jurisdictions will have received their assigned number of evacuees.

Information compiled by local officials will be submitted to the state Disaster Office for updating of current estimates of the state's resources.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen, who doubles as Marin civil defense coordinator, said data compiled by Marin's Red Cross chapter, the county medical society and the county health, welfare and schools departments will be coordinated next week at a series of meetings in his office.

COLLECT DATA

The welfare department and the Red Cross have been collecting data on the number of homes, public buildings, motels and other structures which would be available for billeting evacuees in the event of a war alert.

Jensen said next week's exercise will envision placement of some 82,000 evacuees in the Novato area and in North and West Marin. Theoretically, most of these are to be billeted.

The concept of billeting evacuees in available structures outside the so-called danger line for atomic attack was devised, Jensen said, by a federal research team which has recommended a new survival plan to the state.

The coming exercise, which will indicate whether the plan is practicable, does not call for mass evacuation to a Hicks Valley holding area west of Novato, as did earlier plans. Jensen said he is "almost certain" the Hicks Valley plan will be dropped, because it calls for an open encampment of evacuees rather than billeting.

Previously running through Novato, Marin's "danger line" now extends just north of San Rafael and east of Fairfax. Jensen said this means such facilities as Novato High School, Arequipa Center, the Meadow Club and Tamarancho Boy Scout Camp might be used for billeting evacuees.

"The federal people have never specified where these people would come from," Jensen said, "but probably most would come from San Francisco."

The plan calls for evacuation of about 45,000 persons to Novato, where an average of 3.6 persons would be taken into every home. Jensen said the over-all total of 82,000 may prove too high.

Even if the Hicks Valley plan is abandoned, Jensen said, the blue and white evacuation route signs along Marin's main highways and back roads probably will remain. He said they would still point the way to evacuation centers in Petaluma and points north.

The county health department is compiling information on water supplies and sanitary facilities available in the proposed evacuation areas, Jensen said. It is also determining where emergency hospitals and first aid stations could be set up and, with the medical society, making an inventory of all medical personnel which might be available in a war emergency.

The superintendent of schools office is checking the square footage of all school structures in the "safe" areas.

Jensen said the Disaster Office has indicated 20,000 square feet of space will be needed for mass storage of medical supplies in Marin.

"In my budget for next year," he said, "I have included construction of a medical supply warehouse behind the fire station at Point Reyes Station."

He said if this is approved by the board of supervisors, the county will cancel its lease of a storage building behind the Rouge et Noir cheese factory in Hicks Valley.

Novato High School is being eyed as the site of a civil defense emergency hospital. Jensen said the school's size makes it appear feasible for such use. If it is selected, a 200-bed crated hospital unit probably will be stored near the high school, he said. One such unit now is stored in the Hicks Valley buildings.

Of the proposed new survival plan for Marin, Jensen said, "I think it is a much better arrangement than we've had before, because I and many others have wondered how in the world thousands of people were going to live out in the open in Hicks Valley."

CHERRY PRINCESS—Sheila Horgan, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eugene Horgan Jr. of 331 D street, San Rafael, has been chosen "Montana Cherry Blossom Princess" for the annual cherry blossom festival next month in Washington, D.C. Sheila, a San Rafael High School graduate, is attending business college in Washington. She is a grandniece of Montana Sen. James E. Murray and member of an old Montana family.

Pest Control Board May Raise Wages

Possible salary raises are under study for the eight employees of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District.

Paul DiPietro, president of the board of trustees, appointed a three-man committee to study the salaries and bring in recommendations at the April 9 meeting. On the committee are Evan T. Pugh, Arthur Brandow and John Barry.

The trustees, at their Thursday meeting, also:

1. Adopted a resolution to give employees a vote on whether they want social security coverage in addition to the county retirement plan. G. Paul Jones, manager, said employees must wait 90 days before they can vote.

2. Asked for specifications and cost figures on bulkheading the canal side of the district property on Third street, and also costs for paving the district yard.

3. Agreed to hold the annual trustees dinner at Deer Park Villa on April 23.

Novato Firemen To Hold Dance Tonight

The 28th annual St. Patrick's Day Firemen's Ball of the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will be held tonight from 9 o'clock to 1 a.m. at the Novato Community Clubhouse.

Sam Marzell, president, said tickets will be available at the door for the dance to benefit the volunteer firemen's sick and benefit fund. Murray Petersen and his orchestra will provide music.

MARIN SENATOR'S WIFE PLUNGES INTO POOL TO SAVE YOUNGSTER

A San Rafael mother, who is expecting her seventh child in two weeks, jumped into a swimming pool Thursday to save an 8-year-old boy.

Mrs. John F. McCarthy, wife of State Senator McCarthy, was asked by a neighbor boy if he could swim with the McCarthy children. He said he had his mother's permission.

As the McCarthy children dashed for the pool, the neighboring youngster joined the rush and jumped in with the others.

Mrs. McCarthy saw one child she believed to be pretending to drown in the middle of the pool. She moved to the edge of the pool to reprimand the youngster. She then realized he was not one of her children, and that he couldn't swim.

Fully dressed, she jumped into the pool and pulled the youngster out.

"I was scared," she said, "because I am so heavy I had trouble getting us both out of the pool."

Neither the boy nor Mrs. McCarthy was injured.

PG&E Asks Permission To Increase Gas Rates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has petitioned the California Public Utilities Commission for permission to increase its gas rates by $12,976,000 annually, which would mean a boost of about 40 cents a month per average domestic customer.

The company said the increase was necessary to offset higher costs of gas which PG&E will pay El Paso Natural Gas Co. as of Aug. 1.

The Texas company, which supplies 70 per cent of PG&E's natural gas, had asked the Federal Power Commission for a rate increase to become effective not later than March 1. But opposition by PG&E and other firms delayed FPC action.

El Paso's rate increases were expected to go into effect, although formal approval by the FPC was still pending. If the government agency denies the increase, El Paso must make refunds to the other gas companies. PG&E said it would pass the refunds on to its customers should this happen.

In yesterday's petition, PG&E said its income would drop approximately $36,000 a day if the proposed "offset" increase is denied.

The company has won gas rate boosts from the state PUC totaling $24,483,000 since Oct. 15, 1957. It was also granted a $16,967,000 increase in electricity rates in 1957.

Convict Leaves For New Hearing

A San Quentin Prison inmate who was scheduled to die in the gas chamber a year and one-half ago left Death Row at 8 o'clock this morning for San Bernardino County where he will have a hearing on a motion for a new trial. He was accompanied by sheriff's deputies from San Bernardino County.

William Gerald Moore, 36-year-old former carnival worker who was convicted of bludgeoning Hilda Hoag, 62, to death in a San Bernardino trailer court, based his request for a new trial on grounds that the state has set up a new method of trying first-degree murder cases.

He will either get a new trial or a reduction of sentence, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff of San Quentin Prison said. An order by the state Supreme Court last December directed that Moore, who has been at the institution since September, 1956, be returned to San Bernardino for the hearing.

Convict Badly Injured In Prison Fight

A San Quentin Prison inmate was seriously injured by a fellow prisoner yesterday in an after-lunch fight, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff reported today.

Johnnie Norwood, 23, of Los Angeles, was in the prison hospital with head wounds and bad bruises. He allegedly was clubbed with a two-by-four board by John Manning, 26, also of Los Angeles, in a battle which erupted as the prisoners were returning to work after lunch.

The fight took place near the laundry, where Manning works. Norwood, who was sent to prison last July on a five-year-to-life term for robbery, was not assigned to a job.

Manning entered the institution in July, 1956, for three years to life on a rape conviction. He has been before the prison's disciplinary committee seven times within the past 12 months, mostly for gambling and disorderly conduct.

He was placed in isolation and will appear before the disciplinary committee again on Tuesday.

Finishes Training

Marine Pvt. Richard H. Steinhart of 9 Third street, San Rafael, finished four weeks of individual combat training March 10 at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton.

Gate Bridge Traffic Shows 'Surprising' Hike In Month

Traffic across the Golden Gate Bridge in February showed a "surprising increase" of more than 10 per cent over the same month last year, the bridge directors were told yesterday.

A total of 1,232,386 vehicles crossed the span, nearly 120,000 more than in the same month last year. Total revenue took a comparative jump, $310,878 being paid in at the toll gates as compared with $280,921 last year.

Motorists paying cash 25-cent tolls increased by 12.9 per cent while commute traffic gained 7.1 per cent. Trucks showed a 9.5 increase while buses continued their downward trend with a decrease of 1.7 per cent.

Bridge traffic engineer Arthur C. Jenkins said the good weather during February had a great deal to do with the traffic increase.

Directors were told by general manager James Adam that slide conditions on the Sausalito lateral "remains critical" but that continued fair weather has prevented any material sliding recently. He said that test borings made in the roadway above the slide showed the road was still in good condition. However, engineers suggested additional test borings farther down the slopes in Ft. Baker where construction excavation reportedly had caused the start of the slide.

The directors authorized $2,500 for the new borings and engineering services.

Now's The Time To Eradicate Pesky Mosquitoes

Mosquito breeding is at its peak, and if you want to eradicate the pests, now is the time.

Breeding places include cans, buckets, mulch barrels, outboard motor flush barrels, neglected ornamental pools, boats, swimming pools, and other containers. Jones asked each home owner to inspect his property and eliminate the breeding spots. Containers should be dumped or a light film of ordinary cleaning solvent placed in the water.

Ruling On Gas Will Save Money

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Californians may save up to 35 million dollars a year as a result of a federal ruling on the price of natural gas in New Mexico, says Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

The ruling was made last week in Washington by William J. Costello, Federal Power Commission examiner.

He turned down a request of El Paso Natural Gas Co. and four supplying companies to approve a price of 16 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas from wells in the Bell Lake area of New Mexico. El Paso buys the gas and pipes it to California.

Pair In Sacramento

Max S. Martin, president, Walter Carter and Jack Barry were in Sacramento today as representatives of the Marin Assn. of Insurance Agents to attend committee meetings on legislative bills affecting the insurance business. They will meet Monday with State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister to discuss the bills, Martin said.

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

In One Man's Eye It Had Charm But Simply Had Big Possibilities

THIS MRS. SMITHERS and her family who recently moved into Marin County—I don't know about the family, but she and I don't modulate on the same frequency. Even so, I don't want to embarrass anyone—this isn't her real name.

Well, this Smithers family bought an older home in a nice district — the kind of place a lot of city folks dream about when they decide to break with the urban life. It spells relaxation inside and out. Usually it costs just as much as a new one, maybe more, and is harder to finance, so the general run of lookers pass it by and go modern in long drawn out payments.

Oddly enough, it often attracts people whose heads are chock full of ideas how to change it into something they wouldn't have considered if it were that way in the first place. You can spot them every time by the wild gleam in their eyes.

I'll say this for the Smithers, they got a good buy — almost an acre of rolling ground, beautiful trees and plants, and a creek across the north quarter. The house has large rooms and plenty of them and doesn't leak in the winter. It also boasts one of the most intricate arrangements of wisteria over the veranda that I've seen. It must be a luscious sight in bloom.

Three or four weeks after they moved in I had occasion to call here and I doubt if Mrs. Smithers remembers why She was more interested in telling about her problems and she sank wearily into a chair.

THE HOUSE WAS still littered with unopened packing boxes and a miscellany of goods whose storage fate was probably one of the problems she couldn't solve. The kitchen was additionally encumbered with the remains of remodeling, far from complete.

"I'm beat," she groaned, "and yesterday I slipped and fell in a can of paint.

I expressed concern and suggested that her husband take over this sort of work.

"Glen? His project is that mess in the kitchen. The painting is my department. I'm trying to decide on a color scheme."

"Why does the house need painting?" I wanted to know. "It looks all right to me."

"No personality," she said with thin lips.

"You've got a lot of time," I advised. "Why don't you get settled first?"

"I couldn't live in it this way."

"Seems to me it's pretty nice living. What else are you going to change?" I asked.

"Well, there are the plants," she said thoughtfully. "They look dead. I'm going to pull them up."

"They're only dormant," I protested. "Blooming will start any day now."

". . . and that monstrosity in front. If we cut that down we can paint the outside."

"Look," I said. "It took nature years to produce that growth and it's more beautiful than anything you can mix in a can. Why change it?"

"IT'S MESSY."

"And the trees?" the very thought of what she might have in mind was sacrilegious. I'm a follower of Joyce Kilmer.

She admitted planning the sacrilege.

"Well, there's one thing you can't change," I said. "The creek."

"Oh, yes I can. We're going to put up a bulkhead to conceal it."

Before I left I commented again on my reason for being there, but I don't think Mrs. Smithers heard me. That gleam — you can't compete with it. Maybe it was the talking that put it back in her eyes.

Me, I felt pretty low the rest of the day thinking what this place will look like in six months. I'm not going to call there anymore.

Anyway, I'm not very artistic about houses.

A Key Figure In Marin Growth

George H. Harlan Sr. Paved The Way For Water District, College And Bridge

By LARRY LOVETT

In 1915, a brilliant 38-year-old Sausalito attorney named George H. Harlan, became the key man in the formation of the Marin Municipal Water District when he capitalized on some recently-passed, little-known state legislation.

In 1923, this up-and-coming Marin attorney repeated the same procedure when he laid the groundwork for the formation of the then undreamed of $35,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

This same attorney, who paved the way for the formation of other districts in California, set the stage for the creation of the Marin Junior College District in 1925 which today operates College of Marin.

WHAT SORT of man was this attorney with his revolutionary ideas?

Today, at 81, he is retired at his home at 191 Harrison Avenue in Sausalito where he has lived since the early '20s. Sensing that he might be a bit retiring about telling the story of his colorful life, we talked at length with his son, George, Jr., of San Rafael, writer, historian and authority on early California transportation.

His father is a native Californian, born in San Francisco, June 3, 1877 of parents who travelled to the city by the Golden Gate in 1850 via a French ship which sailed around Cape Horn. His parents on one side were French and German and on the other were Quakers from Ohio.

"My grandparents settled in Sausalito in 1880, their first permanent residence being at 47 Girard Avenue, which is still there, owned by my father and occupied by the Richard Hartfords."

GEORGE HARLAN was educated in a Sausalito private school operated by a Mrs. Ralph and a Mrs. Avery; then in 1894 he entered San Rafael High School, the county's only secondary school.

He graduated in 1894 when the school's total enrollment was 34, after commuting for four years from Sausalito via narrow gauge steam train. He enrolled at the University of California in Berkeley in the class of 1898.

"He lost a year because of an appendicitis attack," his son recalls, "and graduated with the class of 1899, but went on to Hastings Law school in San Francisco where he graduated in 1901."

After three years in the San Francisco law office of Robert H. Countryman, he opened his law office in San Rafael in 1904 and for many years was in the Cheda Building which still stands opposite the county courthouse.

A STICKLER for detail, he was always insistent that he be known as an attorney-at-law, according to his son. "He was not to be called a lawyer or an attorney, but insisted on the full title."

Prominent in Masonic activities, Harlan attended lodge meetings in Mill Valley and also the social functions of the Eastern Star. It was there that he met Esther Greaves whom he married in 1908.

Two sons were born to them. John, who today is publisher of The Marin News in Sausalito and George, Jr., who is connected with the Military Sea Transportation Service in San Francisco.

Mrs. Harlan, Sr., passed away in 1956.

"It was in the early days of his career," George, Jr., recalled, "that my father became interested in politics. So in 1911, he successfully ran for a state assembly seat from this district.

A STAUNCH Republican, he soon became a familiar figure among the leading senators and assemblymen in Sacramento and was close to the famed Governor Hiram Johnson.

"It was during this period that he became aware of the vast possibilities open to the taxpayers through the formation of districts," his son notes. "This was possible through the creation of school districts and others that are now common, since they are actually municipal corporations that can issue bonds and have taxing power."

George Harlan ran for reelection in 1913 but was defeated. He turned his energies to his dreams of municipal corporations and from that emerged the Marin Municipal Water District which at first was merely a combination of a group of small water companies serving various parts of Marin County.

SO QUITE naturally, George H. Harlan became their first attorney..

His only failure in the field came in 1922 when he tried to float a school bond issue in his home town of Sausalito but was turned down by the voters.

It was about this time that a young attorney by the name of Charlie Brusatori appeared on the scene and the two hit it off so well together that they became "associates" sharing a common reception room.

TODAY, Marin Superior Judge N. Charles Brusatori is high in his praise of Harlan, recalling that until Harlan retired in 1947, there had never been anything but the closest working relationship between the two.

When the Albert Building at 4th and B Streets was built in the early '30s, the two moved their offices and remained until Harlan retired and Brusatori was named first to the justice court and later to the superior bench.

"His name was on the door of that office until 1953," Judge Brusatori notes, "and it was not removed until I was appointed to the superior bench. His name was there for at least five years after he had retired."

THE FORMATION of the Golden Gate bridge district in the early twenties followed the pattern of the water district.

George Harlan attended a meeting in Santa Rosa and from that meeting a group banded together to see the proposal through. It was Harlan's suggestion that portions of seven counties make up the district with the power to issue bonds backed by taxation that brought the district into being.

The matter was slowed by objections and resistance and, with federal approval, legislation validating the district was approved in 1929. Again, Harlan was made attorney for the district.

In the meantime, Harlan followed the same pattern in forming the Marin Junior College District which came into being in 1925 with Mrs. Ada Fusselman as its first president. She is still on the board and at the last election was again elected president.

IN RECOGNITION of his service, a classroom and administration building, built about 1930, was named Harlan Hall.

"But the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District was my father's big achievement," his son relates. "Many legal cases on it were tried all the way to the supreme court, all of them with my father representing the district."

He was the district's attorney throughout the formative and construction periods, remaining until 1939 when he was succeeded by John McNab.

"George Harlan had a delightfully dry sense of humor," Judge Brusatori recalls. "At one time, he had been carrying on a running dispute with the treasury department over whether his salary, as a public official, should be taxable.

"ONE DAY," Judge Brusatori said, "George got a letter from the treasury department dunning him for payment, asking that when he replied, he should refer to 'File IT-R-N-BAG.' Not to be outdone, George replied suggesting the treasury refer to his file 'IT-RNT-N-BAG.'"

Judge Brusatori pointed out that Harlan read the treasury's file to read "it are in bag." He countered with his own file, "it aren't in bag."

But his resignation from the bridge board in 1939 ranks as one of the classics of local governmental operation. He was 62 at the time and ready to call it quits.

He noted that "the redbuds are blooming on the Redwood Highway" and "the redwoods are spreading their limbs to the sky." He said, too, that "the trout are leaping to the lure of the fly."

HIS CONCLUSION was:

"Gentlemen, I am going fishing!"

STEREO and HI-FI

Ninth of a weekly series of articles which will cover all phases of STEREOPHONIC SOUND for the home.

A statement in the last paragraph of our article last week was incomplete and should have been as follows: For those of you who plan to purchase a Stereo System complete in one cabinet, unless the room in which you are going to place your stereo system is extremely narrow (6 to 8 feet) and you are going to sit within 4 or 5 feet of the set, you will not get a good stereo effect, if you get a stereo effect at all.

Let's get down to the problem of how one goes about getting a good home music system that the entire family can really enjoy for years to come. First of all, we all have certain budget limitations. We either have enough to buy as elaborate a system as we desire, or we feel that we have to make a choice between the various commercial models that will fit our budget. If we allow ourselves to take the latter course, we are cheating every member of our family by degrading and conditioning their listening habits so that they will learn or continue to accept limited range and distorted sound as being good. Another very, very important reminder, when you go shopping for that stereo Hi-Fi system, YOU ARE PRIMARILY (not secondarily) SHOPPING FOR SOUND NOT FURNITURE. If you are looking for furniture as your primary objective, why not go to a furniture specialist instead of a music store?

Now, down to brass tacks, HOW TO GET A GOOD MUSIC SYSTEM ON A LIMITED BUDGET. At Catania Sound, we show you how to plan your Stereo System by beginning with a high quality Custom Phono System that will fit your budget. But most important, we guide you into a STARTER SET that can be added onto easily with never a trade-in or loss of investment.

You start with a STEREO AMPLIFIER (two amplifiers in one chassis with one set of controls) in the $120.00 class; a quality record changer in the $42.00 class; a top grade stereo cartridge with DIAMOND needle in the $25.00 class; and a starter dual speaker in the $19.00 class. These items form the nucleus of a truly high quality, wide range custom stereo music system.

Come in next week and let us demonstrate our Starter System. Then you be the judge. Listen to all the various commercial sets you can in any price range. We maintain that you will find that our Starter System will outperform commercial sets selling three to four times higher than our custom set. Make the test. Hear for yourself.

NAME CHANGED, SLIGHTLY — Oldtimers who know their Marin history will say, 'That name isn't spelled right.' It is different from the historic 'Saucelito' which plied the bay. This successor, purposely given the modernized spelling, was launched in 1894. She, too, had a run of bad luck. (Photo courtesy Roy D. Graves)

Year Of Bad Luck For NPC

By A BRAY DICKINSON

(Editor's note: After the Austin Creek accident of Jan. 14, 1894, search continued for some of the eight lost. A coroner's jury ruled accidental death. The tragedy was only one in the blackest year of North Pacific Company's hectic career.)

A STRANGE TALE was told about finding the remains of Joseph Sabine, last to be pulled from the waters of Austin Creek. By the 10th day, it seems, parties were ready to give up the search as hopeless when an old Spanish woodchopper asked if they would let him help. He first fastened a lighted candle to a piece of board, then chanting some mystic words he set the candle adrift. Some distance down stream the board circled about in an eddy, then floated up to some tangled brush and the candle went out. "There you will find the deadman," said the old Spaniard—and so it was.

It is difficult to say how much of this story is true. However, old-timers still repeat the tale as Gospel truth.

THE LOCOMOTIVE remained in the creek until late spring. Finally, with better weather, a spur track was thrown down to the water's edge and the wreck was snaked out with cables and block and tackle.

The battered and rusted engine went into the Sausalito shops but this was the end of No. 9. The rebuilt locomotive came out as No. 17. After a bad smash-up in the Corte Madera tunnel about 1900, the No. 17 was finally sent to the scrap heap. The one-time pride of the road, Milton S. Latham's beauty, the locomotive with especial trim and mahogany cab, thus came to an unheralded end, in common with most railroad engines.

The spring of 1894 saw several damaging storms which caused many slides along the road and tracks washed out in numerous places. All through this rainy season train schedules were delayed. A heavy storm which raged over the state in mid-February flooded Ross Valley and washed out a small trestle and stopped all scheduled runs between San Rafael and Sausalito.

During this month narrow gauge passengers were to suffer further inconveniences and delays when the steamer San Rafael was laid up for a week's repairs.

The substitute Tamalpais puffed and wheezed laboriously back and forth on the regular trips. One evening the decrepit steamer ran into the Sausalito pier. She smashed in her port side opposite the engine room, narrowly missed killing the engineer, and ripped out a string of piling. A theater train from San Rafael, scheduled to meet this boat, had to return with its passengers. Those in San Francisco who had waited over for the 11:30 ferry were compelled to remain in the city over night.

THE BROAD GAUGE road loaned its James M. Donahue until the Tamalpais could be patched up, but only a few days later an engine broke down off Alcatraz Island and the aged boat had to wriggle her way into the landing with only one wheel turning and rudder hard over.

The steamer Sausalito was launched May 21, 1894, and after trial runs in June she immediately went into service, which relieved the strain on NPC's ferry system.

However, the crew seemed to have had considerable damage. Some weeks later, on the 5:15 run, passengers were thrown into a panic when the Sausalito tore out her pier again. When 300 yards off shore, Captain Wilson signalled to slow down, but the engineer could not work the throttle. The captain turned the steamer broadside into the slip, but momentum carried the boat forward to crush everything before it and doing about $15,000.00 damage to piling and vessel.

Summertime saw NPC's extensive building program entirely finished.

A BROAD WHARF had been erected on each side of the new slip, where ocean-going freighters could lie alongside to load or discharge cargoes at any tide.

The contract called for installation of modern hydraulic machinery for raising and lowering an apron to the slip. In addition, a 450-foot sea wall held in a new fill of some 150 feet square. About 27 tons of steel and iron were used in the construction of wharfs and train shed. The railroad company built a second, or double, track from Sausalito to Mill Valley Junction early that year, and, after getting rid of a law suit and court injunction, laid a stretch of new track at Corte Madera to eliminate a bothersome curve.

Our narrow-gauge road was now equipped and ready to handle all business with dispatch and efficiency.

SAUSALITO BROUGHT some lucrative traffic to the NPC Company when it opened up as a pool-room town but caused displeasure to neighboring communities.

Thus spoke a San Rafael paper:

"The pool-room business which has been driven out of the sinful metropolis as too vile to be tolerated there and forbidden to locate in classic Oakland has established quarters and opened transactions in Sausalito. We feel they will be ejected from Sausalito as soon as public sentiment finds expression. It is a wonder they are allowed to open."

Public sentiment failed to express itself for a long while, however, and it was claimed that gamblers anteed $1500.00 a month in extra fares to narrow-gauge ferries.

A passenger was killed on June 23, 1894, when one Alphonse Bresson, a youth from Fairfax, fell from a car platform of the 5:45 train to San Francisco after being warned by the conductor not to stand outside while the train was in motion.

Before the grim year of 1894 had passed, the NPC Company experienced several more accidents. In one of these, Joseph Holmes, a shop worker at Sausalito, lost his life when caught in the stationary engine's giant flywheel.

The last NPC extension was completed early the next spring, when a branch line was built up Lagunitas Canyon toward the lake, to tap a hitherto untouched grove of redwoods.

The promotion of a scenic railroad from Mill Valley to the top of Mount Tamalpais was started late in 1895 by members of Mill Valley's Land and Water Company. This railroad was destined in years to bring thousands of tourists into Marin County via the NPC.

Chapter XV, Mount Tamalpais railroad to follow.

Albert G. Haskell Writes A Book About One Of His Many Careers

If Albert G. Haskell wrote a novel for each phase of his career, he would have a shelf of them.

His first published novel, "The Silk and the Husk," is drawn from his experiences as an administrator of Mexican farm labor in the San Joaquin Valley.

His name is already known, however, for a number of pursuits. Many collectors of Californiana will be familiar with his articles and his book, "Old Missions of California."

RESIDENTS of Fairhills may know him either as a a neighbor or as the contractor who built their houses. He built the first homes in the subdivision eight years ago. Haskell found contracting a very agreeable balance for writing.

"I would build two or three houses, then lay off and finish a piece of writing," he says.

His career got its start in Los Angeles, where he was a farm boy.

"L.A. was a big bunch of farmers in those days." This led him into horticulture as a profession and among other things, he instituted the school garden.

HE SERVED in the first World War and then was in early movies, "in which I was holding a spear." Extras in those days got $1.50 and a bag lunch.

"Youre looking at a man who rode in 'Custer's Last Stand'," he boasts with a grin.

He also had an art gallery in the 500 block of Sutter street. Thence to Merced, where he was in charge of Mexican labor camps, working as trouble shooter, interpreter and recruiter for thousands of Mexicans imported during the wartime farm labor shortage.

The characters for "Silk and the Husk," except Sara Simms, are drawn directly from those he knew, "and they are characters." Episodes in the book are documented.

"I had to play it down to make it believable," Haskell comments.

HIS ORIGINAL manuscript had 120,000 words, but the publisher had him cut it down to 75,000. He took out some rare chapters on dope and marijuana peddling.

"I have enough for another book, but don't believe you can do another on the same subject."

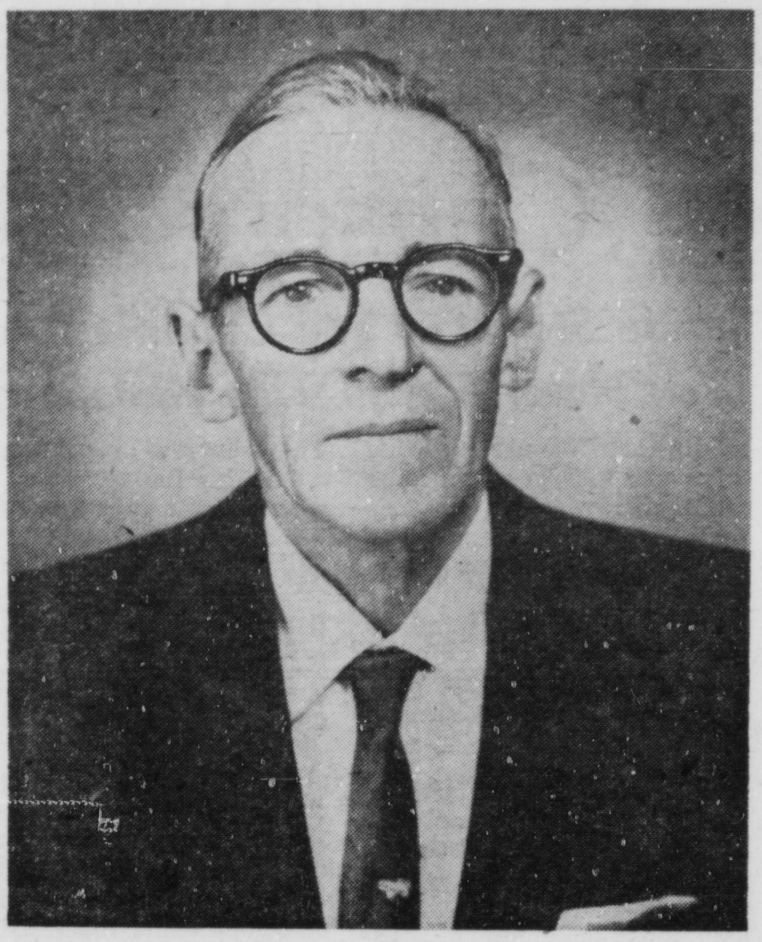
He has written continuously throughout his varied career. His mission book, by the way, still sells. In the past 10 or 12 years, it has sold 150,000 copies and is used in libraries as a fourth grade text in California schools. It has been read by thousands in schools and libraries. It is also a tourist item.

HE SPENT five years collecting the material for it. On publication, a single wrong date was discovered. This was corrected in later editions.

Forty years elapsed between his first novel (never published) and his second. His third, however, will be out next year. Title: "Sinners on Purpose."

Writing seems to run in his family. Married 40 years, he has a grown daughter who writes. His two sisters, one of whom died, wrote textbooks.

HASKELL likes to write, but he likes to do other things, too, "because after the first draft, writing is drudgery"



AUTHOR, ETC.—Albert G. Haskell of San Rafael adds a novel to his long list of accomplishments. He also wrote "Old Missions of California."

'Silk And The Husk' Spun On Life Of The 'Braceros'

Reviewed by DOROTHY SLATTERY

SILK AND THE HUSK, by Albert George Haskell; Vantage Press, Inc., 247 pp.

Albert Hastings arrives in Hermosillo, Mexico in 1943 to recruit stoop labor to harvest the vitally needed California crops rotting in the fields because of the wartime manpower shortage. Among the healthiest "braceros" selected is a violet eyed Indian boy, Trinity, whom the author weaves into the central skein of the story.

After a comedy of errors Hastings succeeds in bringing his charges to the ranch lands of California. Understanding the Mexican personality and character, the recruiter becomes a buffer between the naive, happy National and the complicated world where he has temporarily come to live.

We see Hastings chasing away exploiters ready to lure the innocent bracero from the government camps, doling out baking soda to the sufferers of too many beans, saving Trinity from the police, tricking a raw, Irish highway patrolman out of a speeding ticket and many other humorous and adventurous episodes.

THE AUTHOR grimly tells of the lonely Mexican laborers harvesting cotton in the Santa Clara Valley against the odds of horrible weather, light clothing and a dishonest weighmaster and the appreciative ranchers driving their Mexicans to the San Jose lovemills.

Scenes from this book are touched with realism and the hand of an author who knows his topic very well.

"Silk and the Husk" would be a good way to spend a rainy night . . . entertaining reading.

Censored...Censored...Censored

Inside Story On The Classified Ads You Never See In This Newspaper

The Independent - Journal turns down several thousand dollars' worth of classified advertising a year. Insertion orders ranging from gender meters for expectant mothers to business opportunities guaranteeing up to $2,000 per month income are returned to their senders with this brief letter:

"It is not the policy of the publisher to insert advertising of this nature.

"Enclosed is your check and insertion order."

In addition, some apparently legitimate "for sale, by private party" ads are put on the blacklist after suspicious recurrence.

This rather expensive form of censorship is invoked by classified advertising manager Carl Lehman, based on years of experience here and elsewhere. His judgment is more often than not later substantiated by a Better Business Bureau bulletin. Three out of five in a recent bulletin were ads earlier refused by the I-J.

"We don't catch them all, but we catch most of them," he says.

LAST YEAR alone, the I-J turned down ads asking investments ranging from $1 to $2,953.20. If one Marinite had answered each one, the total fleecing would have amounted to $29,393.85.

He has learned that a reply to the "address cards in your home" ad will bring a bottle of ink, a straight pen and the advice that "We are sure that there are merchants in your community who can use this service." Some boast a return of $50 per 1,000 cards addressed.

"Now it doesn't stand to reason that anybody will pay 5 cents just to have a postcard addressed," Lehman points out.

LEHMAN PERSONALLY goes through all the mail that comes into his department, returning several a week to their senders. All the girls in his department are briefed. If they have any question on the legitimacy of an ad, they check with him or supervisor, Dorothy Mast.

They are also on the lookout for repeated "private party" auto adds from the same phone or address After the third time or so, a check is made. Very often, the auto offered for sale is very real, but the "private party" is actually a salesman from a San Francisco firm.

The newspaper is not liable in cases of fraud or unethical advertising, but Lehman recalls with feelings the time in another California community when a little old man came in with tears in his eyes.

"HE HAD ANSWERED one of these vending machine ads and had sunk his life's savings ($4,500) in it. It turned out that the company had never heard of the salesman who ran the ad. They eventually sent him machines, but not the 10 new ones promised. They sent old beat-up ones.

"As for the locations, they were not set up as the ad had promised. In short, he was out his money."

Most of the ads promising big incomes for part time jobs for a small investment are similar to vending machine deals.

"The catch is that the places that want vending machines already have them," says Lehman. "It isn't in the cards that a person with no experience and an investment of $2,000 could make $10,000 a year working only afternoons."

Variations of this theme range from radio tube vending machines and selling garments to illuminated signs, but cigarettes, candy and gumballs are the most frequent.

"Inevitably, the people who answer these ads are retired and they put their life savings into it."

ANOTHER GIMMICK is the insertion order accompanied by check. Since the salesman is on the road no return address is given. Replies are to be sent to a newspaper box-number, and the salesman will be in to pick up the replies. Many small papers find it hard to resist the cash in hand, but Lehman has a procedure that separates the legitimate from the otherwise. When the salesman does turn up for his replies, he is simply handed his insertion order.

"He does one of two things," says Lehman. "Either he blows his stack or he goes out and comes back with a stack of references that would sink a battleship."

In 99 cases out of 100, the salesman blow his stack, blows out and nver returns.

THERE ARE lighter sides to Lehman's business which whet his enthusiasm for it. An early morning phone call from a too-satisfied customer begging to have the ad pulled before expiration will set him beaming all day. Every day brings several letters of similar nature.

Attesting to success of these advertising midgets are the pink slips clipped to voluntary (phoned-in) insertions. Fully half of the ads are pulled before expiration.

No survey has been made in Marin on the pulling power of these ads, but in Santa Rosa Lehman had four girls working one Saturday, checking every ad which gave a phone number. In 76 per cent of the cases there had been some response, with a average of 8.6 calls per ad.

"The return would be much higher in Marin, I am sure," he says.

ONE LOCAL DEALER, who had 25 name brand portable typewriters to sell on a manufacturer's special, sold 55 and then had to quit, only because he could get no more stock.

"Commercial advertisers haven't realized what these little gizmos will do."

Next week, the I-J classified advertising department will observe National Want Ad Week with a "7 for 4" special—seven insertions for the price of four, that is. Last year's promotion, held only in the "Miscellaneous for Sale" category, brought in an increase of 362 ads This year, it will be open in all categories. Any monetary loss Lehman charges up to promotion.

As for the year-long effect, Lehman has no statistics.

"IT'S HARD TO TELL, because we have just completed our 17th straight month of gain," he beams.

There is nothing new about classified advertising. What Lehman calls "the people's media" is thousands of years old.

The Lens, The Hammer

Jewish Community Center Presents Two-Man Show Of Metalcraft, Photos

After having presented an annual art exhibit by local artists for the past five years, the Marin Jewish Community Center is embarking on a new venture in the field of art. It has arranged the showing of a special art exhibit by two outstanding artists—a Metalsmith, Victor Ries, and a photographer, Ruth Bernhard. The exhibit will be held at the Center, Mission and Forbes, San Rafael, beginning Saturday evening at 8 p. m. until 10 p. m., and will be open nightly from 8 to 10 p. m. through March 27. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend. Mr. Ries and Miss Bernhard will be on hand March 21 when the exhibit is opened.

Miss Bernhard will show a selected group of her photographs, many of them prize winners. Ries will display mostly Jewish Ceremonial art object, such as candlesticks, Menorahs, Kiddush cups, dishes and bowls. He will also show some models of larger works which he has completed for Temples and Synagogues.

VICTOR RIES has his workshop and home in Forest Knolls, Marin County. He was born in Berlin, Germany and studied metalcraft, jewelry making and sculpture there. He attended the State Academy of Fine Arts.

In 1933 he went to Palestine where he worked as a silversmith and taught jewelry and metalwork at the Bezalel School of Arts and Crafts. In 1948 he came to the United States and settled in Northern California. He has taught his work at the Pond Farm Workshop, San Francisco State College, the California College of Arts and Crafts and Marin Junior College.

Ries' work has been shown in many large museums, galleries and universities throughout the United States. He recently had a one-man show at the M. H. DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. For many years his work has received awards at the California State Fair.

Alfred Frankenstein, San Francisco art critic has described Ries' work as follows:

"His handling of materials, orthodox and unorthodox, is equalled by resourcefulness and originality of designs that are almost unique among modern jewelers. He is not a sculptor working in miniature and in precious metals, he is a craftsman in jewelry whose ideas are not limited by 19th century tradition. Some of his designs seem to go back to very ancient sources and some are strictly contemporary; whatever their source, they are always magnificently realized."

MISS RUTH BERNHARD is one of the outstanding photographers in the United States. She has been working in photography since Her work has been shown in U. S. Camera annually since 1930. She has exhibited in Tokyo, Paris, London, and most recently, in Mexico City.

She has her own photographic studio at Sacramento and Larkin Streets in San Francisco. She frequently serves as a judge at photographic club shows. She has pictures in the permanent collection of the Museum of Modern Art.

She also did the photographs for a book on Machine Art, put out by the Museum of Modern Art. She has work in permanent exhibit at Eastman House, in Rochester. She recently collaborated in an illustrated book on cable cars, by Melvin Van, "The Big Heart."

Miss Bernhard is internationally known for figure studies, and her photographs of plants and shells; and is also a recognized portrait photographer. She is the daughter of Lucien Bernhard, the noted artist.

"Essentially, Miss Bernhard is a poet who has chosen the language of the camera. Her photographic images are eloquent expressions of life's essence and of an intense desire to communicate with others. These qualities are reflected in her superb photographic collection of nudes, sea shells and symbolic still life."

Harmony Takes To The Byways

"A real harmonious tour" will wind up tomorrow for the A Capella Choir of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. A Homecoming Concert will punctuate the 22nd annual tour, which included 19 concerts in 11 days.

The "real harmonious tour" prediction was that of George De Voe, veteran seminary bus driver, who has mastered several strategies for getting his 38 charges away from one enthusiastic audience and on to the next one.

"I've been doing this for years and it gets more interesting all the time," he explained.

By LESLIE LUERGAN

FIRST CONCERT TOUR was organized in 1937 by Dr. John Milton Kelly when he became head of the Seminary's sacred music department. Except for one three-year leave of absence, Dr. Kelly has personally directed the choir on its tours of all the western coastal states, presenting over 350 concerts from Seattle, where the Choir went last year, to the wide stretches of Arizona.

This year he is on a musical diplomatic tour of Africa which is being sponsored by the State Department.

"We'll all be singing together, there will just be a slight difference in geographical location," he told Choir members as he left for The Dark Continent.

Wilbur F. Russell, acting director of the sacred music department and well-known to music lovers throughout Marin for his organ and piano recitals, has been rehearsing the choir in Dr. Kelly's absence.

"There won't be any problem with the choir tour in my absence," Dr. Kelly assured seminary administrators last November. "Will Russell can direct the choir wonderfully."

His predictions were absolutely true.

Choir member himself for the years he has been on the seminary staff, Russell is the only one along this year whose touring experience predates George, the driver.

SPEAKER for the 1959 Choir Tour is Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president of the seminary, who spoke to the thousands of concert goers the impending need for a seminary expansion program. Dr. Long has been primarily responsible for planning and conferences with the seminary's architects throughout the years and is best qualified to speak of the growing needs of the seminary for housing, classrooms and increased faculty as it attempts to answer the cry for more ministers and Christian educators throughout the world.

Another veteran, first tenor Bob Walkley, has made two previous trips with the choir, and serves as student manager this year. Bob has responsibility for all the minute and staggering details connected with the organization of the 38-member choir.

Included in the group this year are Chu-Hsiang (Suzanne) Kao of Formosa and Margaret Near of Ontario, Canada. Members represent 15 states, 2 foreign countries and 23 colleges and universities. All have been briefed by manager Walkley on where they will dine, how long they will dine, and on what they will dine.

"You can eat soup, but no nuts, no pickles and no heavy spices" he warned, "they're bad for the voice."

Choir members will be overnight guests of the congregation members at churches scheduled for evening concerts. Besides scheduled concerts there will be music for informal gatherings at many of the churches.

"JESU, FRIEND of Sinners," an exalting composition by Grieg, is being sung by the choir for the first time on tour. There have been other important additions to the choir's repertoire—"Salvation Is Created" by Tschesnokoff, sung as it is sung at Kiev; "Sing and rejoice," a composition by Will James, and a new Negro spiritual, "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel."

"We'll be in your town this year," George commented as second soprano Florence Stevens and bass member Orrin Frank, from Phoenix stepped aboard. This is the first time the tour has been as far east as Phoenix where two out of four Arizona scheduled concerts will be given. Two others will be presented in Yuma and Tucson, with the remainder of the concerts scheduled for Southern California cities.

"SINGING FOR their supper" Seminary quartet members will entertain church hosts at after-dinner entertainment given in appreciation of congregational hospitality. The quartet is formed of choir members who have been keeping weekend and evening engagements at churches in the surrounding area from San Francisco The-

BABIES CAN BE SO LOVELY

Babies can be so delightful,
If their faces aren't a sightful.
Babies really are contagious,
When their actions aren't outrageous.
That's the time they cry their best in.
Feed them, change them; then there's playtime,
Which is seldom in the daytime.

Babies throw you for some losses,
And you wonder who the boss is.
Babies chose such hours to howl in
That you'd like to throw the towel in.
They can be so awfully wary
As they watch you fetch and carry.

If you think this isn't plenty,
It's much worse before they're twenty!

ological Seminary since last fall. Three of the four men come from California: Richard Lee from San Diego, Frederick Schulz from Los Angeles, and Herbert Valentine from Oakland. James Bell, bass, is from Cheyenne and Ann Lauenberg, accompanist from Kansas City.

A meditation period was conducted by Dr. Jesse H. Baird just before the choir members boarded the bus. He counseled members of the A capella Choir that they represent "Ministry of Music" from San Francisco Theological Seminary to everyone they meet during the 11-day tour.

THE TRADITIONAL Homecoming Concert will conclude the tour tomorrow evening. The Choir will arrive in San Anselmo at 5:00 p.m. to be dined by the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, where the final performance will be held at 8:00 p.m. Other sponsors for the Homecoming Concert are the Rotary Club of San Anselmo and the Marin Chorale.

HOMEWARD BOUND — It's a long ways to Phoenix for most of the choir, but to Orrin Frank it is a trip back to his own home town. Tour is also 'homecoming' for Florence Stevens. This was the first time that choir has sung in Arizona.

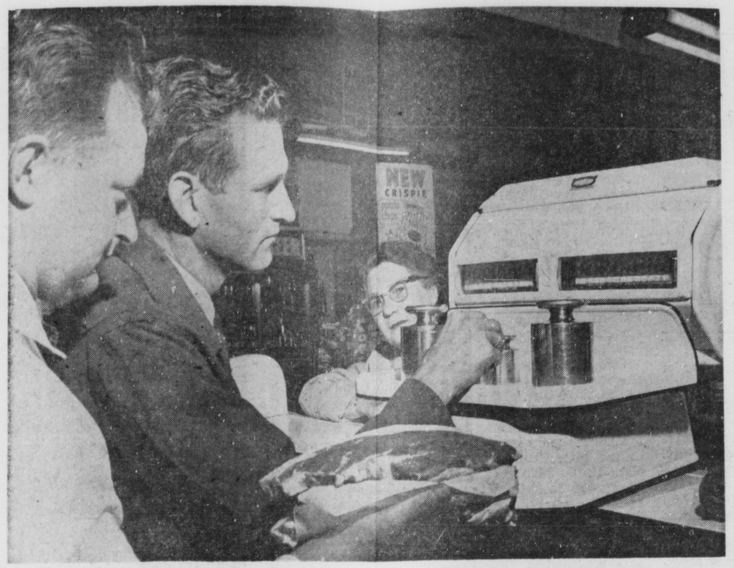
CONDEMNED! — When a scale outlives its accuracy, it ends up in county warehouse. These are a few of some 100 scales. Average scale will serve for 25 to 30 years. However, one 1906 make is still in service in several places in Marin.



CURIOUS CUSTOMER—San Rafael woman is intrigued by scale-testing procedure with her own purchase as subject. Butcher Rollo Monti stands by as county tester Hollis Gates checks reading with standard weights. Number of smaller markets like this one is decreasing.

Accurate To 1/7000th Pound

Even the man who swears he doesn't trust anyone will drive up to a gas station and buy five gallons without a qualm. The housewife who picks one cut of meat because it is a couple of pennies cheaper a pound tosses up her pre-wrapped package into the shopping cart without thinking to check its weight.

Are these people foolhardy?

Actually, not. The gasoline pump meter and the butcher's scales have been checked with far more accuracy than either of them could manage. Protecting the public in these matters are the Marin County Sealer of Weights and Measures, namely Kenneth Brown, and his two assistants, Hollis Gates and Paul Fraire.

BROWN RANGES from Richardson Bay to Bolinas, from Novato to Sausalito. He checks everything from 80,000-pound highway truck scales to grocery scales. He not only checks the retail gasoline pumps, but the gauge on the truck which delivers the gasoline to the station and the one at the petroleum distributor's which measures the amount pumped from the giant standing tanks.

He also checks 140 farm milk tanks.

Highway truck scale weights are tested to a tolerance of 1 pound per 1,000. Everyday commercial scales are tested with weights accurate to the grain. There are 7,000 grains to the pound.

The check on commercial scales is even more rigorous. The precision weights which he uses to check spring and balance scales are themselves checked frequently against a master set in Sacramento. And the states 'master set is subject to check against that of the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, D.C.

WHEN A SCALE or measuring device outlives its accuracy, it is condemned.

So unusual is this occupation that Brown and his colleagues also have to design and build their own equipment. One example was a hoist mechanism for lifting 500 pound weights onto the service truck.

Oh, yes, and they also made the weights and test measures themselves.

BROWN IS ONE of about 300 weight and measure inspectors in the state. His salary and expenses are paid by the county, but he works under state law and state regulation.

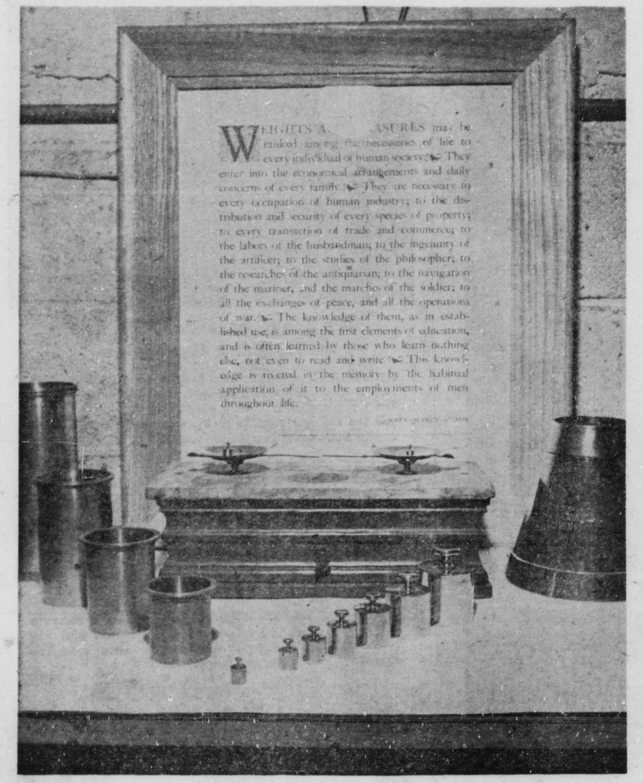
There is no formal education for these jobs. The state Department of Agriculture examines and certifies aspirants for inspectors' positions.

"It's sort of like a newspaper. You begin by being a copy boy," he says.

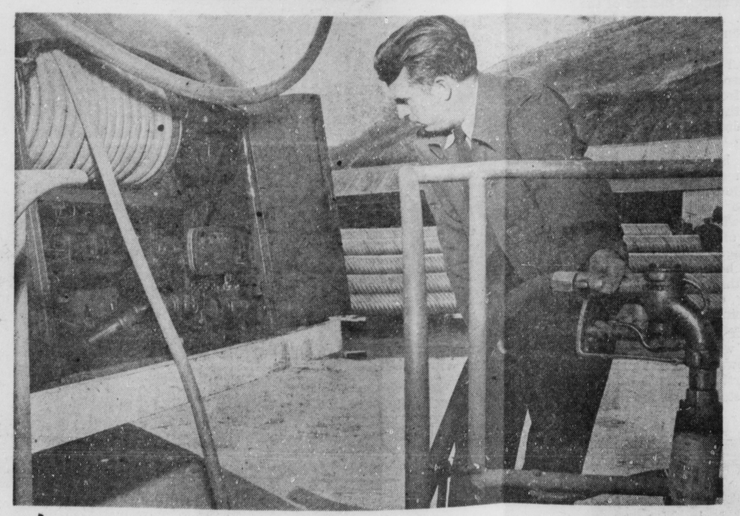
Before starting on his career, however, Brown had studied engineering at College of Marin, which training he considers essential, particularly in designing equipment and understanding the mechanical function of weighing and measuring devices.

"Math is important," he adds.

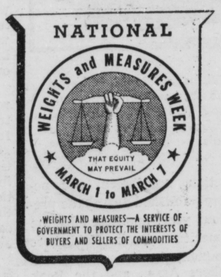
Brown hired out as a trainee in his own county, having attended Fairfax schools and Tamalpais High School. He lives on Cushing avenue in San Rafael with his wife Dorothy and daughter Cheryl, 9.



MASTER SET Marin County's set of standard weights and measures are kept to an accuracy of 1 grain (7,000 grains per ounce. Large measure at right is for two quarts. Continental Congress set standards in 1799.



IN-BETWEEN CHECK — County tester Paul Fraire of Fairfax fills pipe leading to his measuring tank below to check gauge on gasoline supply truck. Checks protect dealer as well as public. County also checks gauges on oil distribution plants.



FAMILIAR SEAL — This may look familiar. Actually it is a bit different than the ones you see pasted on gasoline pumps and scales. This was issued to mark National Weights and Measures Week, which marks 160 years since the Continental Congress adopted standard measurements in 1799. U. S. Bureau of Weights and Measures was established in 1901.

PUMP TESTING — Hollis Gates, assistant, fills standard measuring can with gasoline from service station pump while his chief, Kenneth Brown, confirms reading and affixes seal. Each pump in Marin is checked for accuracy.

Expert Gives Beethoven's Secrets At Preview For Symphony Guild

Dr. Joseph Kerman referred to this famous quotation of Beethoven concerning the famous "Pastoral Symphony" at the Wednesday preview to last night's Symphony Guild orchestra concert. The preview luncheon was held at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

The speaker, assistant professor of music at UC and a well-known author on musicology, had chosen the most familiar work of the program to show by what means a famous composer reaches his goal—in this case the "expression of feeling."

Besides the volume or characteristic rhythms, he described in very clever and scholarly way the importance of the change of harmonies to create certain expressions. Using the "Waldstein" sonata as an example he proved at the piano how the violent passion of this work would lose much of its drive without the tension of the changing harmonies.

Just the opposite is Beethoven's sixth symphony, the pastoral, which the composer himself called "a recollection of country life."

In the lovely first movement the composer does not change the accompanying harmony while displaying the first theme. He thus creates the quiet and calm serenity, characteristic for the whole composition. This character depends very much, but, of course, not entirely, on the simple, static bag-pipe-like harmonies which are used throughout this symphony. The only exception is the "storm" where Beethoven uses all of his skill of changing harmonies (along with other means) to produce the violent drive which we usually associate with his music.

It was very interesting to explore with Dr. Kerman these secrets of composing and the means used by a genius to make us feel what he wants us to feel.

Dr. Kerman, who came to this country 20 years ago from England, was introduced to the audience of about 350 people by Mrs. Thelma Schultz, president of the Marin Symphony Guild.

It was regretable that time did not allow the speaker to analyze also the other works on the program, Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphoses," the "Concerto in E Flat for Two Pianos" by Mozart, and Berlioz' "Roman Carnival Overture."

HORRIBLE, HORRIBLE FATE

By BARBARA FARMER

Caught in the deeply philosophical turmoil of deciding between a lunch of marmalade and honey (favorite bear foods) and the rescue of his dear friend Piglet from the awful ("Horrible, horrible, most horrible") fate of a BATH will be Winnie the Pooh when the beloved A. A. Milne characters are brought to life at the San Rafael High School auditorium on Saturday.

Midway through its winter series, Junior Theater of Marin presents the San Francisco State Children's Theatre in "Winnie the Pooh."

The plot centers about the arrival of a newcomer to the woods where Pooh (residing there incognito under the name of "Sanders") and his friends live. The newcomer, Kanga, a delightfully maternal kangaroo, arrives with three of her most prized possessions: her "offspring," Roo, a BATHTUB and a bar of SOAP!

TO THE FOREST inhabitants the latter two commodities spell DOOM, for a BATH is not to be taken lightly. Kanga latches unto the unfortunate Piglet, and after bathing and fortifying him with vitamins, adopts him as a playmate for Roo. The PROCEDURE Pooh follows to effect Piglet's rescue is amusingly revealed in the exciting climax.

Two performances will be presented: the first commencing at 10:30 a.m. and a matinee at 2 p.m. Group reservations for the morning performance should be made by calling Mrs. Leonard Ward; Mrs. H. G. Marchant is in charge of matinee arrangements.

Theater parties desiring publicity are asked to contact Mrs. William E. Farmer before Wednesday. For those not possessing season tickets, singles may be purchased at the door immediately preceding each performance.

EGYPT IN TRANSITION, By Jean and Simonne Lacouture; Criterion Books, Inc., 350 pp.

A pair of French journalists, Jean and Simonne Lacouture, write of Egypt with detail that bespeaks their familiarity with it. From the time of Napoleon's entry into Egypt a century or so ago until the present, they trace the problems which beleaguer a progressive — but still backward—Moselm nation.

There are chapters which penetrate the abstract idea to bring a graphic picture of the reality. Agriculture and the Egyptian farmer or "fellah" becomes a battle of a very cheerful but weary man, weakened by parasites which infect from the very water in which the "fellah" must stand knee deep day in and day out.

The book was originally written in French and the translator, adhering too faithfully to the literal, at times is overwhelmed with the multitude of ideas and nuances in a single sentence. In short, this is hard reading because the authors are too bent on saying everything about everything at once.

But if you have a little patience with the translation, your reward will be a remarkably first-hand sense of how two westerners see the Middle East.

Baffling Names, For Rose Types

Do rose classifications baffle you? Here's a rundown on the principal types you'll find in nurseries: Hybrid Tea is the "classic" modern bush rose, with large, formal blooms on long stems. Well-known examples are Peace, Charlotte Armstrong and Tiffany. Floribunda roses, as the name implies, bloom in gay clusters of flowers, somewhat smaller both in bush and flower. Examples are Lilibet and the 1959 All-America, Ivory Fashion. Grandiflora roses are a recent cross between the two types above. As the name again implies, they combine the size of Hybrid Teas with the floriferous quality of the Floribundas.

National Book Award Winners

NEW YORK — The 10th anniversary National Book Awards were presented today to Bernard Malamud for his collection of short stories, "The Magic Barrel," to J. Christopher Herold for his non-fiction work, "Mistress to An Age," and to Theodore Roethke for his book of poetry, "Words for the Wind."

The awards, which are the only industry-wide honors in the book publishing field, are given to the most distinguished American books of fiction, non-fiction, and poetry published during the previous year. Sponsored by the American Book Publishers Council, the American Booksellers Assn., and the Book Manufacturers' Institute, the awards are selected by independent panels of judges in each of the three categories.

ST. PATRICK — This life-size statue of the patron saint of the Irish will be on display tomorrow at the Artist Associates' open house in Mill Valley. The work by sculptor Carlo Talliabue is being brought from the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco for the occasion.

Artists Associates Invites 500 To Sunday Preview

More than 500 people in Northern California have received invitations to attend the Artist Associates exhibit and open house tomorrow afternoon at their gallery in El Paseo, Mill Valley.

The paintings and sculpture to be exhibited from 1 to 4:30 p.m. are the work of the eleven professional artists and teachers who make up Artists Associates. They are Helen Gapen Oehler, chairman; Arthur W. Pelmer, vice chairman; Nevin Kempthorne, secretary; Viking Leon, treasurer, and Carlo Talliabue, Ted Christensen, Hubert Buel, Thomas Leighton, Margery Lester and Othello Michetti.

What Makes The Irish Tick? Novelist Delves Into Problem

LAND OF PAIN by Peter Lapin; Doubleday, by Mary Nicol Jones.

If you've wondered what makes the Irish tick, if you've confused the trouble with the English and the purely internal troubles of the Irish, The Land of Cain is a good book to set you straight. Peter Lapin has given his reader all the excitement of an adventure story, but has added his unemotional analysis of the motives that lead these young men to grow from pitched rock battles between Protestant and Catholic children to killing in the streets, with brothers sometimes on opposite sides. The English, in Land of Cain are portrayed more as keepers of the peace between irresponsible factions than as ruthless conquerors.

Action centers around the Tracey family, featuring Brian Tracey, who loved the land and belonged behind a plow. Circumstances force him, however, into the violences of Belfast, into joining the radical IRA to revenge his brother's death, and finally into flight from Ireland. Here the book ends, but not without hope. Brian sees clearly for the first time the root of his own and Ireland's trouble. An unsentimental romance is woven into the plot, and gives motivation for the hero's return to a homeland restored to peace.

REDEMPTION

Age-gnarled, the black oak
Leans against the season.
Its dry wind-raspings
Sound the mutter of bitter penance
Rosaried
Into the distant nave of winter,
Yet far, frost far, the slow earth-turn
From the petitioned grace

Container Gardening One 3 Books For Westerners

This month the Lane Publishing Co. is releasing three books that will warm the hearts of Westerners.

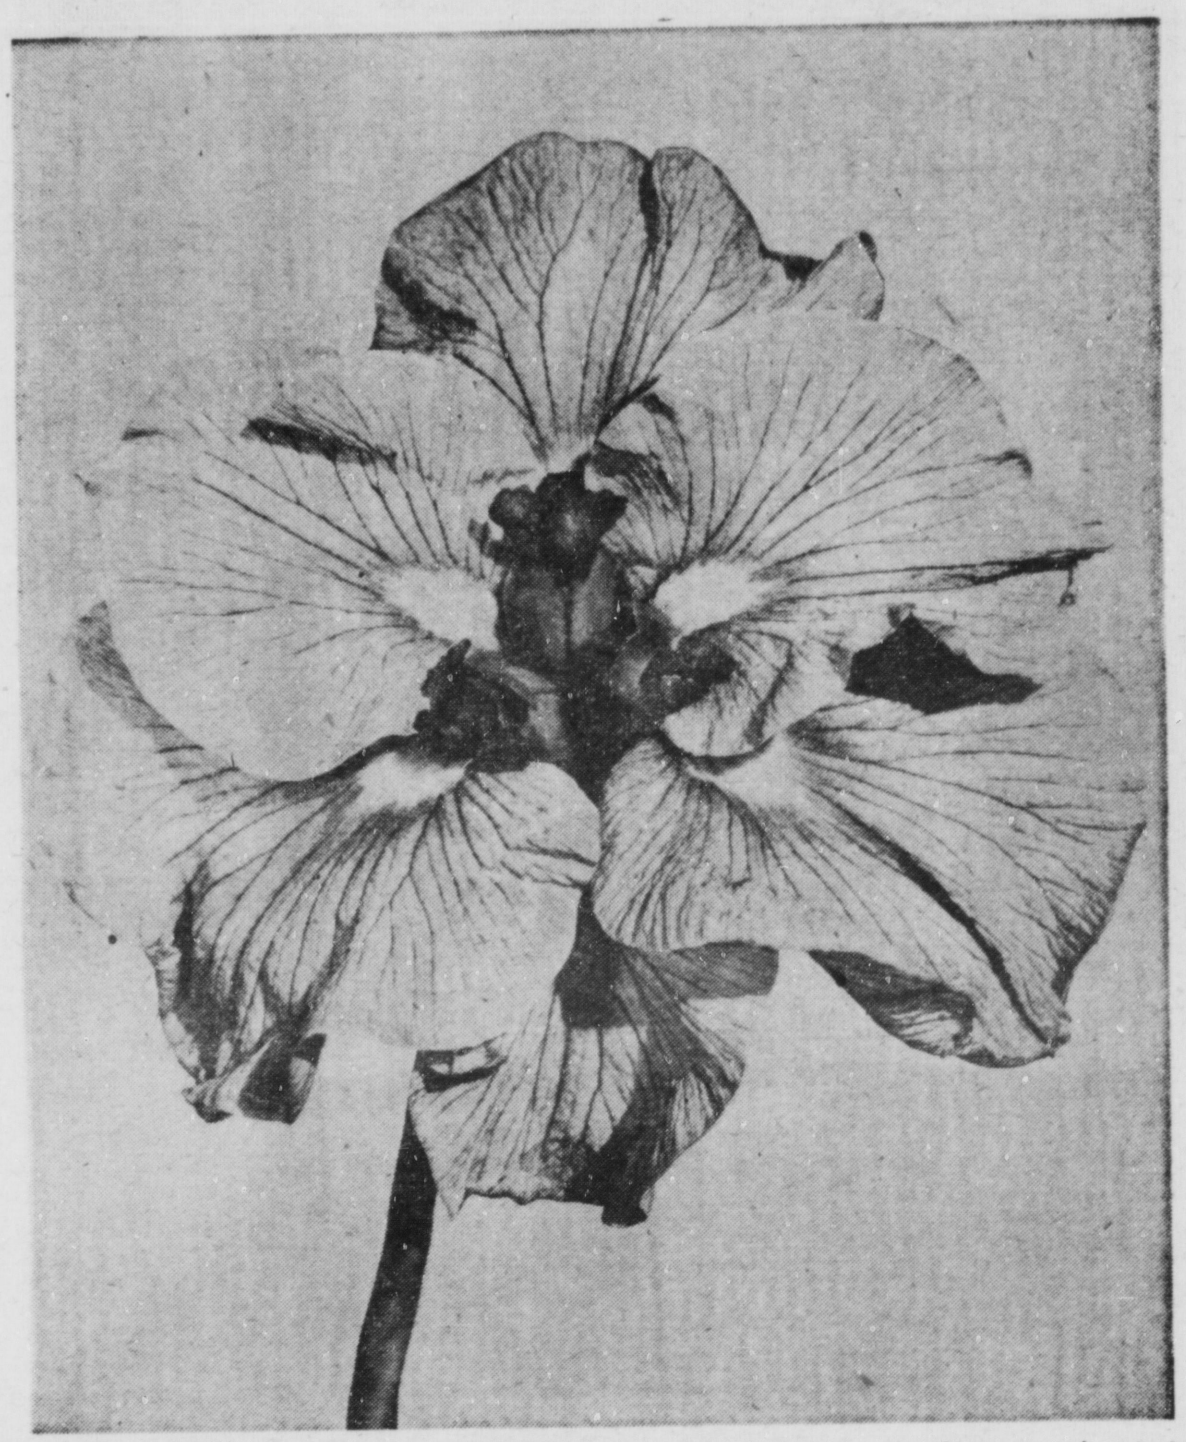
GARDENING IN CONTAINERS, $1.75, is a complete wrap-up of the newest developments in gardening in boxes, tubs, and pots of all kinds. It covers both indoor and patio gardening and contains accurate lists of the best plants, trees, shrubs, and vines for this kind of gardening. Soil mixes get careful attention. Bonsai culture is explained and illustrated.

MEXICO, A Sunset Discovery Book, $1.75 is a complete revision of an earlier popular edition. It tells in text, pictures, and maps how to plan a trip, how to find the most interesting places to visit. The Western parts of Mexico—especially Baja California—get thorough coverage.

SUNSET COOKING CHARTS, 50 cents, contains 6 very attractive and detailed guides to the best uses of herbs, spices, flavorings, and vegetables—plus an excellent chart — barbecuing grilling times and temperatures. It is a handy and valuable item for the good cooks who want to try many combinations but aren't certain whether to put tarragon in soup or anise in fruit drinks.

Don't Cut Tops!

Once the bloom is off the daffodils and other spring bulbs, temptation is strong to cut back the drooping tops. As often pointed out, however, this keeps the bulb underground from ripening properly and robs you of bloom the following year. It's late to plant a cover crop to hide the drying bulbs, but you can—if you are careful—dig them and replant them in trenches out of sight so the ripening process can go on unseen.



KNIGHT IN ARMOR — New giant among Japanese iris is this one developed in Oregon. It will bloom the first year, but is in full glory the next season.

KNIGHT IN ARMOR

Giant Blue And Purple Iris Comes Of Honorable Strain

A new giant Kaempferi iris, Knight in Armor, has been hybridized by an Oregon nursery and will be introduced this spring.

The immense blooms of Knight in Armor are a delicate light blue veined with purple, with center styles of deep, rich purple. These spectacular blooms, measuring up to eight inches across, top a stiff, slender, branched stem that grows to a height of 40 inches. The rich, green foliage is glossy and attractive all year.

Knight in Armor is a Japanese iris, one of the newest of the giant Marhigo strain developed and stabilized over a period of nearly 20 years by Walter Marx. Beginning his collection of named Japanese iris as a hobby, Marx has continually sought to improve the Higo strain, ultimately achieving the superior Marhigos, largest of all irises.

MARHIGOS BLOOM in June and July, later than other varieties, so the iris gardener can extend the season of bloom into the summer if part of his planting is devoted to this strain.

Knight in Armor, along with all iris of the Japanese type, thrives in heavily enriched soil with abundant moisture. The plants are hybridized and grown in the rich soil of Oregon's western Cascades watershed, where the climate is ideally moderate and moisture-laden, and iris bloom all year.

Marhiga iris are vigorous and the root systems are heavy and strong. They do well in full sun except in the hottest climates, where afternoon shade is beneficial. Marhigos may be planted in the fall in moderate to warm areas; if winters are extremely cold, spring planting is recommended.

Knight in Armor will bloom the first year, but the gardener who plants this new introduction will enjoy his full reward the second year when the plants reach their full growth and the flowers are large and abundant.

How To Prune Rhododendron

Unknown to many a gardener, a rhododendron will respond well to pre-bloom pruning. An old shrub that has grown too leggy can be reshaped and made to bush up with mild pruning. If you give close inspection to the main branches, you will see several dormant buds. Cut just above the spot where one year's growth has stopped and another's has begun, and dormant buds below the cut will sprout. Ask a nurseryman to show you with a plant at the nursery just how to tell where to cut.

Hot Days Ahead

Winter's a good time to think of air conditioning. Installation contractors aren't so busy in cold weather, and may offer a lower price.

People Keep Putting It Off— But Not For The Usual Cause

By ANDREW C. LANG

The most common reason given for the delaying of home modernization on a major scale is not, as you might suspect, the lack of money to have the work done.

A survey has shown that a large number of home owners put off remodeling because they are fearful about possible family dislocation while the job is under way. Granted that a certain percentage of those questioned may have given this as the reason to avoid admitting financial stress, it is none the less true that people tend to push aside projects that might interfere with the routines of daily living.

When the Home Improvement Council called on contractors all over the country to remodel old homes and then open them to public view in much the same way as new houses are displayed, Charles Abrams decided to prove a point. It had long been the contention of Abrams—chairman of the Westchester Home Modernization Contractors Assn.—that home owners could expand their living space and remodel fading homesteads without disrupting family life.

A FAMILY in White Plains, N.Y.—Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Milne and their 8-year-old son, Douglas Jr.—agreed to take part in an experiment.

They were to remain in their small Cape Cod home while it underwent a complete modernization during a two-month peirod. This involved adding two bedrooms, a closet, a bath and a stairway to an attic; adding a family room on the first floor; doubling the size of the living room; rewiring the entire house; bringing the heating system up to date; paneling the rooms; remodeling the bathroom and the kitchen; and renovating the exterior grounds, including the addition of a patio.

IT IS HIGHLY unlikely that anybody would undertake such an extensive remodeling program on his own. It probably would be cheaper to buy a new house. But, since the idea was to show that major modernization would not involve dislocation of the family, all phases of remodeling were included in the plan.

The Milne family has maintained reasonably normal activities while watching the transformation of the house proceed on schedule. This proves — says Abrams — that "too much trouble" is no longer a valid excuse for putting off a modernization job.

WALL AT WORK — There's no excuse for wasting a wall in the bedroom. Here, built-in vanity and wardrobe unit, only two feet in depth, was constructed along unused outer wall. Vanity was placed under existing window; wardrobes built on either side. Beautiful and space-saving unit like this is easily constructed of west coast hemlock lumber; should be given clear finish to retain hemlock's rich, champagne coloring. Draperies are shown drawn shut.

Put Do-It-Yourself Drama Into A Plain Wall (Easy)

Decorative items, such as pictures or plaques, also can be displayed on the panel.

Perforated hardboard is available in seven authentic woodgrains at local lumber dealers, and it can be cut to fit odd-shaped areas with a fine-tooth saw. Shelves and fixtures also are available at building supply dealers.

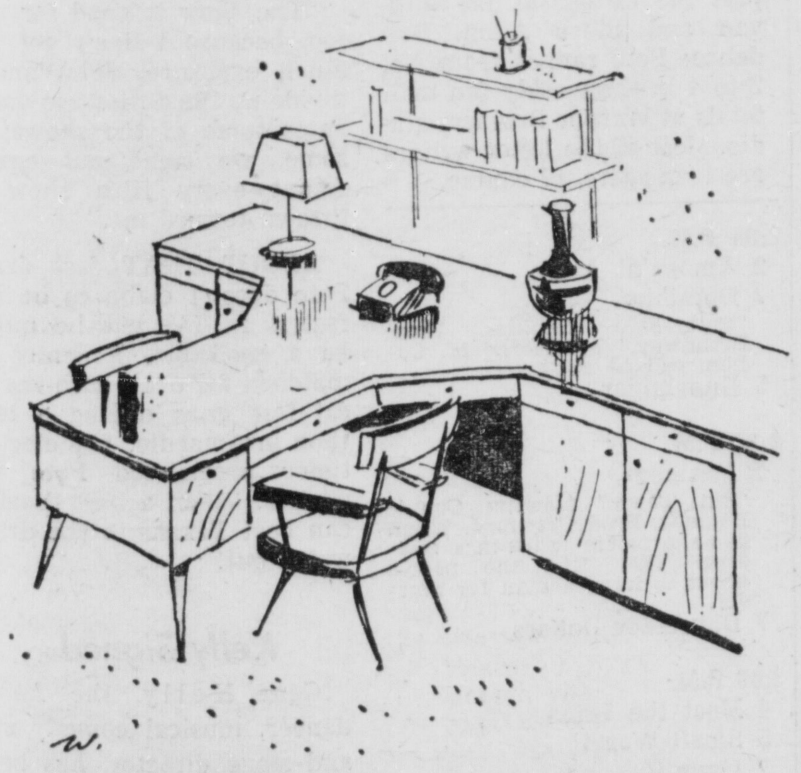
Alcohol and fruit juice stains will not mar pre-decorated hardboard's original factory surface, which never requires refinishing.



DOUBLE STUDY — For den or family room, here is a cleverly designed two-way desk which the family will love. Built of finish grades of west coast hemlock or Douglas fir, it serves as office for Mother and Dad, or study for two children at a time. It can be built right into wall, and finished in natural wood with clear plastic, it looks like choicest piece of furniture.

Buff Away Gloss

Clear lacquer applied to wood produces a shine that may have too much gloss for some purposes. There are several ways of cutting down this shine. One of the easiest is to buff lightly with a fine steel wool.

Do-It-Yourself

Adapt Fireplace To Room's Decor

A fireplace can provide many more years of pleasure if it is given a "new look." Marble-patterned panels of plastic-finished hardboard can be used to provide new and durable tops for fireplaces that show indelible signs of wear and tear.

The material can be applied with approved-type wallboard adhesive right over old walls and fireplace fronts after loose material and excessive soil have been removed. Matching moldings are also available at lumber yards.

"Robin Hood" has been a favorite story with all children for years . . . but did you know it was available at HOY'S on Young People's Records? And who sings the part of "Robin Hood"? None other than Bill McGraw, the star of "San Francisco Tonight" on KGO-TV several seasons ago! Bill can be seen from time to time on different TV shows. You may see him in March in SEA HUNT, Tuesdays, 7 p.m. KRON-TV. Bill, his wife, Jackie (who is expecting their second child this month), and 3½ year old Bill, Jr. are residing in Van Nuys, Calif.

HOY'S is now having a ONCE A YEAR savings on MAGNAVOX and G-E sets! For an Easter present to your child, HOY'S has an excellent selection of children's records — and the MAGNAVOX Troubador portable hi-fi phonograph, for $69.90 — (a savings of $20.00) is just the machine to play "Robin Hood!" This is the first time a musical version has been presented at the level of young children. The music is by Herbert Haufrecht and the orchestra and chorus is conducted by Max Goberman.

Serialized in dramatic form, "Adventures of Robin Hood" with Richard Greene can be seen on KPIX-TV, Saturdays at 12:30 p.m. For your child's room, HOY'S suggests a new 3-way 17-inch MAGNAVOX Wellington for $159.90. It comes with optional legs or table or fits on a shelf. Don't miss these savings!

Tune in Don Davis with "According to Hoy's" on KTIM, Mon. through Friday, 12:15 p.m.

Peter Brown TV's Youngest Gunslinger

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Brown may or may not be the fastest gun on TV. But he's probably the youngest.

Slim, handsome Pete plays the 19-year-old deputy to John Russell's "Lawman" on ABC Sunday nights. That just about makes him the youngest gunslinger on the TV range. No fair counting Rusty in "Rin Tin Tin."

Pete isn't at all disturbed about portraying the young 'un. He points out that a good number of the famous men of the West were that age or younger. Billy the Kid was a teen-age killer.

THERE ARE SOME who argue that Pete's youth—actually he's 23—is an important factor in pushing "Lawman" past the ratings of Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen. Evidence: Pete ranges from No. 2 to 4 in the weekly fan mail totals at Warner Brothers studio. Most of the letter writers are teen-agers, of course.

"That's all right with me," says the New York-born actor. "I can tell by the mail and by response when I go out on tours that the kids are for me. They are the ones who will make me a star."

AN AMBITIOUS fellow like Pete is apt to get where he wants to go—stardom in feature pictures. It's the same goal of Clint Walker, James Garner and other stablemates at the WB Western factory.

"This show is the best thing that could have happened to me," Pete said. "It gives me training that I couldn't have gotten any other way. We work hard, and we work fast, so when the time comes to do a feature, it will come easy to me."

"The show is good for me, too, because I don't get too much exposure. John and I divide up the duties. He dominates some of the shows; in some, we come out equal. About every fifth show is thrown toward me."

ABOUT THAT fast draw. Pete doesn't claim to be the fastest in TV, but he might be a good bet. Recently he matched his draw with the local fast guns during a telethon in Amarillo. The electric timer proclaimed Pete the winner. When a New Yorker can beat Texans to the draw, watch out!

DRAMA OF IRELAND—Piper Laurie and James MacArthur co-star as a young couple caught up in the Irish rebellion in the "Desilu Playhouse" drama, "The Innocent Assassin." In the hour-long teleplay MacArthur plays a young Irishman who is ordered by the Irish Republican Army to execute a traitor to their cause. The enormity of the act not only strains his loyalty to Ireland, but also threatens his romance with Miss Laurie.

GO-GO-GO!

COLOR

adds "GO-POWER" to advertising at small additional cost

ADVERTISERS WANT "stoppers" — pictures and headlines that flag attention and induce readers to heed the advertising message.

Color is a strikingly effective stopper. Especially in newspaper advertising. A spot of color on an otherwise gray page draws the eye irresistibly. If the offer is timely and attractive, the copy will be read and the ad will pay off in profitable sales.

The I-J offers advertisers one to three extra run-of-paper colors. The additional investment is small compared with the exciting results — color gives your ads 50% to 150% extra "Go-Power"!

Get more details. Call the I-J Display Advertising Dept. and ask for information about color advertising.

Ark Dwellers Win First Legal Skirmish

Judge Turns Down Sausalito Plea On Arques' Boat

Sausalito's ark and houseboat dwellers had cause for rejoicing today.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. yesterday refused to issue a temporary order to prevent Donlon J. Arques, Sausalito waterfront property owner, from permitting inhabitants of the battered old schooner Lassen to "pollute" the waters of Richardson Bay.

Sitting in Marin Superior Court, Judge Sims said the City of Sausalito, which sought the order, failed to offer sufficient evidence of pollution.

FIRST SKIRMISH

It was the first skirmish in Sausalito's latest campaign to rid its waterfront of arks and houseboats it claims are encroaching on the city's underwater streets.

City Atty. John B. Ehlen said inhabitants of the 140-foot vessel were discharging sewage directly into Richardson Bay, thereby contaminating it and making it harmful to fish and wildlife and a public hazard to swimmers.

Arques claimed he does not own the Lassen, berthed in Sausalito since 1932.

BILL OF SALE

His attorney, Wallace S. Myers, said the last bill of sale was made out to W. D. Cleverdon. He said Cleverdon, given berthage for the lumber schooner by Arques' father, now dead, had intended to use the ship again, but never did.

Ehlen told of going aboard the Lassen with William L. Hynes, city building inspector, and finding two toilets not connected to a sewer line. He said they also found evidence the vessel was being used as a dwelling.

"Have you snooped on the other 400 boats in Sausalito and seen what's being done on them?" demanded Myers.

Ehlen displayed photographs of water trickling into the bay from a pipe protruding out of the Lassen's hull. Judge Sims said the pictures and the testimony presented failed to establish grounds for temporary injunctive relief.

GUESS IS ONLY 3 OFF

Lucky Carpenter Wins I-J Contest

He's lucky because his guess of the Independent-Journal's paid circulation as of Wednesday was the closest of any of nearly 1,000 who entered the I-J's opinion poll contest. Schoff's guess of 26,932 was only three shy of the actual total of 26,935. This won him $100.

He's lucky because he and his wife, Lee, are leaders of "the finest group of girls you could find anywhere," to use Schoff's words. He refers to Girl Mariner Ship 132.

The girls are lucky because each summer the Schoffs take them on a long camping trip. This year's trip will be the longest of all, to Camp Rockwood, the national Girl Scout camp near Washington, D.C. They'll leave June 22 and return Aug. 10.

"That $100 will buy a few things we need for the trip," Schoff said after being informed of his winning.

The girls travel by truck, with Schoff at the wheel. They camp out and cook their own meals en route. Last year they went to Sante Fe, N.M.; the year before to Payette Lakes, Ida. Nineteen girls have signed up for this year's trip to the national capital.

The Schoffs usually lock up their home at 69 Sequoia road, Fairfax, to make the trip, but this year Schoff plans to rent it.

"The house is paid for, and we don't buy anything on time," he said. "If we had payments to ment, we couldn't go with the girls."

Schoff is a self-employed carpenter and cabinet maker, 50 years old. He and his father came to Marin from Minnesota in 1931 and set up a cabinet shop business on B street in San Rafael, in the building now occupied by the Victory Grocery. After the elder Schoff died, his son closed the shop, and turned to carpentry, working out of his home in Fairfax.

Schoff still does home furniture making, however.

The girls of Mariner Ship 132 sort of substitute for daughters for the Schoffs. For the Fairfax couple has two sons: Clifford, a College of Marin student, and Harland, in the eighth grade of Fairfax Central School.

Dope Pusher Nabbed Via Arrests Here

Marin Information Leads To South S.F. Suspect

A dope peddler who last month yielded part of his marijuana cache to a young armed robber from Marin, was arrested at his South San Francisco home late yesterday by police and state narcotics agents.

Faustin Gene Mascarenas, 45, was apprehended on the strength of information furnished by Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos after two arrests which last week cleared up several major crimes in this county.

Chief Louis Belloni of South San Francisco police said more than two pounds of packaged marijuana was discovered in the home of Mascarenas. The cache, which officers confiscated, would have retailed for somewhere between $1,500 and $2,000, Belloni said.

$2,500 BAIL

Held under $2,500 bail, Mascarenas admitted he was a peddler of marijuana, the police chief reported.

Inspector William Bradley, of the Marin County Sheriff's Office, said today the South San Francisco arrest followed further investigation of Marin armed robbery suspects Leo Anthony Wiest Jr., 20, of 67 Olive avenue, San Anselmo, and Ramon Virgil Balliett, 21, of Santa Rosa. Both are being held in Marin County Jail under $5,000 bail.

ARRANGED MEETING

One night last month, Belliett told Wiest he could show him where to get some marijuana in South San Francisco. Neither had funds to make a purchase, but Balliett arranged a meeting between Wiest and Mascarenas by phoning the latter at his home.

Balliett then drove Wiest to the Mascarenas home, let him out of the car and parked some distance away. Wiest, armed with a .357 caliber magnum revolver stolen in a 1957 San Anselmo car burglary, held Mascarenas at gunpoint and demanded marijuana.

The robbery netted Wiest

2 Kids Hurt In Accidents In Hub City

Two children were injured in separate traffic accidents yesterday in San Anselmo.

A 10-year-old San Anselmo boy, Jimmie Johnson of 14 San Francisco boulevard, was struck by a station wagon on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in front of Isabel Cook School at 5:44 p.m.

The boy was carried on the hood about 10 feet, then dropped to the pavement.

UNDER OBSERVATION

Driver of the station wagon, Robert Paul King, 28, of 122 San Francisco boulevard, was westbound on Drake boulevard in the curb lane. He started to pass to the right of a car stopped at the pedestrian crosswalk in the front of the school.

King said he saw the boy dart across the street and slammed on his brakes. He left 25 feet of skid marks, reported San Anselmo Police Officer Chester C. Orr. King was cited for failure to yield a pedestrian right of way.

OFFICER HURT

The child is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young. Officer Orr, while helping to put the boy into a United Ambulance, suffered a cut on his right shoulder and a torn shirt from a tree cutter protruding from a passing car.

Sarah Wilkinson, 3-year-old granddaughter of attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, suffered a gash on her forehead which required five stitches to close in an automobile collision at 8:55 p.m.

The little girl was in a car driven by her grandmother, Mrs. Susan Fenton Gardiner, 56, of 2 Angela avenue, San Anselmo. Mrs. Gardiner was cited for failure to yield the right of way. Her auto came out of a driveway at 50 Park way and hit a sheriff's car driven by Deputy John Joseph Can-

Battle Of The Sexes Starts At Diaper Age, Says Barbour

The contest of male vs. female starts in diapers and customarily ends with the death of the male some years before that of his wife, Dr. Richmond Barbour, Independent-Journal "Parents' Corner" columnist, told a predominantly female audience of more than 200 last night in the Sir Francis Drake High School gymnasium.

Dr. Barbour opened his hour-long, humor-sparked address by telling his audience that he was not going to talk about sex. Strictly speaking, he didn't. He talked about sexes.

The speaker, who besides being a syndicated newspaper colmnist is director of guidance for the San Diego City Schools (and a parent), dealt mainly with the differing problems of rearing boys and girls.

The girls, he said, get a head start with an extra chromosome at the time the egg is fertilized. They stay out in front, developing more rapidly both physically and intellectually, until about the age of 14. Then the boys suddenly shoot skyward, put on muscle, and discover overnight that the female of the species is a very interesting creature.

But by that time, said Barbour, the girls have been aware of boys for two or three years —while the boys, "for the only time in the life of a normal male have been woman haters."

When the boys start to notice them, "it doesn't take the attractive, popular girls over two weeks to find out what's happening," he said. For the rest of their lives, the females

MRS. YOUNG'S WILL

$100,000 Bequeathed To Shrine Hospital

Mrs. Frances M. Young, a founder of the Marin Art and Garden Center who died Feb. 25, left $100,000 to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco.

Filing of a petition for probate and a ninth codicil to the will of Mrs. Young in Marin Superior Court on Thursday also revealed that she left $20,000 to Masonic Homes of California; $1,500 to the Sunny Hills Presbyterian Orphanage in San Anselmo; $5,500 to Guide Dogs for the Blind, San Rafael; $2,000 to the Marin County Humane Society, and $5,000 to the San Rafael chapter of the American Red Cross.

The residuary estate, after a number of personal bequests to friends and relatives, is to be divided between the medical schools of Stanford University and the University of California.

Attorney Francis V. Keesling Sr. of San Francisco said the amount of the estate is not yet known. It includes the mansion at Lagunitas road and Shady lane in Ross where Mrs. Young died at the age of 94 last month.

She was the widow of George H. Young, a San Francisco shoe

JUSTICE CARTER SAID CRITICAL

State Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow is in critical condition in San Rafael General Hospital, his physician reported today.

The doctor said a clot in the artery to Carter's right lung is depriving a portion of the lung of blood and is creating a secondary strain on his heart. (Carter was hospitalized last month after suffering a mild heart attack.) The physician said Carter also has pneumonia. Four specialists have been in consultation with Carter's physician.

Battle Lines In San Rafael Ballot Drawn

Battle lines have been drawn for good in the San Rafael municipal election of April 13.

Police chief — Incumbent Frank Kelly vs. Lt. Charles Chiesa.

Board of education — Five running for three posts. Incumbents are Rex Silvernale, C. Paul Bettini and Roderick P. Martinelli. Newcomers are C. Roy Calder and Bill Thompson.

Here's Breakdown Of Where I-J Goes In County

When Leonard W. Schoff of Fairfax guessed the paid circulation of the Independent-Journal last Wednesday would be 26,932, he was almost uncannily correct.

The actual circulation totaled 26,935. Here's where they went, by districts, according to figures compiled by circulation manager Julian Leone:

San Rafael, 6,930; San Anselmo, 3,946; Kentfield, 1,900; Corte Madera-Larkspur, 1,388; West Marin, 908; Sausalito-Mill Valley area, 3,981; Novato-North Marin, 3,960; Tiburon Peninsula, 1,888. Also there were 267 mail subscriptions.

Sports Show Crowds May Top 30,000

The large crowd that jammed the opening of the Marin Rod and Gun Club's sixth annual Sports and Boat Show at Bermuda Palms, San Rafael, last night indicated attendance for the three-day show would exceed 30,000, co-chairman Barney DeBisschop said today.

"It was our largest opening night crowd," said DeBisschop, "and if the good weather continues through tomorrow, we should top all expectations as far as attendance is concerned."

The show will be open until 11 o'clock tonight and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow.

On display are the largest selection of boats in the show's history, along with the latest hunting, fishing, camping and other outdoors equipment.

Exhibitions by the Marin Skin Divers Club and Northwoods Bowmen's Clubs, plus moving pictures on outdoors subjects, share the spotlight with the exhibits.

South Sea Voyage Party Incentive

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Three of the four young men who are soon to leave aboard their ketch for a year in the South Seas are being honored at a large cocktail party tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willcutt in Kent Woodlands. Honored will be Jack's brother, Beal Willcutt, Gilbert Wheat Jr., and James Cunha. Also hosting the party are Beal's other brother, Dick Willcutt, and his wife, Kitty, and Beal's sister, Mrs. Bert Broemmel (Jean Willcutt) and her husband.

The three young men with Henry Taft, who is arriving next week from New York, will sail about the middle of April aboard the 46-foot ketch "Blue Sea" which is now anchored at Sausalito. Beal and Gil are living aboard the vessel now and installing a diesel engine. Jim, a San Francisco attorney, works aboard the ketch weekends. I phoned Beal (yes, there is a phone on the vessel) and he said he and his partners are taking along a dinghy so they can cruise around and land on the small islands. They'll sail first to Marquesas Islands and then to the Society Islands, landing first at Tahiti. I asked him if there were a possibility of making a cruise around the world and he replied that he and his pals had been "talking" of it. Beal returned some time ago from Europe where he was with the American Red Cross. Gil, whose first book for children, "Ants," will be published this fall by Simon and Schuster hopes to garner material for other books and articles on the cruise. Hank Taft was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Doubleday Co.

MORE CONVENTIONAL is the mode of travel of the Brown Woodburys of San Rafael who left last night for a trip around the world. They are traveling by plane and will go to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Macao, Manila, Djakarta, Bali, Bangkok, Calcutta, New Delhi, Vale of Kashmir, Agra, Madras, Colombo, Kandy, Bombay, Cairo, the Holy Land, Beirut, Istanbul, Athens, Rome and then visit Spain, Portugal, France, the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles.

TRAVELERS were the honor guests at the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schutte of Ross gave last night at the Olympic Country Club at Lakeside. Honored were the J. Benton Tulleys of San Anselmo who depart for Europe on March 27 and the Jack V. Watsons of San Francisco who take off for their continental tour on April 11. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Earle Young, who with their daughter, Linda, are going to visit the Orient soon, and Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Quilici, John Merryman and John N. Dicks, the latter couple from San Francisco.

A ST. PATRICK'S dinner party is being given tonight by the Charles Cains at their home in Greenbrae. However, only the decorations, not the menu, will carry out the theme. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barsocchini and Mr. and Mrs. George McKenna. On Saturday, March 21, Mr. and Mrs. Cain, with their daughter Candy are leaving for Palm Springs for Easter week. They'll headquarter at the Tennis Club.

HEEDING THE ADVICE, "Next time take the train," the Arthur V. Fays chose that mode of travel for their weekend visit in Reno, leaving on Thursday.

A DESSERT PARTY was given Thursday night by Mrs. Clifford Worth at her home on Palm Hill in Larkspur. Afterward she and her guests attended the Cove Players' production in Tiburon, a benefit for the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Worth's guests were Mesdames Victor Verdellet, William Henderson, George Boardman, Joseph Murray, Dwight Maxwell, Gail Adams, Jack Witt, Neil Ball, Edward Worth, Charles McLeran and Jack Van Wart.

THE THIRTEENS did it. Last night in one of the swank hotels in Washington, D.C., a highly successful fund raising event for the Democratic Women's organization was held. Mrs. Clement W. Miller, wife of Congressman Miller, was one of the 13 wives of Democratic legislators participating in the Friday, the 13th, benefit. Thirteen skits were presented.

A TOUR of the South has been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pring of San Anselmo who left here on Jan. 31. They went to Carlsbad Caverns, crossed the border to see Juarez in Mexico, and visited the important cities in the southern states. They were in New Orleans for five days, during the Mardi Gras, went to St. Augustine and down the east coast of Florida to Miami Beach. They left Key West by plane for Havana, Cuba, where they found life quite normal and the people hospitable and friendly. Back in the States, the Prings started their return journey over the Azalea Trail.

A DINNER PARTY will be given tonight by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow at their home in San Anselmo. Their guests will be Judge and Mrs. Harry Neubarth and Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Quinlan, Don Fleming, Floyd Gilman and Ralph Noah.

The Longfellows had as their guest for three weeks, Mrs. Evan L. Noyes (Clara Rideout). She left on Monday to rejoin her five children at their home in Indianapolis.

IN THE MEADOW of her new home in Hilldale, San Anselmo, Mrs. James Leach is entertaining the children of the neighborhood at an Easter egg hunt on Easter morning. She will be assisted by her granddaughter, Wendy Wilkins, and Mesdames Carl Weber and William During. Mrs. Leach is calling her new home "The Principality," the same name as the ranch she owned many years ago at Los Altos.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach recently sold their home on Crest road in Ross to Col. and Mrs. Charles Diehl. Lats night Mr. and Mrs. Leach were honored at a dinner party to celebrate their 27th wedding anniversary. It was given by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilkins of Ross.

HONORING Mrs. Clifford Mallory of New York, her sister, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore entertained at a luncheon at the Meadow Club on Wednesday following the Marin Symphony Guild concert preview. Mrs. Mallory recently arrived from a three months' tour of the Orient and will leave on Monday for New York. Last night, she, Mrs. Livermore and Mrs. Benjamin H. Dibblee made a threesome at the symphony. Mrs. Livermore's other guests at the luncheon were Mesdames Dibblee, Alfred Hurtgen, Frank Stratford, Margareta Katner, Misses Louise Boyd, and Newell Drown.

Several other luncheon parties followed the preview. Mrs. Robert Schultz, president of the symphony guild, entertained Mesdames Benton D. Mathews, Earle Marsh, Frank Hickman, Frank Kaye, Alvin Rockwell, F. A. Juch and Miss Emma Krohn.

Mrs. Fred Drexler had as her luncheon guests Mesdames A. J. Oehler, Delmar Clinton, Rodney B. Hartman, Philip Antrobus and Strothers Jones.

THE ORIENTAL and continental influences were combined effectively in decorations for the luncheon Mrs. Alfred Kuehl gave recently at her home in Kent Woodlands honoring Mrs. Gus Niederholzer and Mrs. William H. Price. As Gus and Peggy left on Wednesday for an extended tour of the Orient, lovely Oriental figurines were on the table. These vied for attention with the beautiful Royal Doulton figurines placed to honor Ruth Price. As she and her husband are soon leaving for Europe by BOAC and will buy a "Triumph" for their tour, there were a miniature plane an an auto caravan on the table. Guests saying bon voyage to Ruth and Peggy were Mesdames John Merryman, Mert Hipsley, Sherman Beers, Willard L. Frier, Peter Giovanzana, Paul Nederman, Hugh Middleton, Howard Haswell and Don Albertsen. This evening the Albertsens are hosting a large cocktail party at the Meadow Club.

SOUTH AMERICAN CARNIVAL was the name of the cruise which Mrs. Frank Howard Allen and her sister, Mrs. Uda Waldrop, made, and from which they have just returned. The name was chosen because the highlight of the cruise was the carnival in Rio de Janeiro. The two sisters left here on January 30 and spent a week in New York before boarding the "New Brazil" for the cruise which took them to Barbados, Rio, Santos, Montevideo, Buenos Aires and then back to Bahia and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. In New York again, Mrs. Allen and her sister spent another week before flying home.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS TOLD

The engagement of Joanne Picetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Picetti of Larkspur, to John Ferris Manning was announced recently at a tea given by her mother. The bride-elect has one brother, Joseph N. Picetti.

Joanne attended Notre Dame Convent through her grammar school and secondary years. She was graduated in June, 1957.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Manning of Hopland, is the eldest of five children, two brothers, Michael Fraser and Kevin Arthur, and two sisters, Maureen Ann and Joan Patricia. John is now attending the University of San Francisco where he is majoring in mathematics. He will receive the degree in June of 1960.

The couple plan to be married next January

AAUW Group Will View Model Of Bay

Members of the legislative section of Marin Branch of the American Association of University Women will make a trip to see the Bay Area Model at Sausalito on Tuesday, March 17, Mrs. William D. Fusselman, legislative chairman, announces. She says that all members of the branch are invited. The group will leave in an automobile caravan at 9:30 a.m. from the home of Mrs. Alice Cochrane, 220 Kent Avenue in Kentfield.

The members will be taken on a conducted tour at 10 a.m. to view the model which the Army Engineers have installed at the former Marinship yards. Slides will also be shown of the proposed Biemond Plan

ALUMNAE

Election Day Slated By Pi Phi

Election of officers of the Marin Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi, Marin County, will take place Wednesday evening, March 18.

The meeting has been called for 7:45 p.m. at the Terra Linda home of Mrs. Dean H. Brokaw at 696 Las Colindas drive. Co-hostesses are Mesdames Daniel H. Anderson, Murray B. Peterson, Joseph Shipman and Peter S. Sommer Jr. Dessert will be served.

Other business will include plans for the annual Founders' Day luncheon April 21 at the Meadow Club and the May 20 Junior Bazaar at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Robert Kettenbach.

The Bay Area Council will meet May 12 at the home of the president, Mrs. Marion Scott in San Rafael. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Armor attended the last council meeting.

Initiation of the U.C. Pi Beta Phis included a class of 28 Saturday evening, March 7 at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. Among the initiates were Janet Crist and Jerry Spencer of Marin. Janet, the daughter of Mrs. Anne Crist of 147 Pine street in San Anselmo, is a sophomore at U.C. She was graduated from Drake High School

DAR To Hear Of Conclave

Members of El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet on Monday at the home of Mrs. Christian J. Matthew in Greenbrae for luncheon and a business session. A report on the state conference in San Francisco will be given. Delegate to the conference was Mrs. Herbert K. Walton. Other members attending were Mesdames E. P. Bartholomew, A. E. Bermudez, J. L. Chaille, L. A. Dervan, K. R. Gregory, Vera Harlan, Thomas L. Harris, J. P. Hellman, C. J. Matthew, Julian Rice, G. K. Zantow and Dr. Eugenia M. Campbell. Hostesses for Monday's luncheon will be Mesdames A. E. Bermudez, B. F. King, R. E. Mittelstaedt, J. H. Smith and G. K. Zantow.

Mrs. John P. Hellman, II, regent of El Marinero Chapter, visited Park School in Mill Valley recently to present an American flag to the members of Brownie Scout Troop Number 281. The girls took part in a beautiful flag ceremony with the chapter's gift. Members of the troop are Patricia Collins, Rita Cromer, Haroldine Dunn, Bonita Kompf, Sheryl Norush, Darlene Persson, Nancy Reggio, Ricky Swarthout, Josephine Weeder and Leslie Wood. Mrs. Richard Weeder is the leader and her assistants are Mesdames V. E. Norush and G. E. Persson.

Priscilla Holmer To Be Bride March 28

On Easter Saturday afternoon, March 28, Priscilla Holmer will exchange marriage vows with Michael Bull at St. John's Church in Ross. The reception, following the 3 o'clock ceremony, will take place at the Kent Woodlands home of Priscilla's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Holmer.

The Rev. Harold E. Hallett will officiate at the nuptials. Priscilla's sister, Jane, who is a lawyer and a member of the legal staff of the International Cooperation Administration, is coming from Washington to be maid of honor. Elizabeth Conner of Greenbrae, a Kappa Alpha Theta sister of the bride, will be a bridesmaid and her fiance, Ens. John Cox, USNR of Piedmont, will be an usher. Priscilla has asked her friend since early girlhood, Molly Kent, daughter of the Roger Kents, to be her other bridesmaid. However, Molly is now in India and it is not certain she will be back for the wedding. She and her mother went together to the Orient but Mrs. Kent returned home and Molly went on to India.

Clark Deichler of Ross will be best man and Richard Gaetjen of Kentfield will be the other usher.

Mike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Bull of Ross, and his bride, will go to Santa Barbara for the wedding trip and will reside in an apartment in the Marina in San Francisco. A graduate of California School of Arts and Crafts in Berkeley he recently completed graduate work there and is now in business in San Francisco. Both he and Priscilla were graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. His family formerly resided in Honolulu and he attended Punahou School there.

Priscilla, who attended Katharine Branson School, was graduated from University of California last year and is doing graduate work there.

A week ago tonight, Priscilla and Mike were honored at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Duffy and Mr. and Mrs. Nemschoff at the Duffy home in Fairfax. It was a two-generation affair, young people and their parents.

Elizabeth Conner will be hostess at the Spinster dinner a week from tonight and on March 24 Mrs. Millard Rogers is giving a tea at her home in Bret Harte Heights for Priscilla.

Salvage Sale Slated

In addition to the salvage sale on Saturday, March 21, at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley being held as a benefit for the British Benevolent Society of California, a home cooking stall will feature British recipes. Anyone having articles for the salvage sale is asked to notify Mrs. E. Carol Jackson of Mill Valley who will make arrangements for pick-up. The British Benevolent Society of California was formed in San Francisco about a hundred years ago to care for nationals of the British Commonwealth in California.

Music Listening Group

The Couples Music Listening Group of Marin Branch, American Association of University Women will meet on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christensen, 18 Rolingwood drive, San Rafael. Listening to records will begin at 7:30. Mr. Christensen is program chairman for the evening and Mrs. Christensen will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Smith with hostess duties. Those attending are to made reservations with Mrs. Otto H. Meyer.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ike Speaks Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's report to the nation Monday night on the Berlin situation will contain no surprises and set forth no new policies, informed sources predicted today.

The talk could be regarded mainly as an educational effort, the sources said, in a move to put the Berlin situation into perspective as the President sees it.

Eisenhower's speech will be carried over KPIX television (Channel 5) and radio stations KNBC, KGO, KCBS and KFRC at 6:30 p.m. (PST).

KRON-TV (Channel 4) and KGO-TV (Channel 7) will run taped rebroadcasts at 9:30 p.m.

Urges War Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union can be deterred from "a final showdown at this time," predicts Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, if the United States is determined "to go to war if necessary for Berlin."

"We must be willing to go all the way down the road," says the Army chief of staff. "We can't turn back at any point."

Aid Cut Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) said today President Eisenhower will be lucky if he gets three billion dollars from Congress out of the nearly four billions he wants for foreign aid.

Hays, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee who has voted for the overseas program in the past, spoke as congressmen eyed for economies the program sent them by the President yesterday.

Russ Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last October's nuclear tests by the Soviets produced a record rise in the radioactive debris in the stratosphere, says Dr. Willard F. Libby.

Libby, scientist member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said the rise was tremendous—the greatest in all the history of weapons testing by the Soviets, Americans and British.

Duncan Jury Rests

VENTURA (AP)—A jury which has heard three weeks of testimony is resting over the weekend before deciding Elizabeth Duncan's fate.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, is charged with hiring two men to strangle her attractive daughter-in-law, Olga Duncan, 30.

The jurors will meet Monday to begin deliberating. The prosecution has asked for a first-degree murder conviction, which is punishable by death or life imprisonment.

Freight Car Rampage

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Wrecking crews picked over a half-block of destruction today to determine if there were any more victims in the rubble left by seven runaway freight cars.

One person was killed and at least 16 injured, two of them seriously, when a gondola car and six box cars loaded with plywood thundered down the tracks at 60 miles an hour yesterday.

The runaway cars crashed through the Union Pacific depot, rumbled across a busy thoroughfare then plowed into a building housing two cafes, an automotive shop and several smaller shops.

Craemer Has Surgery

Justus F. Craemer, co-owner of the Independent-Journal, was reported in "good" condition today at Marin General Hospital, where he is recovering from minor surgery yesterday. He is expected to leave the hospital in a week.

Indian Ocean Revolt

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Rebels reportedly have seized five of the Maldive Islands in the Indian Ocean. The Maldivian government hinted today it considers the revolution pro-British and linked it with the British plans for an air base on Gan Island, headquarters of the rebel government.

Crash Injures 8

FAIRFIELD (UPI)—Eight persons were injured, none critically, today when a Greyhound bus struck a truck-trailer loaded with lumber in a rear-end collision on Highway 40 about 40 miles northeast of San Francisco.

Trees Being Planted In Sleepy Hollow

The two-mile length of Butterfield road in Sleepy Hollow will remain a tree-lined boulevard, thanks to the determined efforts of the Legend Club, the Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. and several Boy Scout troops, who today and tomorrow are planting 100 young poplar trees along the route.

The community effort is being made to replace many old eucalyptus trees recently felled by the county as hazards, said Mrs. Richard Ehrhart, president of the Legend Club.

The trees are being planted by the members of Boy Scout Troops 50 and 70, Cub Packs 50 and 70, and Explorer Post 50 of Sleepy Hollow. They and other volunteers will be served refreshments during breaks in the labor

Science Fair Under Way At Cook School

Parents who visited Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo today could find out a lot about what their children and the neighbors' children can do.

On display were exhibits produced by about 180 Isabel Cook children for the school's science fair, a prelude to the Marin County Science Fair to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Some of the exhibits were individually produced. Some were the results of group efforts. Some were produced entirely during classes and others were put together at home, said Principal James W. Stinchcomb.

Winners of honorable mention were Roger Bovard, eighth grader; Ed Kwiatkowski, Gregory Sherrick, Sharon Warrington and Nancy Smith, eighth graders, with a group exhibit, and seventh grader Libby Doucet.

The prize-winning and honorable mention winners will be exhibited in the Tam high fair, Stinchcomb said.

Chamber Hits Service Station Plan

Directors of the Novato Chamber of Commerce have voted to oppose developer Gerald Hoytt's plans for two service stations on Grant avenue opposite the present end of Seventh street.

The chamber board Thursday said it is reiterating a stand previously taken to oppose establishment of service stations in that area which would have access onto Grant avenue. It would not oppose stations with access onto the proposed Seventh street extension.

Hoytt's plans for the first phase of a contemplated shopping center on 15 acres along the south side of Grant avenue opposite Seventh street will be considered by the county planning commission at 2 p.m. Monday. The first phase plans include the two stations.

Marinite Elected At Demo Conclave

I-J Special Report

FRESNO—Mill Valley attorney Gerald N. Hill was elected to the board of directors of the politically powerful California Democratic Council at its convention in Fresno last night.

Hill, vice chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, easily out-polled Mrs. Irving Davisson of Napa for the post. He will represent the 1st Congressional District on the 30-man board.

Another local development in the convention which lasts through tomorrow was the announcement of opposition to Mrs. Gordon Strawbridge of Mill Valley for northern vice president of the organization. Izzy Barlas, prominent Petaluma poultry rancher and vice chairman of the Sonoma Democratic Central Committee, was the second nominee for the position.

Mrs. Strawbridge was Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk's campaign manager for Northern California in the November election. The voting for the vice presidency will be held tonight.

Twenty-two Marin delegates are present in Fresno.

Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands, vice chairman of the state Democratic Central Committee, introduced Sen. Clair Engle to the 3,500 delegates and alternates. Esther Lemley from Marin has been named 1st District delegation secretary.

Director Hill's first official act after his election at a district caucus which lasted to 2 a.m. was to announce adjournment for the weary 51st District Democratic club representatives.

BARBOUR

make the males pay for that two years when they couldn't be bothered with boy-struck girls.

The parent-counselor warned his audience of parents: "Don't get sarcastic when they fall in love."

"When we were in love it was wonderful," he said, "but when our children fall in love it is just plain nauseating. But don't let them know it."

ONE BIG WORRY

"One of the things that worries me most about modern education," he said, "is that I'm afraid we expect every child to be a happy, back-slapping used-car salesman type. If this happens, I wonder what will become of our civilization."

The educator rapped his fellow educators also for training girls "to be anything except a mother." The girls emerge from college with great career plans in their heads, he said. The first baby jolts them into rude disillusionment.

Little boys, he said, are born struggling against the strange, new world. They never quite get over it. That's why they behave like savages. And that's why even the grown man "should have at least one week a year when he doesn't have to shave or keep clean." But the typical city man "hardly dares to be a male," said suburban-dwelling Dr. Barbour.

Like the de-masculinized men, the de-feminized women have a tough time of it. "Pity the (quote) successful businesswoman who's eating her heart out in a world that's a little bit too hard for her!" he exclaimed.

FEMALE DURABLE

The female, said Dr. Barbour, can better withstand starvation, over-eating, heat, cold, disease and radiation than the male. And she adapts herself to the world more easily.

She will live longer. "You'd better look forward to being a widow for a good period of years," he told the mothers in the audience.

But to the age-old question, "which sex is superior?" Barbour answered, "We don't know."

Intelligence tests don't "prove them equal," he declared—because questions showing a sex variant have been eliminated from the tests.

So those very tests again prove they are different—vastly so, from the cradle to the grave.

Dr. Barbour appeared under auspices of Parent-Teacher Assns. of San Anselmo, Fairfax and Greenbrae. He was introduced by Mrs. William Turney.

ARREST

nine tins of marijuana and some pills of as yet undetermined content. He divided the loot with Balliett.

After obtaining this information, Bradley said today, the sheriff's office tipped off state narcotics agents and South San Francisco police about the activities of Mascarenas.

Bradley said Mascarenas also is suspected of having made numerous flights to Mexico and Los Angeles to pick up marijuana supplies for sale in Northern California.

When Balliett was arrested in Sonoma County, officers found a single marijuana cigarette concealed in his car. Wiest was arrested last month on charges of possession and use of marijuana, released on bail, then picked up last week on the armed robbery charges.

Bradley said Wiest told of robbing the Kentfield Pharmacy and a Santa Rosa market last year while under the influence of marijuana. Balliett is accused of driving the getaway car after the Kentfield holdup, which netted $173.

Wiest also has confessed to the $233 robbery of a San Francisco market last May 11, Bradley said. A portion of that loot later was returned by the youth in an envelope stuck under the market's front door, the inspector said.

Secretary Held On Charge Count

A San Anselmo secretary was in Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of passing about $300 worth of bad checks since January.

Mrs. Lois Elizabeth Pickart, 36, was picked up in Bakersfield and brought back to Marin Thursday by Asst. Police Chief Sam Serio of San Anselmo. She was in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. She gave her address as Post Office Box 202, Woodacre.

Serio said Mrs. Pickart worked for an insurance company under an assumed name until February.

Legal Notices

NOTICE INVITING BIDS FOR PURCHASE OF SURPLUS COUNTY PROPERTY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Purchasing Agent of the County of Marin will on or before 11:00 o'clock A. M. on Friday, the 20th day of March, 1959, at his office, 615 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, received sealed bids for purchase from the County of the following described personal property which has been declared by the Board of Supervisors to be surplus County property:

One Gardner-Denver Compressor, 260 cubic feet air per minute. Has Cat. D-7700 engine.

One Flat Bed Body, 92" wide, 174" long.

Said bids will be opened at the above time and place and the County of Marin will within fourteen (14) days thereafter sell, subject to the approval of Board of Supervisors said personal property to the highest bidder.

Each bidder shall accompany his bid with a certified check payable to the County of Marin, amounting to ten per cent (10%) of his bid. Said check shall be forfeited to the County of Marin in case the bidder to whom the sale of such property is awarded does not pay to the County of Marin for the purchase of said property within 5 days of the award of the sale to him the total amount bid.

The successful bidder will be required to remove the above described property from their present locations at his sole expense within 5 days after the award of the sale to him.

The above described personal property may be examined by contacting the Superintendent of the County Garage, 519 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, Telephone GLenwood 3-1220, any time between the hours of 8:00 A. M. and 12:00 Noon, March 12th to March 19th, 1959, incl., excepting Saturday and Sunday, March 14th and 15th respectively.

County reserves unto itself the right to waive any and all informalities or irregularities in bids submitted and may reject any and all bids.

DATED: March 10, 1959.

Two Historic Days In Fight To Obtain Religious Liberty

Religious liberty — the freedom to worship as one's conscience dictates—is and should be the most guarded of all our blessings under the American way of life. Yet this right did not come easily or quickly, and like some of our other freedoms it had to be fought for.

Two days of this March commemorate important historical landmarks in the struggle for religious liberty.

On March 15, 1683 — 276 years ago tomorrow—Anne Hutchinson was banished from Boston because her religious beliefs did not conform to those of her neighbors. In the last month of pregnancy, she led a small daughter by the hand and walked to Rhode Island to seek shelter in Providence with Roger Williams, who had set up a more liberal regime there.

The other important date is March 16. It was on that day in 1641 that an important meeting was held by settlers in various Rhode Island towns. It was at this gathering that they adopted a form of government called "a democratic or popular government" in which no one was to be "accounted a delinquent for doctrine."

And so the first landmark was passed in what was to be a long struggle for religious liberty.

Today, centuries later, we still must be on guard lest our hard-won right of religious liberty be weakened by bigots who preach hate against Americans of one religion or another, trying to turn Christians against Jews, and blaming one group or another for the nation's ills.

Such rabble-rousers we must recognize for what they truly are—traitors to our American way of life.

Good Americans understand that their right to worship in their own way is weakened if they show prejudice against neighbors of other faiths. Freedoms are interdependent and when we trod on our neighbor's liberty we threaten our own.

Let's always remember that freedom of worship is one of our nation's strongest bulwarks. Let's all guard it sacredly.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

RECORD PRICE

A record price of $109,200 was paid recently for a copy of the Latin Gospels, dated 997. A New York dealer bought it at a London auction.

The book, originally printed in Germany, is 9 by 6½ inches long and consists of 168 parchment pages illuminated with Biblical symbols.

Those who place such value on works of art can gain far richer treasure for themselves if they become imbued with the motivation which inspired their enduring beauty.

The original workers devoted painstaking effort to the long and arduous task of handlettering and embellishing this reproduction of Holy Scriptures. They were motivated by an ardent yearning to render glory to God and to be instrumental in reminding their fellowmen of the lasting beauty of His inspired word.

Develop the habit of reading a daily passage from the Holy Bible and then do something to apply its changeless message to our changing times.

"Thou are God, and thy words shall be true: for thou hast spoken to thy servant these good things." (2 Kings 7:28)

Allow me, O Divine Savior, to play a role in helping mankind to know Your truth, goodness and beauty.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

By CHAPIN A. DAY

The three-day annual meeting of the California Democraitc Council got under way last evening with a record number of Democrats in attendance, including 30 or so from Marin, even though it is not an election year.

One obvious reason is that last November their candidates were elected. It's a real celebration.

But the delegates have something else on their minds. They are thinking to next year when a presidential election is scheduled. They'd like the White House, too. And they want to be sure of keeping the state Legislature.

So this weekend's event is called an "issues conference." They're going to discuss the issues in (1) civil rights, (2) foreign policy, (3) natural resources, (4) planning for population growth, (5) economic problems, (6) public finance, and (7) election reform.

At first they were to pass no resolutions, but now that has been compromised so that resolutions will probably be adopted if they concern "pending legislation."

Marin Democrats are in the forefront as usual. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley is co-chairman for Northern California of the whole conference, helped with all the planning.

Gerald N. Hill of Mill Valley is on the Credentials Committee and is one of the section leaders in the discussions of public finance. Hill also was elected last night as CDC director from the First Congressional District, although he had to poll more votes than Helen Davisson of Napa to do it.

Another Marinite due for election is Nancy Strawbridge of Mill Valley. She's expected to be elected CDC vice president from Region V, which includes the First, Second and Third Congressional Districts. Her election is due tonight.

And then the regular top Demos from Marin, Elizabeth Smith of Kent Woodlands, Democratic national committeewoman, and Roger Kent, Democratic State Central Committee vice chairman, are also in evidence. Pretty good for a Republican county.

UNSUCCESSFUL GOP candidate for Congress, Fred Dupuis of Tiburon, has been getting some sly digs from friends because his campaign billboard just south of Novato is still very much in evidence.

"Did you take a two year lease on it?" they're asking him.

"Have you started to run already for next year?"

There was no two year lease —just two months. He just got his money's worth, Fred says.

On the other question, he hasn't such a concrete answer.

Yes, he is interested in running again. But No, he is not running, not unless he sees more support, more organization and more money than he had last time.

He'd enjoy running again, he'd like to be congressman. But he'd also be happy to campaign for someone else if the new candidate had the time, the organization and the money to make the race.

Now do you understand about that billboard?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Praise For Servicemen's Help

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

When I returned to Sausalito with my boat late Wednesday afternoon, a friend of mine showed me the article with reference to my being marooned on the mud flats off Mare Island.

It was quite evident that the article was a rewrite as I had not yet returned to the office when Larry Lovett phoned. I am not so concerned that some of the facts were not correct, but quite unhappy that the term "belatedly" was used with reference to the Coast Guard. I am sure that it was not the intention of your paper to criticize this branch of the government. Frankly I cannot praise them enough for the service they gave me; this also applies to the four navy men from Mare Island for their part in the rescue.

The boat was in an extremely bad spot and it was Jim Moore, boatswain's mate first class, that called in the navy for assistance. Mr. Moore is the Coast Guard officer in charge.

I am aware that the item of my rescue is no longer news, but if it is possible for you to find a way to give some credit to the men responsible for the rescue, I would greatly appreciate your doing so.

Coast Guard: Jim Moore, Bosun's Mate, 1st Class. Unfortunately, I did not get the names of the two men that assisted him.

I might add here that I was a guest at Mr. Moore's home overnight and he and his wife did everything possible to make me feel very welcome. He had my boat thoroughly checked the next morning and then I was on my way.

If there are any errors in this letter, you can blame them on the fact that I have had just about 17 hours sleep since Sunday night. I am sure you will understand.

Throw Out Big Circle

EDITOR,

The big circle one-way is creating more congestion than before. They should throw out the "Big Circle" and any other one-way streets. San Rafael does not need them.

You Can't Legislate Morals And That Goes For Discrimination Too

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There is an old saying around the state Capitol to the effect that "you can't legislate morals."

This is reasonably true. It's been tried in the past with such legislation as the 14-year attempt at prohibition, the anti-gambling bills in the Warren administration, and many other measures designed to keep people from doing something they are going to do anyhow.

The saying at the present session of the Legislature could easily be amended to say that "you can't legislate tolerance" either, as some misguided and fanatical groups are attempting to do with the so-called "Fair Employment Practices Act."

THIS MEASURE, which seeks to put an end to discrimination in hiring, as applied to the "minority groups," already with the blessing of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, has passed the Assembly, and amended up a little, probably will pass the Senate and be signed by the governor This will start a new period of rancor among employers, all of which could easily have been avoided by tossing the bill, which originally was Communist-inspired, into the waste-basket.

Some of the situations pointed out in connection with the bill would be amusing if they were not so pitiful. The measure, as it probably will finally be written, will be so worded as to force California business to be non-discriminatory in hiring help, but will provide for no tolerance between the minority groups themselves!

ALREADY, THE Senate Labor Committee has adopted a measure to exempt any farm workers who are domiciled on the farm because, as Chairman Robert I. Montgomery (D-Hanford) says, "you can't put Mexican Nationals with Filipinos."

And even before the measure got to the legislature, it contained a clause exempting religious organizations from its provisions, so it will be no discrimination legally for a Protestant to discriminate against a Catholic, or vice-versa.

Consequently, the measure probably will wind up exempting everyone from its provisions except California business, which if it wants to, can find a dozen or more methods of circumventing its provisions.

The result will be nothing but another government agency, more civil service employees to retire on the taxpayers, an increase in the state's two billion dollar budget, with little accomplished toward making California a state where all races and creeds can live together with mutual understanding.

CALIFORNIA PROBABLY has had less discrimination than any other state over the past few years. Admittedly, some discrimination exists, but is gradually being eliminated through the recognition of people as people, rather than as any particular race, color or creed.

Adoption of a law to force such recognition thereby can do nothing but set the process back many years.

And in turn, adoption of the FEPC measure in California marks one more step toward socialism, in view of the controls that are imposed on private business by governmental restrictions and the advent of another bureaucratic gang of government snoopers which will be able to tell the businessman how to run his business.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Old Cy Stebbins ambled into a Vermont crossroads grocery store one bitter cold night, and was furious when he found that every seat within spittin' distance of the pot-bellied stove was already occupied.

Cy wiped the frost off his visage, and asked the store owner in a loud voice, "Seth, got any raw oysters in stock?" "Plenty," Seth assured him. "Fine!" boomed Cy. "Jist you open two dozen and feed 'him to my horse outside."

Cy Stebbins was the richest old coot in the county, and the store owner wasn't anxious to cross him. He opened the oysters, and took them outside, and the entire company of hangers-on trooped after him to see a horse eat oysters. Cy, meanwhile, settled himself comfortably — and for good — in the seat nearest the hot stove.

Very soon the crowd trooped back and the storekeeper said, "I'm sorry, Cy but I don't think that horse of yours'll eat oysters."

"You don't say," marveled Cy. "Well, then, bring 'em here and I'll eat 'em myself."

San Rafael Police Chief Battle Due To Be A Close One, But Clean

Both candidates for San Rafael police chief are men who worked up from the ranks.

Chief Frank Kelly was a plumber and a band leader before he joined the highway patrol and dedicated himself to law enforcement.

It's going to be a close one, they tell me. Campaign stickers have come out. Chiesa has started his door-to-door campaign.

For 58-year-old Chief Kelly, it's going to be the fight of his life, especially because he needs just one more term to be eligible for the city retirement system.

Some people are hinting that the fur will begin flying as the campaign goes into the home stretch. But so far, at least on the surface, the campaign has been a clean one.

THE BATTLE for city attorney will probably be waged without personal animosity. It appears neither incumbent Al Bagshaw nor aspirant Tom Boyd have anything personal against the other.

If you were held up by a gunman, as Hiller was last year, you probably wouldn't mind having a sheriff's station nearby either.

KEN SCHAEFER of San Anselmo won a year's entertainment by being first to shake the hand of a radio personality last Saturday in Sausalito. But he almost made a fatal mistake.

The moment he spotted the radio man, he should have dashed up quietly and shaken his hand. But he was so excited that for a brief moment he just stood there pointing to the approaching car and shouting: "There he is!"

A dozen others started a mad dash that woke Ken up just in time to hurtle himself forward and win the prize.

Paul Regnani, lieutenant in the Marin squadron of Civil Air Patrol, piloted a T-33 jet the other day. He was up with Capt. Eric Hutchison of Hamilton Air Force Base for more than an hour.

ATTORNEY Frank Peebles, who used to have offices in San Rafael, has a government job in San Francisco.

He's in the Federal Building as legal adviser in the Bureau of Public Roads.

INVESTIGATORS Bill Bemiss and Tony Adam have more troubles. They tracked down so many missing fathers they posted the best record in the state—only 26 per cent unaccounted for.

Immediately they got a dozen phone calls from irate women who demanded:

"How come my husband has to be among the 26 per cent missing?"

With Adams Gone, Dulles In Hospital, Ike Is More Emphatic, Blunter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, who in recent weeks has had to depend more on himself than at any time since entering the White House in 1953, sounds more emphatic, blunter.

This showed at his news conference Wednesday. At his meetings with congressional leaders last weekend he reportedly was very much in charge.

Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief of staff in the White House until he resigned last summer, was a great cushion against the burdens of the presidency.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, now ill with cancer, had an extraordinary relationship with the President. He was Eisenhower's eyes and ears in foreign policy and much of the time his spokesman.

NOW FAR MORE of the presidential load has landed on Eisenhower's shoulders, along with its many irritations. And Eisenhower is responding with a show of vigor.

In times past, if you attended one of his news conferences and didn't have to concentrate on taking notes, your mind was apt to wander as Eisenhower rambled through generalities that lacked a sharp edge.

Not Wednesday. He still got wound up in long, involved sentences which often scrambled subject and predicate, but he made points that did have an edge.

PERHAPS IT WAS out of exasperation with congressional Democrats, who have been calling on him to pump more men and money into the armed forces, that he finally said in effect:

There's not going to be a land war in Europe; and if the Allied troops there can't cope with whatever is done by the far more numerous Soviet troops, then the whole situation has passed beyond the point of limited war.

He didn't volunteer any statement that if war could not be limited to land engagements then nuclear weapons might have to be used. But under questioning he indicated he was not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war.

This might have been intended to make the Soviets think soberly before they tried any adventures around West Berlin. But, since it might also make American Allies in Europe edgy, he must have thought of that.

It was tough talk. But Eisenhower's attitude on the crisis Premier Nikita Khrushchev cooked up on Berlin has been increasingly, although not blatantly, tough.

PERHAPS THE BEST sign of his bluntness came when he was asked what he thought of Khrushchev's proposal that maybe the Berlin problem could be solved by letting Soviet troops join Allied troops in West Berlin.

At first, almost as if from force of habit, Eisenhower launched out on an explanation with a generalized moral tone.

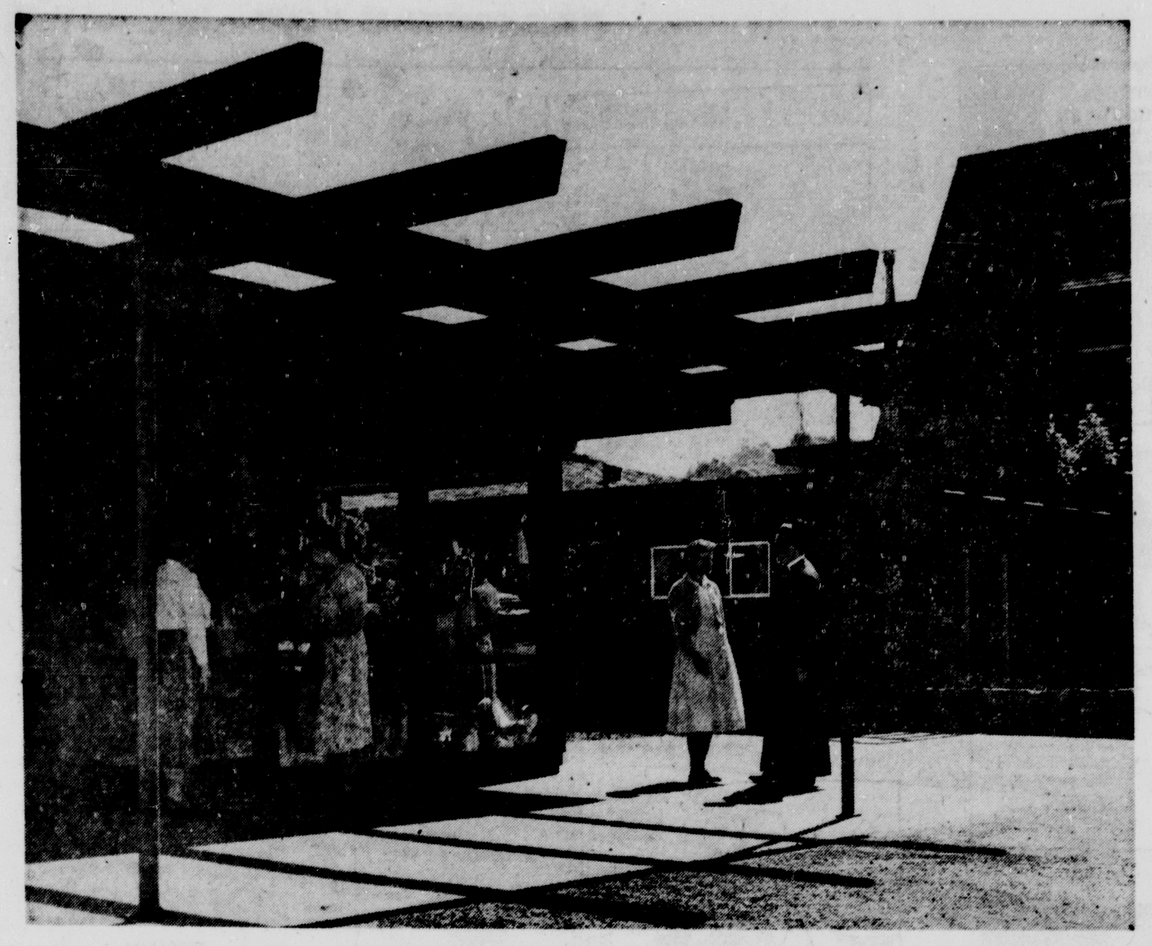
He said this country would consult in the most democratic way with its allies in framing an answer to the Soviet demands

Then, as if impatient with himself for not getting to the point on the question about Khrushchev's proposal, Eisenhower wound up by saying:

"Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it."

The Country Parson

"Folks often don't have the courage to stand up for what is right—especially if it would be bad for their business."



CHURCH OPENS NEW 'TREASURE MART'

The Queen Margaret's Treasure Mart (left) and the new rector's study (right) were opened this week at Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera. The new structures were part of a $25,000 improvement program now being concluded. Other improvements included paving the parking area and enlargement of the sanctuary. Easter Morn Rites Set At Theater

Public Easter sunrise services will be conducted for the sixth consecutive year at the Marin Motor Movies at San Rafael under the auspices of Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael.

Services will be under the direction of the church's pastor, Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger. Music will be provided by the Treble Choir of the church under direction of Mrs. Lloyd Casselman and by Mrs. O. F. Liebeskind, organist.

"The service," Rev. Braunschweiger said, "provides an appropriate beginning for Easter Day and offers the convenience to the shoppers of being able to remain in their cars."

Churches Carry On In Red Lands

CHICAGO (AP)—Back from a survey of Protestant church life behind the iron curtain, Dr. T. Otto Nall, editor of the Methodist church's "New Christian Advocate," reports the churches there are carrying on "timidly, tentatively, but tenaciously."

He said there is less pressure on the churches in Russia than in Red-ruled East Germany.

Tall Baptism

DETROIT (AP)—It was quite a problem when Phil Jorden, a 6-foot-10 athlete, presented himself for baptism at Eber Baptist Church here. The baptistry is only 7 feet long. To avoid a head bumping, Pastor Bill H. Lewis let the candidate sit on a stool and baptized him sitting down.

Tithing The Tithe

KANSAS CITY (AP)—By a system of giving 10 cents out of every dollar of church income for world missions, the Church of the Nazarene reports it has upped its budget for world missions from one and a half million dollars to more than two and a half million in nine years.

Passion Week Mission Set

A Passion Week mission will be conducted next week for Our Lady of Loretto Roman Catholic Parish in Novato by Rev. Eugene Boyle of San Francisco.

Services will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. and will continue daily during the week at the same hour.

The mission will begin tomorrow when members of the Holy Names Men's Club receive Communion in a body at the 9 a.m. Mass. Afterward, they will assemble for a Communion breakfast at Rickey's Rancho Rafael in Ignacio. Judge N. Charles Brusatori will be guest speaker.

Larkspur Speaker

Dr. Carl Sweazy, president of the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary, will speak at Calvary Baptist Church, Larkspur, at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday. His subject will be "Visitation Evangelism."

The Fount

Religious Publicity Council Chapter Sets Marin Parley

Dr. George Hedley, Mills College chaplain and professor of economics and sociology, will be featured speaker at the fourth annual banquet of the Northern California chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council scheduled Monday at 6:45 p.m. at the Ralston L. White Memorial Retreat in Mill Valley.

Dr. Hedley will speak on "Christian Public Relations."

Dr. J. E. Dollar, chairman, will make the report of the nominating committee, and officers will be elected. An official delegate will be chosen to represent the local chapter at the national convention in Washington, D.C., April 11 and 12.

Brief yearly reports will be given by Mrs. Lottie Moody Sandford of Albany, secretary and publicity chairman; Winston H. Taylor of Mill Valley, treasurer and Religion in American Life chairman, and Melvin M. Swartz, Berkeley, membership chairman.

Three past presidents will be honored: Rev. Robert K. Menzel of Mill Valley, Taylor, and Dr. Dollar.

Palm Sunday Cantata Set

The choir of the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia will present the cantata "Tragedy To Triumph" by Bernard Hamblen, at the church on Palm Sunday, March 22, at 8 p.m.

The choir, directed by Dr. Judson Goodrich, will be accompanied on the organ by Ruth Aceves.

Church To Have Musical Program

All three youth choirs—the primary choir, Crusader choir and junior high girls chorus—will sing. Hymns chosen by the congregation also will be sung.

The program is being sponsored by the church's music and worship committee and committee of deacons. The latter will serve refreshments.

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It's defensive minded California vs. the hot shots of St. Mary's for the Western Inter-Collegiate Basketball Championship at the Cow Palace tonight.

The two teams easily battled their way into the finals of the Western NCAA Regional Tournament last night over outclassed foes.

Coach Jim Weaver's Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's ran up a 20-point advantage midway in the second half, then coasted to an 80-71 victory over outmanned Idaho State.

California piled up a 15-point margin at halftime, survived an 11 point shock treatment at the start of the second half, then went on to trounce Utah, 71-53.

The Cal-St. Mary's clash, set for 9 o'clock (PST) tonight, is rated as a tossup. In a preliminary game, Utah meets Idaho for the consolation prize.

The Utah players, who got the full court press treatment from Cal last night, were not impressed by the Golden Bears.

"I think St. Mary's, if it can shoot as hot against the Bears as it did against Idaho State, will win," said forward Gary Chestang of the Utes.

However, none of the coaches involved in the four team tournament would predict the outcome.

But if St. Mary's continues its shooting streak the Bears will be in for a rough time. With the regulars in the game the Gaels connected on more than 60 per cent of their attempts from the floor as they piled up a big lead over Idaho State early in the second half. The Gaels had a 39-33 lead at the intermission, then ran the margin to security early in the second half as forward Laroy Doss and center Tom Meschery collected 40 points between them —Doss getting 21.

This offset a sparkling performance by Jim Rodgers. Idaho State's watch charm guard, who tanked 29 points to take scoring honors for the night.

California defense, which led the nation during the regular season, was the big factor against the Utes. The Redskins hit on 44 per cent of their shots—but they got only 43 attempts. Ths compared with 74 shots taken by California—and that told the story.

Ahead 42-27 at the half, the Cal team relaxed long enough to see Utah score 11 points against 2 in three minutes of play, and cut the margin to six points. But Newell called for a time out and guard Denny Fitzpatrick and Al Buch took control and brought Cal into a commanding position.

Buch led the California scoring with 15 points, while forward Bob Dalton got 13 and Fitzpatrick 12.

CONNOLLY

In fact, Bill White, the Giant's first baseman, was well on his way to becoming a solid choice when he became a victim of international circumstances.

That was in 1956 AFTER he had played his first season as a N.Y. Giant, performing in 138 games, going to bat 508 times, hitting safely 130 times, collecting 23 doubles, 7 triples, 23 homers, driving in 59 runs for a .256 average.

Then Uncle Sam put the snatch on him for military service and removed him completely out of circulation. After his hitch in the Army White returned to the Giants to gaze upon his "fill-in," Orlando Cepeda, who became the rookie of the year.

White saw some action in 26 games, but the glamor he enjoyed in 1956 had faded.

White moved into Phoenix a few weeks ago pretty much crushed and crestfallen. He knew Cepeda was there and that if he was lucky enough he might alternate at first base.

THERE IS NO way to prove it, but I believe White is acres ahead of any first sacker, excepting Stan Musial and Cepeda. Barring a bad break, I would rate White as a great defensive infielder. He covers the ground in catlike fashion, is never off balance, can throw sharply and hard, and will hit big league pitching once he gets in shape.

If you have noticed the Giants have been talking about possible infield shifts.

One day you read where Cepeda is asked to get acquainted with third base; next day it's a story that he may alternate in the outfield.

Now all this fidgety stuff is, in my opinion, due to the Giants trying to make a place for White somewhere in the regular lineup.

In studying White's record you discover that whenever he has been able to play regularly, whether at Danville, Sioux City, Dallas or New York, he has averaged 20 or more home runs a season.

THE GREAT Babe Ruth hit 19 homeruns the first season he started on his homerun rampage.

So you can't sell White short when it comes to being a power hitter.

Bill Rigney, right now the push-button manager of the Giants, nevertheless likes White. He hesitates, and justly so, to rank him ahead of Cepeda.

But "Rig" knows White is the more polished first baseman. And for that reason the yarns out of spring training are inspired for the purpose of trying to work out something that would keep Cepeda and White on as regulars.

BOWLING

Betsy Evans of the Modern Eve team scored a 560 series to highlight the Marin Bowl's Women's Scratch League Wednesday night. The outstanding series led her mates to a 4-0 win over Pierce Hardin Van & Storage, whose high scorer was Stella Kimmell with 456. Modern Eve also turned in an 820 game, high for the year.

Other results: Keaton's (Shirley Thurman, 459) d. Lucas Valley (Rosalie Sloan, 492) by 4-0; The Cellars (Grace Mueller, 499) d. Hamie's (Jennie Milligan, 461) by 3-1; Redwood Travel Advisors (Helen van Oosten, 485) d. R & M Style Shop (J. Small, 395) by 4-0; Redmond's (Myrna Sjoblom, 458) d. Jacques Coiffure D'Art (Marie Hensler, 426) by 3-1.

IN THE Monday night Lutheran Mixed League Helen van Oosten scored a 567 series, including a 208 game, to win top honors. Other high scorers were 553 by R. Ginther, 550 by Frank Keaton and 529 by S. Pillus.

4 Mill Valleyans Win Golf Honors

They were Mrs. A. E. Poarch, first in Class E with 101-29—72; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, second in Class C, 98-24—74; Mrs. Lynn Sumpter, third in Class C, 97-22—75; Mrs. Lloyd Seitzinger, third in Class D, 107-26—81.

Earlier in the week Mrs. Lilleston and Mrs. Henry Seagle, also of the M.V. club, won honors in a Pacific Women's tourney in Alameda.

Winners of the Mill Valley club's putting tournament yesterday on their home course were Mrs. Richard Finn, 25 putts; Mrs. Vollman Thoney, 29; Mrs. W. B. Smillie, 30; Mrs. Henry Seagle and Mrs. Lester Callendar, 32 each; Mrs. George Prydz and Mrs. Philip Dunning, 33 each.

Sparrow Brothers Take Top Novato Basketball Honors

Jack Sparrow, an all-around athletic star, was named the varsity team's outstanding player while brother "Moe" won similar recognition on the Class B team. Players did the voting.

The awards were made to highlight the Fathers-Sons Night banquet. Guest speaker was Bob Blake, junior varsity coach at University of California.

CHEESECAKE SPORTS DON'T MIX AT OSC

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State College President A. L. Strand has banned any further use of pictures of scantily clad coeds to promote OSC athletic events.

He criticized the use of photographs of seven coeds clad in one-piece bathing suits to publicize the recent Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament. The girls depicted various wrestling holds.

Strand said in a letter to R. S. Keene, OSC athletic director:

"Athletics at Oregon State are going to have to stand on their own feet." Such pictures "are all right for Miami Beach," but not for Oregon State, he added.

Giants' Bonus Babes Need More Polish

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—It looks as if some of the gilt edge San Francisco Giant bonus pitchers need more polish.

So the Giants sent a flock of youngsters today to their rookie camp at Sanford, Fla. From there they'll go to minor league clubs.

But two expensive 19-year-olds, Gaylord Perry and Ron Herbel, remained with the parent club.

Perry, signed for a $90,000 bonus, started Friday against the Chicago Cubs. Manager Bill Rigney lifted him after two innings with the score 9-2.

Herbel, $60,000 product, came on in the fourth, pitched 2⅓ innings and gave up five runs. He was the losing pitcher.

When the teams go through shooting it was the Cubs 16-12.

The one impressive note for the Giants was stringbean Dick Sovde who finished up, pitched 1⅔ frames, shut out the Cubs and struck out four.

6-8 GIANT

Sovde stands 6 feet 8 and weighs only 200 pounds. He's 23 and a sidearmer who had an 11-11 record last season with Corpus Christi in the Texas League.

The Giants and Cubs continue their exhibition schedule here today and Sunday.

Slender Ernie smashed a three-run homer off Gaylord in the first and a three-run repeater off Ron in the sixth.

Heinrich Sets 2 Nat'l J.C. Marks

In a three-way meet at the University of California yesterday, he swam the 220-yard freestyle in 2:08.4, 3.4 seconds under the J.C. mark, and the 200-yard butterfly in 2:13.6. The national mark for that distance is 2:20.6.

Herb Elliott In 3:58.9 Mile Win

BRISBANE (AP) — Australia's Herb Elliott, holder of the mile world record, ran a 3:58.9 mile today in the old Centenary Athletic Championships at New Lang Park. This compares to his world mark of 3:54.5.

Elliott, who recently returned from a visit to the United States and Canada, went the first quarter in 59 seconds, the half-mile in 2:01 and the three-quarters in 3:03.

Bahama Wins TV Bout; Plans Busy Schedule

The classy boxer from the Bahamas now wants shots at Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion from Nigeria, and former world middleweight rulers Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer.

"We're ready to go over whenever they say," said Yama's manager, Bobby Melnick. "I understand the London promoters wanted Greaves. After this big win, they'll have to deal with us. We're ready. And if Basilio and Fullmer are looking for action, Yama is ready to oblige."

Bahama looked like he belonged with the top 10 middleweights in winning the unanimous 10-round decision at the Garden last night. The bout was broadcast and televised nationally.

Referee Art Mercante had Bahama in front, 6-4 in rounds. The two judges made Yama's margin larger. Artie Aidello made it 7-3 and Leo Birnbaum, 8-2. The AP card had Yama ahead, 7-3. Greaves was penalized the sixth round for low blows.

67-Ft. Shot Put Limit—O'Brien

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World record holder Parry O'Brien says 67 feet is the maximum possible distance in the shot put.

The two-time Olympic champion and world record holder at 63 feet 2 inches explains it this way:

"Within the confines of a 7-foot circle nobody, no matter how big, can put the shot more than 67 feet. The circle limits the operating area, and no matter how huge a man may be or how strong, as he gets bigger his operating space becomes smaller."

He says he's aiming at 67.

Drake Mermen Set Two New Records

Double-winner Pete Sagues and John Hendry set new school records as they paced the Drake High varsity swimming team to a 49-46 decision over Washington High at Drake's pool.

Sagues swam the 150-yard medley in 1:42.5 for a new record and also won the 200 freestyle in 2:10.8. Hendry was clocked in 1:15.6 for the 100 breaststroke to put a new record in the books.

Drake also won the Class B meet, 40-34.

Drake Track Team Wins First Meet

Drake High School's varsity track and field team, paced by double winner Ken Combs, edged Galileo High yesterday in Drake's first meet of the season.

Combs won the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.1 seconds and the pole vault at 10 feet, 6 inches. Other impressive winners for Drake were Warren Miller with a 2:06.5 clocking in the 880 and Hagen Bruckner with 4:53 in the mile.

Galileo won the Class B meet, 59-50 and Class C, 64-12.

3 Of Top 10 Remain In NCAA Running

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky's defending champions are out, but first-ranked Kansas State and three other of the nation's top 10 teams are still in the running for the NCAA major college basketball championship.

Kentucky, seeking its fifth national crown and ranked second nationally, was unexpectedly eliminated by Louisville at Evanston, Ill., last night, 76-61.

The defeat of Adolph Rupp's Wildcats by a team that had dropped 10 of 27 games was by far the most astounding of the results of four regional tournaments. Kentucky went into the fray with a 23-2 mark.

Navy, which gained stature by beating North Carolina in a preliminary round last Tuesday, was defeated by lightly regarded Boston University, 62-55, in overtime at Charlotte, N.C.

Cincinnati, fifth ranked, Michigan State, No. 7, and West Virginia, No. 10, just managed to squeeze into tonight's regional finals. In contrast, Kansas State, St. Mary's, Calif., and California won in a breeze.

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

At Charlotte—West Virginia vs. Boston University.

At Evanston—Louisville vs. Michigan State.

At San Francisco—California vs. St. Mary's.

West Virginia, getting 36 points from All-America Jerry West—21 in the last nine minutes—came from 18 points back midway of the second half for a 95-92 decision over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia.

Michigan State, the rugged Big Ten champ, had a scare thrown into it by Marquette before winning, 74-69. The Spartans blew a 15-point lead but pulled it out in the closing minutes on three baskets by Bob Anderegg. Anderegg topped the scorers with 23 points.

Kansas State, Big Eight champion, rolled to a 102-70 victory over DePaul for its 21st successive triumph and a season's mark of 25-1. All America Bob Boozer got only 16 points, far below his 25-plus average, but Wally Frank came through with 23 — far more than usual.

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK, Madison Square Garden—Yama Bahama, 153, Bahamas, outpointed Wilfie Greaves, 160¼, Edmonton, Alta., 10.

SANTIAGO, Chile—Sergio Salvia, 134, Chile, knocked out Pedro Gallasso, 133, Brazil, 3.

CHAMPS TOURNEY

San Rafael Bows To Stockton Five

By ERNEST LEICHTER

San Rafael Bulldogs suffered their second consecutive defeat last night in the consolation game of the Tournament of Champions in Berkeley, at the hands of Stagg High School Dragons of Stockton, 39-27. The Bulldogs could not contain the jump shots of Bob Garibaldi, the all-northern California star, who garnered 18 points. Bob, the brother of Dick Garibaldi, the former Santa Clara great, brought a highly commendable 23.6 average into the fray.

San Rafael jumped off to an early 8-1 lead on push shots by Brent Marshall and Mike Curry who moved nicely around an effective screen by Ron Snidow. The Bulldogs held a comfortable 10-4 lead at the end of the first quarter.

In the ensuing quarter Stagg started feeding their big man Garibaldi. Bob deftly bolted free for easy layups and finally put Stagg ahead 13-12 with a jumper from the key. At the half the contest was still in doubt 17-15, for Stagg.

In the second half the Bulldogs attempted to double team Garibaldi and consequently the two forwards, Mike Noack and George Wells, were left open on the sides and potted easy jumpers.

The Bulldogs, trailing by six points with four minutes remaining, became desperate and began committing costly fouls. This enabled the Dragons to widen the margin and thus ice the tilt.

Certainly the Bulldogs have nothing to be ashamed of in their first Tournament of Champions appearance. Coach Bob Lincoln's boys held both McClymonds and Stagg even for almost a half. This is quite an accomplishment because between them, McClymonds and Stagg had a very imposing 42-1 record during the season.

McClymonds, the defending champion, downed Richmond, 43-39 yesterday to advance to the finals tonight against Acalanes which upset Sacramento, 52-49.

Tonight's final game between California and St. Mary's for the Western Regional basketball championship in the Cow Palace, will be televised locally by KTVU, Channel 2.

The NCAA granted permission for TV coverage yesterday after Tournament Director Greg Engelhard reported that all but a few seats had been sold.

S.R. Baseballers Lose To Galileo

The visitors collected eight hits off two San Rafael pitchers, while the Bulldogs got only five hits, including a double and single by shortstop John Spadoni and singles by Bill Roberts, Rod Tivel and Russ Bottini.

The loss was San Rafael's third straight, having lost earlier to Lincoln of San Francisco and St. Vicent's of Vallejo. San Rafael's next game is against Sonoma next Thursday at Albert Field.

The Heart of the Matter

IF YOU do business in Marin, and want to do more than a neighborhood trade, there is one best way to build and grow. That way is to follow the example of practically every successful Marin enterprise—advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The I-J covers the entire Marin Market. Nearly 100% of the 25,000-plus circulation is home delivered—right on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin families. This is paid-for and wanted circulation—no throwaways or free copies are included.

The reasons for the often amazing response to I-J advertising are simple: While the I-J is a complete NEWS-paper, the people in the compact, self-contained community of Marvelous Marin buy it for the ADVERTISING as well as for news and features.

Mr. and Mrs. Marin study the I-J carefully every day for "news" of what merchants and professional services are offering. Its pages are their No. 1 guide in buying and saving and operating the "business" of home-making efficiently and economically.

'Chinatown Police Chief' Dies At 82

John J. (Jack) Manion, who was born in Ross 82 years ago and known as "chief of police" of San Francisco's Chinatown for a quarter of a century, died in an Oakland rest center yesterday after a long illness.

Inspector Manion left Marin at an early age, attending school in San Francisco. He joined the San Francisco Police Department in 1907 and served until his retirement in 1946.

He became Chinatown's unofficial police chief in March, 1921, at which time he was a sergeant in charge of the Chinatown detail. Six powerful tongs were carrying on wholesale assassinations over gambling and slave girls until Manion induced them to hold a "peace conference."

He produced a peace treaty that pledged all those present to end violence in Chinatown or face deportation to China. His plan worked. There was not another tong killing.

Along with the killings, the slave trade died under his influence.

Survivors are his wife, Mary, who is in an Oakland rest home; a son and daughter, John Joseph Manion Jr., of San Francisco, and Sister Mary Clement, of San Francisco.

A requiem High Mass will be offered Monday at 9:30 a.m. at Old St. Mary's Church in Chinatown. The Rosary will be recited at Reilly Co., San Francisco, at 8 p.m., tomorrow.

Behrens Infant Dies In Hospital

James Edward Behrens, two-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry A. Behrens of 145 Kent avenue, Kentfield, died today in a local hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be made by Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

DEATHS

MAFFEI — In Marin County, March 12, 1959, James J. Maffei, dearly beloved husband of Zelda Maffei, loving father of Raymond L. Maffei and Estelle L. O'Donnell, loving brother of Erminia Picchi, Annibale, Oliver and Louis Maffei and the late Michael Maffei, and survived by seven grandchildren; a native of Sonoma, Calif., aged 68 years.

Friends are invited to attend the funeral on Monday, March 16, at 9 a.m., from the Chapel of Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green street, San Francisco, thence to S.S. Peter and Paul's Church, San Francisco, where a Solemn Requiem High Mass will be celebrated commencing at 9:30 a.m. Entombment, Holy Cross Mausoleum, Colma. Rosary, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Sheriff's Posse Meets Monday

Members of the Marin Sheriff's Posse will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Capt. Peter Helms, 139 Deer Hollow road, Sleeply Hollow, to plan activities for their newly organized parade unit.

The group, at a special meeting Tuesday, heard Donald A. Jenson, county administrator and civil defense coordinator, discuss how the posse could fit into the civil defense program.

Wife Says Husband Took Shot At Her

Virus Closes Hall To New Inmates

Marin Juvenile Hall will probably remain closed to new inmates over the weekend because of a cold virus that has hit a half a dozen youngsters.

However, the illness appears to be under control, Probation Officer Walter Busher reported today.

No new inmates will be allowed to enter the hall for a few days as a precautionary measure. At one point, two boys ran temperatures of 104 and 103.

Busher has made arrangements with Santa Rosa Juvenile Hall to take Marin youngsters who run afoul of the law.

Marin To Take Part In Big CD Exercise

ARMY TRAINING OFFICER RETIRES

Maj. William Perry Carr and Mrs. Carr look at his retirement certificate after 20 years of active military service, ending with assignment to the XV Corps (Reserve) at the Presidio of San Francisco as a training officer. The Carrs and their six-month-old son, Perry, live at 113 Hilldale drive, San Anselmo. (Army photo)

Marin County's resources to meet disaster conditions will be evaluated next week during a major civil defense exercise involving 43 counties in Northern and Central California.

Starting Monday and ending March 23, the exercise is designed to pinpoint emergency welfare and medical resources now available to meet the challenge of a war-caused disaster. The general public will not participate.

AGGRESSIVE ATTACKS

It will be assumed by civil defense officials that on March 10 aggressive attacks were made against nations friendly to the United States; that between March 11 and 15 the President recommended dispersal of non-essential civilians from danger zones in the United States, and that by Monday local jurisdictions will have received their assigned number of evacuees.

Information compiled by local officials will be submitted to the state Disaster Office for updating of current estimates of the state's resources.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen, who doubles as Marin civil defense coordinator, said data compiled by Marin's Red Cross chapter, the county medical society and the county health, welfare and schools departments will be coordinated next week at a series of meetings in his office.

COLLECT DATA

The welfare department and the Red Cross have been collecting data on the number of homes, public buildings, motels and other structures which would be available for billeting evacuees in the event of a war alert.

Jensen said next week's exercise will envision placement of some 82,000 evacuees in the Novato area and in North and West Marin. Theoretically, most of these are to be billeted.

The concept of billeting evacuees in available structures outside the so-called danger line for atomic attack was devised, Jensen said, by a federal research team which has recommended a new survival plan to the state.

The coming exercise, which will indicate whether the plan is practicable, does not call for mass evacuation to a Hicks Valley holding area west of Novato, as did earlier plans. Jensen said he is "almost certain" the Hicks Valley plan will be dropped, because it calls for an open encampment of evacuees rather than billeting.

Previously running through Novato, Marin's "danger line" now extends just north of San Rafael and east of Fairfax. Jensen said this means such facilities as Novato High School, Arequipa Center, the Meadow Club and Tamarancho Boy Scout Camp might be used for billeting evacuees.

"The federal people have never specified where these people would come from," Jensen said, "but probably most would come from San Francisco."

The plan calls for evacuation of about 45,000 persons to Novato, where an average of 3.6 persons would be taken into every home. Jensen said the over-all total of 82,000 may prove too high.

Even if the Hicks Valley plan is abandoned, Jensen said, the blue and white evacuation route signs along Marin's main highways and back roads probably will remain. He said they would still point the way to evacuation centers in Petaluma and points north.

The county health department is compiling information on water supplies and sanitary facilities available in the proposed evacuation areas, Jensen said. It is also determining where emergency hospitals and first aid stations could be set up and, with the medical society, making an inventory of all medical personnel which might be available in a war emergency.

The superintendent of schools office is checking the square footage of all school structures in the "safe" areas.

Jensen said the Disaster Office has indicated 20,000 square feet of space will be needed for mass storage of medical supplies in Marin.

"In my budget for next year," he said, "I have included construction of a medical supply warehouse behind the fire station at Point Reyes Station."

He said if this is approved by the board of supervisors, the county will cancel its lease of a storage building behind the Rouge et Noir cheese factory in Hicks Valley.

Novato High School is being eyed as the site of a civil defense emergency hospital. Jensen said the school's size makes it appear feasible for such use. If it is selected, a 200-bed crated hospital unit probably will be stored near the high school, he said. One such unit now is stored in the Hicks Valley buildings.

Of the proposed new survival plan for Marin, Jensen said, "I think it is a much better arrangement than we've had before, because I and many others have wondered how in the world thousands of people were going to live out in the open in Hicks Valley."

CHERRY PRINCESS—Sheila Horgan, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eugene Horgan Jr. of 331 D street, San Rafael, has been chosen "Montana Cherry Blossom Princess" for the annual cherry blossom festival next month in Washington, D.C. Sheila, a San Rafael High School graduate, is attending business college in Washington. She is a grandniece of Montana Sen. James E. Murray and member of an old Montana family.

Pest Control Board May Raise Wages

Possible salary raises are under study for the eight employees of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District.

Paul DiPietro, president of the board of trustees, appointed a three-man committee to study the salaries and bring in recommendations at the April 9 meeting. On the committee are Evan T. Pugh, Arthur Brandow and John Barry.

The trustees, at their Thursday meeting, also:

1. Adopted a resolution to give employees a vote on whether they want social security coverage in addition to the county retirement plan. G. Paul Jones, manager, said employees must wait 90 days before they can vote.

2. Asked for specifications and cost figures on bulkheading the canal side of the district property on Third street, and also costs for paving the district yard.

3. Agreed to hold the annual trustees dinner at Deer Park Villa on April 23.

Novato Firemen To Hold Dance Tonight

The 28th annual St. Patrick's Day Firemen's Ball of the Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will be held tonight from 9 o'clock to 1 a.m. at the Novato Community Clubhouse.

Sam Marzell, president, said tickets will be available at the door for the dance to benefit the volunteer firemen's sick and benefit fund. Murray Petersen and his orchestra will provide music.

MARIN SENATOR'S WIFE PLUNGES INTO POOL TO SAVE YOUNGSTER

A San Rafael mother, who is expecting her seventh child in two weeks, jumped into a swimming pool Thursday to save an 8-year-old boy.

Mrs. John F. McCarthy, wife of State Senator McCarthy, was asked by a neighbor boy if he could swim with the McCarthy children. He said he had his mother's permission.

As the McCarthy children dashed for the pool, the neighboring youngster joined the rush and jumped in with the others.

Mrs. McCarthy saw one child she believed to be pretending to drown in the middle of the pool. She moved to the edge of the pool to reprimand the youngster. She then realized he was not one of her children, and that he couldn't swim.

Fully dressed, she jumped into the pool and pulled the youngster out.

"I was scared," she said, "because I am so heavy I had trouble getting us both out of the pool."

Neither the boy nor Mrs. McCarthy was injured.

PG&E Asks Permission To Increase Gas Rates

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has petitioned the California Public Utilities Commission for permission to increase its gas rates by $12,976,000 annually, which would mean a boost of about 40 cents a month per average domestic customer.

The company said the increase was necessary to offset higher costs of gas which PG&E will pay El Paso Natural Gas Co. as of Aug. 1.

The Texas company, which supplies 70 per cent of PG&E's natural gas, had asked the Federal Power Commission for a rate increase to become effective not later than March 1. But opposition by PG&E and other firms delayed FPC action.

El Paso's rate increases were expected to go into effect, although formal approval by the FPC was still pending. If the government agency denies the increase, El Paso must make refunds to the other gas companies. PG&E said it would pass the refunds on to its customers should this happen.

In yesterday's petition, PG&E said its income would drop approximately $36,000 a day if the proposed "offset" increase is denied.

The company has won gas rate boosts from the state PUC totaling $24,483,000 since Oct. 15, 1957. It was also granted a $16,967,000 increase in electricity rates in 1957.

Convict Leaves For New Hearing

A San Quentin Prison inmate who was scheduled to die in the gas chamber a year and one-half ago left Death Row at 8 o'clock this morning for San Bernardino County where he will have a hearing on a motion for a new trial. He was accompanied by sheriff's deputies from San Bernardino County.

William Gerald Moore, 36-year-old former carnival worker who was convicted of bludgeoning Hilda Hoag, 62, to death in a San Bernardino trailer court, based his request for a new trial on grounds that the state has set up a new method of trying first-degree murder cases.

He will either get a new trial or a reduction of sentence, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff of San Quentin Prison said. An order by the state Supreme Court last December directed that Moore, who has been at the institution since September, 1956, be returned to San Bernardino for the hearing.

Convict Badly Injured In Prison Fight

A San Quentin Prison inmate was seriously injured by a fellow prisoner yesterday in an after-lunch fight, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff reported today.

Johnnie Norwood, 23, of Los Angeles, was in the prison hospital with head wounds and bad bruises. He allegedly was clubbed with a two-by-four board by John Manning, 26, also of Los Angeles, in a battle which erupted as the prisoners were returning to work after lunch.

The fight took place near the laundry, where Manning works. Norwood, who was sent to prison last July on a five-year-to-life term for robbery, was not assigned to a job.

Manning entered the institution in July, 1956, for three years to life on a rape conviction. He has been before the prison's disciplinary committee seven times within the past 12 months, mostly for gambling and disorderly conduct.

He was placed in isolation and will appear before the disciplinary committee again on Tuesday.

Gate Bridge Traffic Shows 'Surprising' Hike In Month

Traffic across the Golden Gate Bridge in February showed a "surprising increase" of more than 10 per cent over the same month last year, the bridge directors were told yesterday.

A total of 1,232,386 vehicles crossed the span, nearly 120,000 more than in the same month last year Total revenue took a comparative jump, $310,878 being paid in at the toll gates as compared with $280,921 last year.

Motorists paying cash 25-cent tolls increased by 12.9 per cent while commute traffic gained 7.1 per cent. Trucks showed a 9.5 increase while buses continued their downward trend with a decrease of 1.7 per cent.

Bridge traffic engineer Arthur C. Jenkins said the good weather during February had a great deal to do with the traffic increase.

Directors were told by general manager James Adam that slide conditions on the Sausalito lateral "remains critical" but that continued fair weather has prevented any material sliding recently. He said that test borings made in the roadway above the slide showed the road was still in good condition. However, engineers suggested additional test borings farther down the slopes in Ft. Baker where construction excavation reportedly had caused the start of the slide.

The directors authorized $2,500 for the new borings and engineering services.

Now's The Time To Eradicate Pesky Mosquitoes

Mosquito breeding is at its peak, and if you want to eradicate the pests, now is the time.

Breeding places include cans, buckets, mulch barrels, outboard motor flush barrels, neglected ornamental pools, boats, swimming pools, and other containers. Jones asked each home owner to inspect his property and eliminate the breeding spots. Containers should be dumped or a light film of ordinary cleaning solvent placed in the water.

Ruling On Gas Will Save Money

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Californians may save up to 35 million dollars a year as a result of a federal ruling on the price of natural gas in New Mexico, says Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

The ruling was made last week in Washington by William J. Costello, Federal Power Commission examiner.

He turned down a request of El Paso Natural Gas Co. and four supplying companies to approve a price of 16 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas from wells in the Bell Lake area of New Mexico. El Paso buys the gas and pipes it to California.

Pair In Sacramento

Max S. Martin, president, Walter Carter and Jack Barry were in Sacramento today as representatives of the Marin Assn. of Insurance Agents to attend committee meetings on legislative bills affecting the insurance business. They will meet Monday with State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister to discuss the bills, Martin said.

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

In One Man's Eye It Had Charm But Simply Had Big Possibilities

THIS MRS. SMITHERS and her family who recently moved into Marin County—I don't know about the family, but she and I don't modulate on the same frequency. Even so, I don't want to embarrass anyone—this isn't her real name.

Well, this Smithers family bought an older home in a nice district — the kind of place a lot of city folks dream about when they decide to break with the urban life. It spells relaxation inside and out. Usually it costs just as much as a new one, maybe more, and is harder to finance, so the general run of lookers pass it by and go modern in long drawn out payments.

Oddly enough, it often attracts people whose heads are chock full of ideas how to change it into something they wouldn't have considered if it were that way in the first place. You can spot them every time by the wild gleam in their eyes.

I'll say this for the Smithers, they got a good buy — almost an acre of rolling ground, beautiful trees and plants, and a creek across the north quarter. The house has large rooms and plenty of them and doesn't leak in the winter. It also boasts one of the most intricate arrangements of wisteria over the veranda that I've seen. It must be a luscious sight in bloom.

Three or four weeks after they moved in I had occasion to call here and I doubt if Mrs. Smithers remembers why She was more interested in telling about her problems and she sank wearily into a chair.

THE HOUSE WAS still littered with unopened packing boxes and a miscellany of goods whose storage fate was probably one of the problems she couldn't solve. The kitchen was additionally encumbered with the remains of remodeling, far from complete.

"I'm beat," she groaned, "and yesterday I slipped and fell in a can of paint.

I expressed concern and suggested that her husband take over this sort of work.

"Glen? His project is that mess in the kitchen. The painting is my department. I'm trying to decide on a color scheme."

"Why does the house need painting?" I wanted to know. "It looks all right to me."

"No personality," she said with thin lips.

"You've got a lot of time," I advised. "Why don't you get settled first?"

"I couldn't live in it this way."

"Seems to me it's pretty nice living. What else are you going to change?" I asked.

"Well, there are the plants," she said thoughtfully. "They look dead. I'm going to pull them up."

"They're only dormant," I protested. "Blooming will start any day now."

". . . and that monstrosity in front. If we cut that down we can paint the outside."

"Look," I said. "It took nature years to produce that growth and it's more beautiful than anything you can mix in a can. Why change it?"

"IT'S MESSY."

"And the trees?" the very thought of what she might have in mind was sacrilegious. I'm a follower of Joyce Kilmer.

She admitted planning the sacrilege.

"Well, there's one thing you can't change," I said. "The creek."

"Oh, yes I can. We're going to put up a bulkhead to conceal it."

Before I left I commented again on my reason for being there, but I don't think Mrs. Smithers heard me. That gleam — you can't compete with it. Maybe it was the talking that put it back in her eyes.

Me, I felt pretty low the rest of the day thinking what this place will look like in six months. I'm not going to call there anymore.

Anyway, I'm not very artistic about houses.

A Key Figure In Marin Growth

By LARRY LOVETT

In 1915, a brilliant 38-year-old Sausalito attorney named George H. Harlan, became the key man in the formation of the Marin Municipal Water District when he capitalized on some recently-passed, little-known state legislation.

In 1923, this up-and-coming Marin attorney repeated the same procedure when he laid the groundwork for the formation of the then undreamed of $35,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

This same attorney, who paved the way for the formation of other districts in California, set the stage for the creation of the Marin Junior College District in 1925 which today operates College of Marin.

WHAT SORT of man was this attorney with his revolutionary ideas?

Today, at 81, he is retired at his home at 191 Harrison Avenue in Sausalito where he has lived since the early '20s. Sensing that he might be a bit retiring about telling the story of his colorful life, we talked at length with his son, George, Jr., of San Rafael, writer, historian and authority on early California transportation.

His father is a native Californian, born in San Francisco, June 3, 1877 of parents who travelled to the city by the Golden Gate in 1850 via a French ship which sailed around Cape Horn. His parents on one side were French and German and on the other were Quakers from Ohio.

"My grandparents settled in Sausalito in 1880, their first permanent residence being at 47 Girard Avenue, which is still there, owned by my father and occupied by the Richard Hartfords."

GEORGE HARLAN was educated in a Sausalito private school operated by a Mrs. Ralph and a Mrs. Avery; then in 1894 he entered San Rafael High School, the county's only secondary school.

He graduated in 1894 when the school's total enrollment was 34, after commuting for four years from Sausalito via narrow gauge steam train. He enrolled at the University of California in Berkeley in the class of 1898.

"He lost a year because of an appendicitis attack," his son recalls, "and graduated with the class of 1899, but went on to Hastings Law school in San Francisco where he graduated in 1901."

After three years in the San Francisco law office of Robert H. Countryman, he opened his law office in San Rafael in 1904 and for many years was in the Cheda Building which still stands opposite the county courthouse.

A STICKLER for detail, he was always insistent that he be known as an attorney-at-law, according to his son. "He was not to be called a lawyer or an attorney, but insisted on the full title."

Prominent in Masonic activities, Harlan attended lodge meetings in Mill Valley and also the social functions of the Eastern Star. It was there that he met Esther Greaves whom he married in 1908.

Two sons were born to them. John, who today is publisher of The Marin News in Sausalito and George, Jr., who is connected with the Military Sea Transportation Service in San Francisco.

Mrs. Harlan, Sr., passed away in 1956.

"It was in the early days of his career," George, Jr., recalled, "that my father became interested in politics. So in 1911, he successfully ran for a state assembly seat from this district.

A STAUNCH Republican, he soon became a familiar figure among the leading senators and assemblymen in Sacramento and was close to the famed Governor Hiram Johnson.

"It was during this period that he became aware of the vast possibilities open to the taxpayers through the formation of districts," his son notes. "This was possible through the creation of school districts and others that are now common, since they are actually municipal corporations that can issue bonds and have taxing power."

George Harlan ran for reelection in 1913 but was defeated. He turned his energies to his dreams of municipal corporations and from that emerged the Marin Municipal Water District which at first was merely a combination of a group of small water companies serving various parts of Marin County.

SO QUITE naturally, George H. Harlan became their first attorney..

His only failure in the field came in 1922 when he tried to float a school bond issue in his home town of Sausalito but was turned down by the voters.

It was about this time that a young attorney by the name of Charlie Brusatori appeared on the scene and the two hit it off so well together that they became "associates" sharing a common reception room.

TODAY, Marin Superior Judge N. Charles Brusatori is high in his praise of Harlan, recalling that until Harlan retired in 1947, there had never been anything but the closest working relationship between the two.

When the Albert Building at 4th and B Streets was built in the early '30s, the two moved their offices and remained until Harlan retired and Brusatori was named first to the justice court and later to the superior bench.

"His name was on the door of that office until 1953," Judge Brusatori notes, "and it was not removed until I was appointed to the superior bench. His name was there for at least five years after he had retired."

George Harlan attended a meeting in Santa Rosa and from that meeting a group banded together to see the proposal through. It was Harlan's suggestion that portions of seven counties make up the district with the power to issue bonds backed by taxation that brought the district into being.

The matter was slowed by objections and resistance and, with federal approval, legislation validating the district was approved in 1929. Again, Harlan was made attorney for the district.

In the meantime, Harlan followed the same pattern in forming the Marin Junior College District which came into being in 1925 with Mrs. Ada Fusselman as its first president. She is still on the board and at the last election was again elected president.

IN RECOGNITION of his service, a classroom and administration building, built about 1930, was named Harlan Hall.

"But the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District was my father's big achievement," his son relates. "Many legal cases on it were tried all the way to the supreme court, all of them with my father representing the district."

He was the district's attorney throughout the formative and construction periods, remaining until 1939 when he was succeeded by John McNab.

"George Harlan had a delightfully dry sense of humor," Judge Brusatori recalls. "At one time, he had been carrying on a running dispute with the treasury department over whether his salary, as a public official, should be taxable.

"ONE DAY," Judge Brusatori said, "George got a letter from the treasury department dunning him for payment, asking that when he replied, he should refer to 'File IT-R-N-BAG.' Not to be outdone, George replied suggesting the treasury refer to his file 'IT-RNT-N-BAG.'"

Judge Brusatori pointed out that Harlan read the treasury's file to read "it are in bag." He countered with his own file, "it aren't in bag."

But his resignation from the bridge board in 1939 ranks as one of the classics of local governmental operation. He was 62 at the time and ready to call it quits.

He noted that "the redbuds are blooming on the Redwood Highway" and "the redwoods are spreading their limbs to the sky." He said, too, that "the trout are leaping to the lure of the fly."

HIS CONCLUSION was:

"Gentlemen, I am going fishing!"

STEREO and HI-FI

By C. J. Catania

Ninth of a weekly series of articles which will cover all phases of STEREOPHONIC SOUND for the home.

A statement in the last paragraph of our article last week was incomplete and should have been as follows: For those of you who plan to purchase a Stereo System complete in one cabinet, unless the room in which you are going to place your stereo system is extremely narrow (6 to 8 feet) and you are going to sit within 4 or 5 feet of the set, you will not get a good stereo effect, if you get a stereo effect at all.

Let's get down to the problem of how one goes about getting a good home music system that the entire family can really enjoy for years to come. First of all, we all have certain budget limitations. We either have enough to buy as elaborate a system as we desire, or we feel that we have to make a choice between the various commercial models that will fit our budget. If we allow ourselves to take the latter course, we are cheating every member of our family by degrading and conditioning their listening habits so that they will learn or continue to accept limited range and distorted sound as being good. Another very, very important reminder, when you go shopping for that stereo Hi-Fi system, YOU ARE PRIMARILY (not secondarily) SHOPPING FOR SOUND NOT FURNITURE. If you are looking for furniture as your primary objective, why not go to a furniture specialist instead of a music store?

Now, down to brass tacks, HOW TO GET A GOOD MUSIC SYSTEM ON A LIMITED BUDGET. At Catania Sound, we show you how to plan your Stereo System by beginning with a high quality Custom Phono System that will fit your budget. But most important, we guide you into a STARTER SET that can be added onto easily with never a trade-in or loss of investment.

You start with a STEREO AMPLIFIER (two amplifiers in one chassis with one set of controls) in the $120.00 class; a quality record changer in the $42.00 class; a top grade stereo cartridge with DIAMOND needle in the $25.00 class; and a starter dual speaker in the $19.00 class. These items form the nucleus of a truly high quality, wide range custom stereo music system.

Come in next week and let us demonstrate our Starter System. Then you be the judge. Listen to all the various commercial sets you can in any price range. We maintain that you will find that our Starter System will outperform commercial sets selling three to four times higher than our custom set. Make the test. Hear for yourself.

Year Of Bad Luck For NPC

By A BRAY DICKINSON

(Editor's note: After the Austin Creek accident of Jan. 14, 1894, search continued for some of the eight lost. A coroner's jury ruled accidental death. The tragedy was only one in the blackest year of North Pacific Company's hectic career.)

A STRANGE TALE was told about finding the remains of Joseph Sabine, last to be pulled from the waters of Austin Creek. By the 10th day, it seems, parties were ready to give up the search as hopeless when an old Spanish woodchopper asked if they would let him help. He first fastened a lighted candle to a piece of board, then chanting some mystic words he set the candle adrift. Some distance down stream the board circled about in an eddy, then floated up to some tangled brush and the candle went out. "There you will find the deadman," said the old Spaniard—and so it was.

It is difficult to say how much of this story is true. However, old-timers still repeat the tale as Gospel truth.

THE LOCOMOTIVE remained in the creek until late spring. Finally, with better weather, a spur track was thrown down to the water's edge and the wreck was snaked out with cables and block and tackle.

The battered and rusted engine went into the Sausalito shops but this was the end of No. 9. The rebuilt locomotive came out as No. 17. After a bad smash-up in the Corte Madera tunnel about 1900, the No. 17 was finally sent to the scrap heap. The one-time pride of the road, Milton S. Latham's beauty, the locomotive with especial trim and mahogany cab, thus came to an unheralded end, in common with most railroad engines.

The spring of 1894 saw several damaging storms which caused many slides along the road and tracks washed out in numerous places. All through this rainy season train schedules were delayed. A heavy storm which raged over the state in mid-February flooded Ross Valley and washed out a small trestle and stopped all scheduled runs between San Rafael and Sausalito.

THE MONDAY evening train, February 19th, was stalled by a slide at the foot of White's Hill which tore out a large section of track. Passengers were billeted with neighboring farmers for the night.

During this month narrow gauge passengers were to suffer further inconveniences and delays when the steamer San Rafael was laid up for a week's repairs.

The substitute Tamalpais puffed and wheezed laboriously back and forth on the regular trips. One evening the decrepit steamer ran into the Sausalito pier. She smashed in her port side opposite the engine room, narrowly missed killing the engineer, and ripped out a string of piling. A theater train from San Rafael, scheduled to meet this boat, had to return with its passengers. Those in San Francisco who had waited over for the 11:30 ferry were compelled to remain in the city over night.

THE BROAD GAUGE road loaned its James M. Donahue until the Tamalpais could be patched up, but only a few days later an engine broke down off Alcatraz Island and the aged boat had to wriggle her way into the landing with only one wheel turning and rudder hard over.

The steamer Sausalito was launched May 21, 1894, and after trial runs in June she immediately went into service, which relieved the strain on NPC's ferry system.

However, the crew seemed to have had considerable damage. Some weeks later, on the 5:15 run, passengers were thrown into a panic when the Sausalito tore out her pier again. When 300 yards off shore, Captain Wilson signalled to slow down, but the engineer could not work the throttle. The captain turned the steamer broadside into the slip, but momentum carried the boat forward to crush everything before it and doing about $15,000.00 damage to piling and vessel.

Summertime saw NPC's extensive building program entirely finished.

A BROAD WHARF had been erected on each side of the new slip, where ocean-going freighters could lie alongside to load or discharge cargoes at any tide.

The contract called for installation of modern hydraulic machinery for raising and lowering an apron to the slip. In addition, a 450-foot sea wall held in a new fill of some 150 feet square. About 27 tons of steel and iron were used in the construction of wharfs and train shed. The railroad company built a second, or double, track from Sausalito to Mill Valley Junction early that year, and, after getting rid of a law suit and court injunction, laid a stretch of new track at Corte Madera to eliminate a bothersome curve.

Our narrow-gauge road was now equipped and ready to handle all business with dispatch and efficiency.

SAUSALITO BROUGHT some lucrative traffic to the NPC Company when it opened up as a pool-room town but caused displeasure to neighboring communities.

Thus spoke a San Rafael paper:

"The pool-room business which has been driven out of the sinful metropolis as too vile to be tolerated there and forbidden to locate in classic Oakland has established quarters and opened transactions in Sausalito. We feel they will be ejected from Sausalito as soon as public sentiment finds expression. It is a wonder they are allowed to open."

Public sentiment failed to express itself for a long while, however, and it was claimed that gamblers anteed $1500.00 a month in extra fares to narrow-gauge ferries.

A passenger was killed on June 23, 1894, when one Alphonse Bresson, a youth from Fairfax, fell from a car platform of the 5:45 train to San Francisco after being warned by the conductor not to stand outside while the train was in motion.

Before the grim year of 1894 had passed, the NPC Company experienced several more accidents. In one of these, Joseph Holmes, a shop worker at Sausalito, lost his life when caught in the stationary engine's giant flywheel.

The last NPC extension was completed early the next spring, when a branch line was built up Lagunitas Canyon toward the lake, to tap a hitherto untouched grove of redwoods.

The promotion of a scenic railroad from Mill Valley to the top of Mount Tamalpais was started late in 1895 by members of Mill Valley's Land and Water Company. This railroad was destined in years to bring thousands of tourists into Marin County via the NPC.

Chapter XV, Mount Tamalpais railroad to follow.

Albert G. Haskell Writes A Book About One Of His Many Careers

If Albert G. Haskell wrote a novel for each phase of his career, he would have a shelf of them.

His first published novel, "The Silk and the Husk," is drawn from his experiences as an administrator of Mexican farm labor in the San Joaquin Valley.

His name is already known, however, for a number of pursuits. Many collectors of Californiana will be familiar with his articles and his book, "Old Missions of California."

RESIDENTS of Fairhills may know him either as a a neighbor or as the contractor who built their houses. He built the first homes in the subdivision eight years ago. Haskell found contracting a very agreeable balance for writing.

"I would build two or three houses, then lay off and finish a piece of writing," he says.

His career got its start in Los Angeles, where he was a farm boy.

"L.A. was a big bunch of farmers in those days." This led him into horticulture as a profession and among other things, he instituted the school garden.

HE SERVED in the first World War and then was in early movies, "in which I was holding a spear." Extras in those days got $1.50 and a bag lunch.

"Youre looking at a man who rode in 'Custer's Last Stand'," he boasts with a grin.

He also had an art gallery in the 500 block of Sutter street. Thence to Merced, where he was in charge of Mexican labor camps, working as trouble shooter, interpreter and recruiter for thousands of Mexicans imported during the wartime farm labor shortage.

The characters for "Silk and the Husk," except Sara Simms, are drawn directly from those he knew, "and they are characters." Episodes in the book are documented.

"I had to play it down to make it believable," Haskell comments.

HIS ORIGINAL manuscript had 120,000 words, but the publisher had him cut it down to 75,000. He took out some rare chapters on dope and marijuana peddling.

"I have enough for another book, but don't believe you can do another on the same subject."

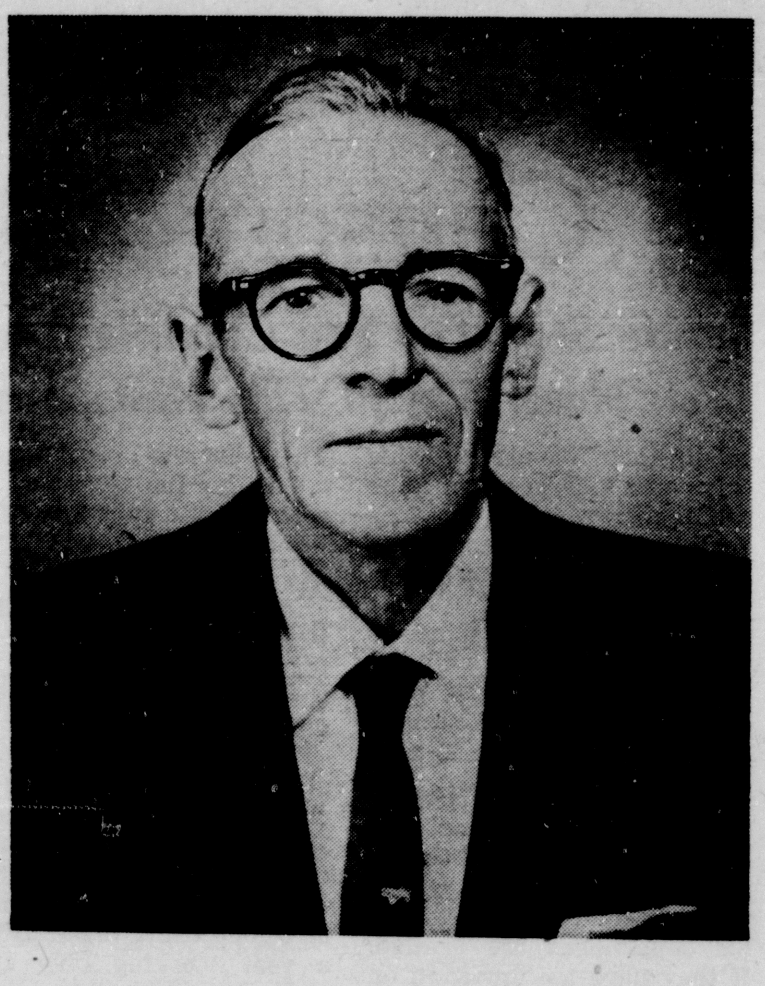
He has written continuously throughout his varied career. His mission book, by the way, still sells. In the past 10 or 12 years, it has sold 150,000 copies and is used in libraries as a fourth grade text in California schools. It has been read by thousands in schools and libraries. It is also a tourist item.

HE SPENT five years collecting the material for it. On publication, a single wrong date was discovered. This was corrected in later editions.

Forty years elapsed between his first novel (never published) and his second. His third, however, will be out next year. Title: "Sinners on Purpose."

Writing seems to run in his family. Married 40 years, he has a grown daughter who writes. His two sisters, one of whom died, wrote textbooks.

HASKELL likes to write, but he likes to do other things, too, "because after the first draft, writing is drudgery"



AUTHOR, ETC.—Albert G. Haskell of San Rafael adds a novel to his long list of accomplishments. He also wrote "Old Missions of California."

'Silk And The Husk' Spun On Life Of The 'Braceros'

SILK AND THE HUSK, by Albert George Haskell; Vantage Press, Inc., 247 pp.

Albert Hastings arrives in Hermosillo, Mexico in 1943 to recruit stoop labor to harvest the vitally needed California crops rotting in the fields because of the wartime manpower shortage. Among the healthiest "braceros" selected is a violet eyed Indian boy, Trinity, whom the author weaves into the central skein of the story.

After a comedy of errors Hastings succeeds in bringing his charges to the ranch lands of California. Understanding the Mexican personality and character, the recruiter becomes a buffer between the naive, happy National and the complicated world where he has temporarily come to live.

We see Hastings chasing away exploiters ready to lure the innocent bracero from the government camps, doling out baking soda to the sufferers of too many beans, saving Trinity from the police, tricking a raw, Irish highway patrolman out of a speeding ticket and many other humorous and adventurous episodes.

THE AUTHOR grimly tells of the lonely Mexican laborers harvesting cotton in the Santa Clara Valley against the odds of horrible weather, light clothing and a dishonest weighmaster and the appreciative ranchers driving their Mexicans to the San Jose lovemills.

Scenes from this book are touched with realism and the hand of an author who knows his topic very well.

"Silk and the Husk" would be a good way to spend a rainy night . . . entertaining reading.

Censored...Censored...Censored

The Independent - Journal turns down several thousand dollars' worth of classified advertising a year. Insertion orders ranging from gender meters for expectant mothers to business opportunities guaranteeing up to $2,000 per month income are returned to their senders with this brief letter:

"It is not the policy of the publisher to insert advertising of this nature.

"Enclosed is your check and insertion order."

In addition, some apparently legitimate "for sale, by private party" ads are put on the blacklist after suspicious recurrence.

This rather expensive form of censorship is invoked by classified advertising manager Carl Lehman, based on years of experience here and elsewhere. His judgment is more often than not later substantiated by a Better Business Bureau bulletin. Three out of five in a recent bulletin were ads earlier refused by the I-J.

"We don't catch them all, but we catch most of them," he says.

LAST YEAR alone, the I-J turned down ads asking investments ranging from $1 to $2,953.20. If one Marinite had answered each one, the total fleecing would have amounted to $29,393.85.

He has learned that a reply to the "address cards in your home" ad will bring a bottle of ink, a straight pen and the advice that "We are sure that there are merchants in your community who can use this service." Some boast a return of $50 per 1,000 cards addressed.

"Now it doesn't stand to reason that anybody will pay 5 cents just to have a postcard addressed," Lehman points out.

LEHMAN PERSONALLY goes through all the mail that comes into his department, returning several a week to their senders. All the girls in his department are briefed. If they have any question on the legitimacy of an ad, they check with him or supervisor, Dorothy Mast.

They are also on the lookout for repeated "private party" auto adds from the same phone or address After the third time or so. a check is made. Very often, the auto offered for sale is very real, but the "private party" is actually a salesman from a San Francisco firm.

The newspaper is not liable in cases of fraud or unethical advertising, but Lehman recalls with feelings the time in another California community when a little old man came in with tears in his eyes.

"HE HAD ANSWERED one of these vending machine ads and had sunk his life's savings ($4,500) in it. It turned out that the company had never heard of the salesman who ran the ad. They eventually sent him machines, but not the 10 new ones promised. They sent old beat-up ones.

"As for the locations, they were not set up as the ad had promised. In short, he was out his money."

Most of the ads promising big incomes for part time jobs for a small investment are similar to vending machine deals.

"The catch is that the places that want vending machines already have them," says Lehman. "It isn't in the cards that a person with no experience and an investment of $2,000 could make $10,000 a year working only afternoons."

Variations of this theme range from radio tube vending machines and selling garments to illuminated signs, but cigarettes, candy and gumballs are the most frequent.

"Inevitably, the people who answer these ads are retired and they put their life savings into it."

ANOTHER GIMMICK is the insertion order accompanied by check. Since the salesman is on the road no return address is given. Replies are to be sent to a newspaper box-number, and the salesman will be in to pick up the replies. Many small papers find it hard to resist the cash in hand, but Lehman has a procedure that separates the legitimate from the otherwise. When the salesman does turn up for his replies, he is simply handed his insertion order.

"He does one of two things," says Lehman. "Either he blows his stack or he goes out and comes back with a stack of references that would sink a battleship."

In 99 cases out of 100, the salesman blow his stack, blows out and nver returns.

THERE ARE lighter sides to Lehman's business which whet his enthusiasm for it. An early morning phone call from a too-satisfied customer begging to have the ad pulled before expiration will set him beaming all day Every day brings several letters of similar nature.

Attesting to success of these advertising midgets are the pink slips clipped to voluntary (phoned-in) insertions. Fully half of the ads are pulled before expiration.

No survey has been made in Marin on the pulling power of these ads, but in Santa Rosa Lehman had four girls working one Saturday, checking every ad which gave a phone number. In 76 per cent of the cases there had been some response, with a average of 8.6 calls per ad.

"The return would be much higher in Marin, I am sure," he says.

ONE LOCAL DEALER, who had 25 name brand portable typewriters to sell on a manufacturer's special, sold 55 and then had to quit, only because he could get no more stock.

"Commercial advertisers haven't realized what these little gizmos will do."

Next week, the I-J classified advertising department will observe National Want Ad Week with a "7 for 4" special—seven insertions for the price of four, that is. Last year's promotion, held only in the "Miscellaneous for Sale" category, brought in an increase of 362 ads This year, it will be open in all categories. Any monetary loss Lehman charges up to promotion.

As for the year-long effect, Lehman has no statistics.

"IT'S HARD TO TELL, because we have just completed our 17th straight month of gain," he beams.

There is nothing new about classified advertising. What Lehman calls "the people's media" is thousands of years old.

"I know, because I saw them scratched on the pyramids in Latin. 'Runaway slave,' they would say."

The Lens, The Hammer

Jewish Community Center Presents Two-Man Show Of Metalcraft, Photos

After having presented an annual art exhibit by local artists for the past five years, the Marin Jewish Community Center is embarking on a new venture in the field of art. It has arranged the showing of a special art exhibit by two outstanding artists—a Metalsmith, Victor Ries, and a photographer, Ruth Bernhard. The exhibit will be held at the Center, Mission and Forbes, San Rafael, beginning Saturday evening at 8 p. m. until 10 p. m., and will be open nightly from 8 to 10 p. m. through March 27. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend. Mr. Ries and Miss Bernhard will be on hand March 21 when the exhibit is opened.

Miss Bernhard will show a selected group of her photographs, many of them prize winners. Ries will display mostly Jewish Ceremonial art object, such as candlesticks, Menorahs, Kiddush cups, dishes and bowls. He will also show some models of larger works which he has completed for Temples and Synagogues.

VICTOR RIES has his workshop and home in Forest Knolls, Marin County. He was born in Berlin, Germany and studied metalcraft, jewelry making and sculpture there. He attended the State Academy of Fine Arts.

In 1933 he went to Palestine where he worked as a silversmith and taught jewelry and metalwork at the Bezalel School of Arts and Crafts. In 1948 he came to the United States and settled in Northern California. He has taught his work at the Pond Farm Workshop, San Francisco State College, the California College of Arts and Crafts and Marin Junior College.

Ries' work has been shown in many large museums, galleries and universities throughout the United States. He recently had a one-man show at the M. H. DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. For many years his work has received awards at the California State Fair.

Alfred Frankenstein, San Francisco art critic has described Ries' work as follows:

"His handling of materials, orthodox and unorthodox, is equalled by resourcefulness and originality of designs that are almost unique among modern jewelers. He is not a sculptor working in miniature and in precious metals, he is a craftsman in jewelry whose ideas are not limited by 19th century tradition. Some of his designs seem to go back to very ancient sources and some are strictly contemporary; whatever their source, they are always magnificently realized."

MISS RUTH BERNHARD is one of the outstanding photographers in the United States. She has been working in photography since Her work has been shown in U. S. Camera annually since 1930. She has exhibited in Tokyo, Paris, London, and most recently, in Mexico City.

She has her own photographic studio at Sacramento and Larkin Streets in San Francisco. She frequently serves as a judge at photographic club shows. She has pictures in the permanent collection of the Museum of Modern Art.

She also did the photographs for a book on Machine Art, put out by the Museum of Modern Art. She has work in permanent exhibit at Eastman House, in Rochester. She recently collaborated in an illustrated book on cable cars, by Melvin Van, "The Big Heart."

Miss Bernhard is internationally known for figure studies, and her photographs of plants and shells; and is also a recognized portrait photographer. She is the daughter of Lucien Bernhard, the noted artist.

"Essentially, Miss Bernhard is a poet who has chosen the language of the camera. Her photographic images are eloquent expressions of life's essence and of an intense desire to communicate with others. These qualities are reflected in her superb photographic collection of nudes, sea shells and symbolic still life."

Harmony Takes To The Byways

"A real harmonious tour" will wind up tomorrow for the A Capella Choir of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. A Homecoming Concert will punctuate the 22nd annual tour, which included 19 concerts in 11 days.

The "real harmonious tour" prediction was that of George De Voe, veteran seminary bus driver, who has mastered several strategies for getting his 38 charges away from one enthusiastic audience and on to the next one.

"I've been doing this for years and it gets more interesting all the time," he explained.

By LESLIE LUERGAN

FIRST CONCERT TOUR was organized in 1937 by Dr. John Milton Kelly when he became head of the Seminary's sacred music department. Except for one three-year leave of absence, Dr. Kelly has personally directed the choir on its tours of all the western coastal states, presenting over 350 concerts from Seattle, where the Choir went last year, to the wide stretches of Arizona.

This year he is on a musical diplomatic tour of Africa which is being sponsored by the State Department.

"We'll all be singing together, there will just be a slight difference in geographical location," he told Choir members as he left for The Dark Continent.

Wilbur F. Russell, acting director of the sacred music department and well-known to music lovers throughout Marin for his organ and piano recitals, has been rehearsing the choir in Dr. Kelly's absence.

"There won't be any problem with the choir tour in my absence," Dr. Kelly assured seminary administrators last November. "Will Russell can direct the choir wonderfully."

His predictions were absolutely true.

Choir member himself for the years he has been on the seminary staff, Russell is the only one along this year whose touring experience predates George, the driver.

SPEAKER for the 1959 Choir Tour is Dr. Jacob A. Long, vice president of the seminary, who spoke to the thousands of concert goers the impending need for a seminary expansion program. Dr. Long has been primarily responsible for planning and conferences with the seminary's architects throughout the years and is best qualified to speak of the growing needs of the seminary for housing, classrooms and increased faculty as it attempts to answer the cry for more ministers and Christian educators throughout the world.

Another veteran, first tenor Bob Walkley, has made two previous trips with the choir, and serves as student manager this year. Bob has responsibility for all the minute and staggering details connected with the organization of the 38-member choir.

Included in the group this year are Chu-Hsiang (Suzanne) Kao of Formosa and Margaret Near of Ontario, Canada. Members represent 15 states, 2 foreign countries and 23 colleges and universities. All have been briefed by manager Walkley on where they will dine, how long they will dine, and on what they will dine.

"You can eat soup, but no nuts, no pickles and no heavy spices" he warned, "they're bad for the voice."

Choir members will be overnight guests of the congregation members at churches scheduled for evening concerts. Besides scheduled concerts there will be music for informal gatherings at many of the churches.

"JESU, FRIEND of Sinners," an exalting composition by Grieg, is being sung by the choir for the first time on tour. There have been other important additions to the choir's repertoire—"Salvation Is Created" by Tschesnokoff, sung as it is sung at Kiev; "Sing and rejoice," a composition by Will James, and a new Negro spiritual, "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel."

"We'll be in your town this year," George commented as second soprano Florence Stevens and bass member Orrin Frank, from Phoenix stepped aboard. This is the first time the tour has been as far east as Phoenix where two out of four Arizona scheduled concerts will be given. Two others will be presented in Yuma and Tucson, with the remainder of the concerts scheduled for Southern California cities.

"SINGING FOR their supper" Seminary quartet members will entertain church hosts at after-dinner entertainment given in appreciation of congregational hospitality. The quartet is formed of choir members who have been keeping weekend and evening engagements at churches in the surrounding area from San Francisco The-

BABIES CAN BE SO LOVELY

Babies can be so delightful,
If their faces aren't a sightful.
Babies really are contagious,
When their actions aren't outrageous.
When you try and get your rest in,
That's the time they cry their best in.
Feed them, change them; then there's playtime,
Which is seldom in the daytime.

Babies throw you for some losses,
And you wonder who the boss is.
Babies chose such hours to howl in
That you'd like to throw the towel in.
They can be so awfully wary
As they watch you fetch and carry.

If you think this isn't plenty,
It's much worse before they're twenty!

ological Seminary since last fall. Three of the four men come from California: Richard Lee from San Diego, Frederick Schulz from Los Angeles, and Herbert Valentine from Oakland. James Bell, bass, is from Cheyenne and Ann Lauenberg, accompanist from Kansas City.

A meditation period was conducted by Dr. Jesse H. Baird just before the choir members boarded the bus. He counseled members of the A capella Choir that they represent "Ministry of Music" from San Francisco Theological Seminary to everyone they meet during the 11-day tour.

THE TRADITIONAL Homecoming Concert will conclude the tour tomorrow evening. The Choir will arrive in San Anselmo at 5:00 p.m. to be dined by the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, where the final performance will be held at 8:00 p.m. Other sponsors for the Homecoming Concert are the Rotary Club of San Anselmo and the Marin Chorale.

HOMEWARD BOUND — It's a long ways to Phoenix for most of the choir, but to Orrin Frank it is a trip back to his own home town. Tour is also 'homecoming' for Florence Stevens. This was the first time that choir has sung in Arizona.

CONDEMNED! — When a scale outlives its accuracy, it ends up in county warehouse. These are a few of some 100 scales. Average scale will serve for 25 to 30 years. However, one 1906 make is still in service in several places in Marin.

MASTER SET Marin County's set of standard weights and measures are kept to an accuracy of 1 grain (7,000 grains per ounce. Large measure at right is for two quarts. Continental Congress set standards in 1799.

Accurate To 1/7000th Pound

Even the man who swears he doesn't trust anyone will drive up to a gas station and buy five gallons without a qualm. The housewife who picks one cut of meat because it is a couple of pennies cheaper a pound tosses up her pre-wrapped package into the shopping cart without thinking to check its weight.

Are these people foolhardy?

Actually, not. The gasoline pump meter and the butcher's scales have been checked with far more accuracy than either of them could manage. Protecting the public in these matters are the Marin County Sealer of Weights and Measures, namely Kenneth Brown, and his two assistants, Hollis Gates and Paul Fraire.

BROWN RANGES from Richardson Bay to Bolinas, from Novato to Sausalito. He checks everything from 80,000-pound highway truck scales to grocery scales. He not only checks the retail gasoline pumps, but the gauge on the truck which delivers the gasoline to the station and the one at the petroleum distributor's which measures the amount pumped from the giant standing tanks.

He also checks 140 farm milk tanks.

Highway truck scale weights are tested to a tolerance of 1 pound per 1,000. Everyday commercial scales are tested with weights accurate to the grain. There are 7,000 grains to the pound.

The check on commercial scales is even more rigorous. The precision weights which he uses to check spring and balance scales are themselves checked frequently against a master set in Sacramento. And the states 'master set is subject to check against that of the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, D.C.

WHEN A SCALE or measuring device outlives its accuracy, it is condemned.

So unusual is this occupation that Brown and his colleagues also have to design and build their own equipment. One example was a hoist mechanism for lifting 500 pound weights onto the service truck.

Oh, yes, and they also made the weights and test measures themselves.

BROWN IS ONE of about 300 weight and measure inspectors in the state. His salary and expenses are paid by the county, but he works under state law and state regulation.

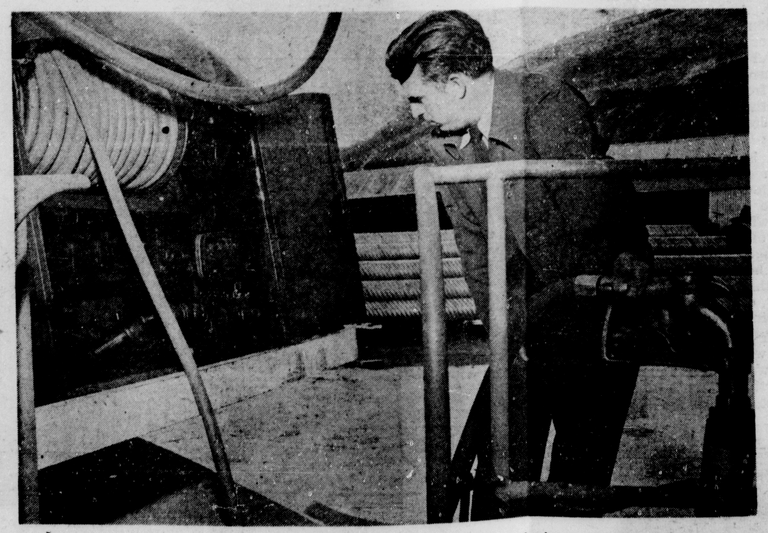
There is no formal education for these jobs. The state Department of Agriculture examines and certifies aspirants for inspectors' positions.

"It's sort of like a newspaper. You begin by being a copy boy," he says.

Before starting on his career, however, Brown had studied engineering at College of Marin, which training he considers essential, particularly in designing equipment and understanding the mechanical function of weighing and measuring devices.

"Math is important," he adds.

Brown hired out as a trainee in his own county, having attended Fairfax schools and Tamalpais High School. He lives on Cushing avenue in San Rafael with his wife Dorothy and daughter Cheryl, 9.



IN-BETWEEN CHECK — County tester Paul Fraire of Fairfax fills pipe leading to his measuring tank below to check gauge on gasoline supply truck. Checks protect dealer as well as public. County also checks gauges on oil distribution plants.

FAMILIAR SEAL — This may look familiar. Actually it is a bit different than the ones you see pasted on gasoline pumps and scales. This was issued to mark National Weights and Measures Week, which marks 160 years since the Continental Congress adopted standard measurements in 1799. U. S. Bureau of Weights and Measures was established in 1901.

PUMP TESTING — Hollis Gates, assistant, fills standard measuring can with gasoline from service station pump while his chief, Kenneth Brown, confirms reading and affixes seal. Each pump in Marin is checked for accuracy.

Dr. Joseph Kerman referred to this famous quotation of Beethoven concerning the famous "Pastoral Symphony" at the Wednesday preview to last night's Symphony Guild orchestra concert. The preview luncheon was held at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

The speaker, assistant professor of music at UC and a well-known author on musicology, had chosen the most familiar work of the program to show by what means a famous composer reaches his goal—in this case the "expression of feeling."

Besides the volume or characteristic rhythms, he described in very clever and scholarly way the importance of the change of harmonies to create certain expressions. Using the "Waldstein" sonata as an example he proved at the piano how the violent passion of this work would lose much of its drive without the tension of the changing harmonies.

Just the opposite is Beethoven's sixth symphony, the pastoral, which the composer himself called "a recollection of country life."

In the lovely first movement the composer does not change the accompanying harmony while displaying the first theme. He thus creates the quiet and calm serenity, characteristic for the whole composition. This character depends very much, but, of course, not entirely, on the simple, static bag-pipe-like harmonies which are used throughout this symphony. The only exception is the "storm" where Beethoven uses all of his skill of changing harmonies (along with other means) to produce the violent drive which we usually associate with his music.

It was very interesting to explore with Dr. Kerman these secrets of composing and the means used by a genius to make us feel what he wants us to feel.

Dr. Kerman, who came to this country 20 years ago from England, was introduced to the audience of about 350 people by Mrs. Thelma Schultz, president of the Marin Symphony Guild.

It was regretable that time did not allow the speaker to analyze also the other works on the program, Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphoses," the "Concerto in E Flat for Two Pianos" by Mozart, and Berlioz' "Roman Carnival Overture."

HORRIBLE, HORRIBLE FATE

By BARBARA FARMER

Caught in the deeply philosophical turmoil of deciding between a lunch of marmalade and honey (favorite bear foods) and the rescue of his dear friend Piglet from the awful ("Horrible, horrible, most horrible") fate of a BATH will be Winnie the Pooh when the beloved A. A. Milne characters are brought to life at the San Rafael High School auditorium on Saturday.

The plot centers about the arrival of a newcomer to the woods where Pooh (residing there incognito under the name of "Sanders") and his friends live. The newcomer, Kanga, a delightfully maternal kangaroo, arrives with three of her most prized possessions: her "offspring," Roo, a BATHTUB and a bar of SOAP!

TO THE FOREST inhabitants the latter two commodities spell DOOM, for a BATH is not to be taken lightly. Kanga latches unto the unfortunate Piglet, and after bathing and fortifying him with vitamins, adopts him as a playmate for Roo. The PROCEDURE Pooh follows to effect Piglet's rescue is amusingly revealed in the exciting climax.

Two performances will be presented: the first commencing at 10:30 a.m. and a matinee at 2 p.m. Group reservations for the morning performance should be made by calling Mrs. Leonard Ward; Mrs. H. G. Marchant is in charge of matinee arrangements.

Theater parties desiring publicity are asked to contact Mrs. William E. Farmer before Wednesday. For those not possessing season tickets, singles may be purchased at the door immediately preceding each performance.

French Pair Watch Egypt In Transition

EGYPT IN TRANSITION, By Jean and Simonne Lacouture; Criterion Books, Inc., 350 pp.

A pair of French journalists, Jean and Simonne Lacouture, write of Egypt with detail that bespeaks their familiarity with it. From the time of Napoleon's entry into Egypt a century or so ago until the present, they trace the problems which beleaguer a progressive — but still backward—Moselm nation.

There are chapters which penetrate the abstract idea to bring a graphic picture of the reality. Agriculture and the Egyptian farmer or "fellah" becomes a battle of a very cheerful but weary man, weakened by parasites which infect from the very water in which the "fellah" must stand knee deep day in and day out.

The book was originally written in French and the translator, adhering too faithfully to the literal, at times is overwhelmed with the multitude of ideas and nuances in a single sentence. In short, this is hard reading because the authors are too bent on saying everything about everything at once.

But if you have a little patience with the translation, your reward will be a remarkably first-hand sense of how two westerners see the Middle East.

Baffling Names, For Rose Types

Do rose classifications baffle you? Here's a rundown on the principal types you'll find in nurseries: Hybrid Tea is the "classic" modern bush rose, with large, formal blooms on long stems. Well-known examples are Peace, Charlotte Armstrong and Tiffany. Floribunda roses, as the name implies, bloom in gay clusters of flowers, somewhat smaller both in bush and flower. Examples are Lilibet and the 1959 All-America, Ivory Fashion. Grandiflora roses are a recent cross between the two types above. As the name again implies, they combine the size of Hybrid Teas with the floriferous quality of the Floribundas.

National Book Award Winners

NEW YORK — The 10th anniversary National Book Awards were presented today to Bernard Malamud for his collection of short stories, "The Magic Barrel," to J. Christopher Herold for his non-fiction work, "Mistress to An Age," and to Theodore Roethke for his book of poetry, "Words for the Wind."

The awards, which are the only industry-wide honors in the book publishing field, are given to the most distinguished American books of fiction, non-fiction, and poetry published during the previous year. Sponsored by the American Book Publishers Council, the American Booksellers Assn., and the Book Manufacturers' Institute, the awards are selected by independent panels of judges in each of the three categories.

ST. PATRICK — This life-size statue of the patron saint of the Irish will be on display tomorrow at the Artist Associates' open house in Mill Valley. The work by sculptor Carlo Talliabue is being brought from the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco for the occasion.

Artists Associates Invites 500 To Sunday Preview

More than 500 people in Northern California have received invitations to attend the Artist Associates exhibit and open house tomorrow afternoon at their gallery in El Paseo, Mill Valley.

The paintings and sculpture to be exhibited from 1 to 4:30 p.m. are the work of the eleven professional artists and teachers who make up Artists Associates. They are Helen Gapen Oehler, chairman; Arthur W. Pelmer, vice chairman; Nevin Kempthorne, secretary; Viking Leon, treasurer, and Carlo Talliabue, Ted Christensen, Hubert Buel, Thomas Leighton, Margery Lester and Othello Michetti.

If you've wondered what makes the Irish tick, if you've confused the trouble with the English and the purely internal troubles of the Irish, The Land of Cain is a good book to set you straight. Peter Lapin has given his reader all the excitement of an adventure story, but has added his unemotional analysis of the motives that lead these young men to grow from pitched rock battles between Protestant and Catholic children to killing in the streets, with brothers sometimes on opposite sides. The English, in Land of Cain are portrayed more as keepers of the peace between irresponsible factions than as ruthless conquerors.

Action centers around the Tracey family, featuring Brian Tracey, who loved the land and belonged behind a plow. Circumstances force him, however, into the violences of Belfast, into joining the radical IRA to revenge his brother's death, and finally into flight from Ireland. Here the book ends, but not without hope. Brian sees clearly for the first time the root of his own and Ireland's trouble. An unsentimental romance is woven into the plot, and gives motivation for the hero's return to a homeland restored to peace.

REDEMPTION

Age-gnarled, the black oak
Leans against the season.
Its dry wind-raspings
Sound the mutter of bitter penance
Rosaried
Into the distant nave of winter,
Yet far, frost far, the slow earth-turn
From the petitioned grace
Of April's greening.

Container Gardening One 3 Books For Westerners

This month the Lane Publishing Co. is releasing three books that will warm the hearts of Westerners.

GARDENING IN CONTAINERS, $1.75, is a complete wrap-up of the newest developments in gardening in boxes, tubs, and pots of all kinds. It covers both indoor and patio gardening and contains accurate lists of the best plants, trees, shrubs, and vines for this kind of gardening. Soil mixes get careful attention. Bonsai culture is explained and illustrated.

MEXICO, A Sunset Discovery Book, $1.75 is a complete revision of an earlier popular edition. It tells in text, pictures, and maps how to plan a trip, how to find the most interesting places to visit. The Western parts of Mexico—especially Baja California—get thorough coverage.

SUNSET COOKING CHARTS, 50 cents, contains 6 very attractive and detailed guides to the best uses of herbs, spices, flavorings, and vegetables--plus an excellent chart — barbecuing grilling times and temperatures. It is a handy and valuable item for the good cooks who want to try many combinations but aren't certain whether to put tarragon in soup or anise in fruit drinks.

Don't Cut Tops!

Once the bloom is off the daffodils and other spring bulbs, temptation is strong to cut back the drooping tops. As often pointed out, however, this keeps the bulb underground from ripening properly and robs you of bloom the following year. It's late to plant a cover crop to hide the drying bulbs, but you can—if you are careful—dig them and replant them in trenches out of sight so the ripening process can go on unseen.

KNIGHT IN ARMOR — New giant among Japanese iris is this one developed in Oregon. It will bloom the first year, but is in full glory the next season.

KNIGHT IN ARMOR

Giant Blue And Purple Iris Comes Of Honorable Strain

A new giant Kaempferi iris, Knight in Armor, has been hybridized by an Oregon nursery and will be introduced this spring.

The immense blooms of Knight in Armor are a delicate light blue veined with purple, with center styles of deep, rich purple. These spectacular blooms, measuring up to eight inches across, top a stiff, slender, branched stem that grows to a height of 40 inches. The rich, green foliage is glossy and attractive all year.

Knight in Armor is a Japanese iris, one of the newest of the giant Marhigo strain developed and stabilized over a period of nearly 20 years by Walter Marx. Beginning his collection of named Japanese iris as a hobby, Marx has continually sought to improve the Higo strain, ultimately achieving the superior Marhigos, largest of all irises.

MARHIGOS BLOOM in June and July, later than other varieties, so the iris gardener can extend the season of bloom into the summer if part of his planting is devoted to this strain.

Knight in Armor, along with all iris of the Japanese type, thrives in heavily enriched soil with abundant moisture. The plants are hybridized and grown in the rich soil of Oregon's western Cascades watershed, where the climate is ideally moderate and moisture-laden, and iris bloom all year.

Marhiga iris are vigorous and the root systems are heavy and strong. They do well in full sun except in the hottest climates, where afternoon shade is beneficial. Marhigos may be planted in the fall in moderate to warm areas; if winters are extremely cold, spring planting is recommended.

Knight in Armor will bloom the first year, but the gardener who plants this new introduction will enjoy his full reward the second year when the plants reach their full growth and the flowers are large and abundant.

How To Prune Rhododendron

Unknown to many a gardener, a rhododendron will respond well to pre-bloom pruning. An old shrub that has grown too leggy can be reshaped and made to bush up with mild pruning. If you give close inspection to the main branches, you will see several dormant buds. Cut just above the spot where one year's growth has stopped and another's has begun, and dormant buds below the cut will sprout. Ask a nurseryman to show you with a plant at the nursery just how to tell where to cut.

Hot Days Ahead

Winter's a good time to think of air conditioning. Installation contractors aren't so busy in cold weather, and may offer a lower price.

People Keep Putting It Off— But Not For The Usual Cause

By ANDREW C. LANG

The most common reason given for the delaying of home modernization on a major scale is not, as you might suspect, the lack of money to have the work done.

A survey has shown that a large number of home owners put off remodeling because they are fearful about possible family dislocation while the job is under way. Granted that a certain percentage of those questioned may have given this as the reason to avoid admitting financial stress, it is none the less true that people tend to push aside projects that might interfere with the routines of daily living.

When the Home Improvement Council called on contractors all over the country to remodel old homes and then open them to public view in much the same way as new houses are displayed, Charles Abrams decided to prove a point. It had long been the contention of Abrams—chairman of the Westchester Home Modernization Contractors Assn.—that home owners could expand their living space and remodel fading homesteads without disrupting family life.

A FAMILY in White Plains, N.Y.—Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Milne and their 8-year-old son, Douglas Jr.—agreed to take part in an experiment.

They were to remain in their small Cape Cod home while it underwent a complete modernization during a two-month peirod. This involved adding two bedrooms, a closet, a bath and a stairway to an attic; adding a family room on the first floor; doubling the size of the living room; rewiring the entire house; bringing the heating system up to date; paneling the rooms; remodeling the bathroom and the kitchen; and renovating the exterior grounds, including the addition of a patio.

IT IS HIGHLY unlikely that anybody would undertake such an extensive remodeling program on his own. It probably would be cheaper to buy a new house. But, since the idea was to show that major modernization would not involve dislocation of the family, all phases of remodeling were included in the plan.

The Milne family has maintained reasonably normal activities while watching the transformation of the house proceed on schedule. This proves — says Abrams — that "too much trouble" is no longer a valid excuse for putting off a modernization job.

WALL AT WORK — There's no excuse for wasting a wall in the bedroom. Here, built-in vanity and wardrobe unit, only two feet in depth, was constructed along unused outer wall. Vanity was placed under existing window; wardrobes built on either side. Beautiful and space-saving unit like this is easily constructed of west coast hemlock lumber; should be given clear finish to retain hemlock's rich, champagne coloring. Draperies are shown drawn shut.

Decorative items, such as pictures or plaques, also can be displayed on the panel.

Perforated hardboard is available in seven authentic woodgrains at local lumber dealers, and it can be cut to fit odd-shaped areas with a fine-tooth saw. Shelves and fixtures also are available at building supply dealers.

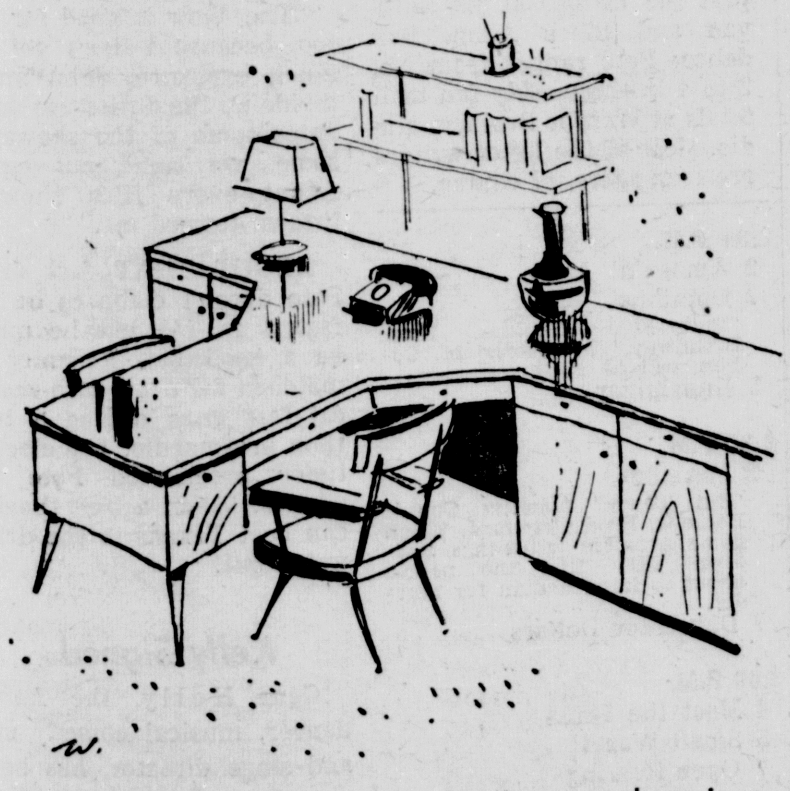
Alcohol and fruit juice stains will not mar pre-decorated hardboard's original factory surface, which never requires refinishing.



DOUBLE STUDY — For den or family room, here is a cleverly designed two-way desk which the family will love. Built of finish grades of west coast hemlock or Douglas fir, it serves as office for Mother and Dad, or study for two children at a time. It can be built right into wall, and finished in natural wood with clear plastic, it looks like choicest piece of furniture.

Do-It-Yourself

Adapt Fireplace To Room's Decor

A fireplace can provide many more years of pleasure if it is given a "new look." Marble-patterned panels of plastic-finished hardboard can be used to provide new and durable tops for fireplaces that show indelible signs of wear and tear.

The material can be applied with approved-type wallboard adhesive right over old walls and fireplace fronts after loose material and excessive soil have been removed. Matching moldings are also available at lumber yards.

Buff Away Gloss

Clear lacquer applied to wood produces a shine that may have too much gloss for some purposes. There are several ways of cutting down this shine. One of the easiest is to buff lightly with a fine steel wool.

"Robin Hood" has been a favorite story with all children for years . . . but did you know it was available at HOY'S on Young People's Records? And who sings the part of "Robin Hood"?

None other than Bill McGraw, the star of "San Francisco Tonight" on KGO-TV several seasons ago! Bill can be seen from time to time on different TV shows. You may see him in March in SEA HUNT, Tuesdays, 7 p.m. KRON-TV. Bill, his wife, Jackie (who is expecting their second child this month), and 3½ year old Bill, Jr. are residing in Van Nuys, Calif.

HOY'S is now having a ONCE A YEAR savings on MAGNAVOX and G-E sets! For an Easter present to your child, HOY'S has an excellent selection of children's records — and the MAGNAVOX Troubador portable hi-fi phonograph, for $69.90 — (a savings of $20.00) is just the machine to play "Robin Hood!" This is the first time a musical version has been presented at the level of young children. The music is by Herbert Haufrecht and the orchestra and chorus is conducted by Max Goberman.

Serialized in dramatic form, "Adventures of Robin Hood" with Richard Greene can be seen on KPIX-TV, Saturdays at 12:30 p.m. For your child's room, HOY'S suggests a new 3-way 17-inch MAGNAVOX Wellington for $159.90. It comes with optional legs or table or fits on a shelf. Don't miss these savings!

Tune in Don Davis with "According to Hoy's" on KTIM, Mon. through Friday, 12:15 p.m.

Peter Brown TV's Youngest Gunslinger

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Brown may or may not be the fastest gun on TV. But he's probably the youngest.

Slim, handsome Pete plays the 19-year-old deputy to John Russell's "Lawman" on ABC Sunday nights. That just about makes him the youngest gunslinger on the TV range. No fair counting Rusty in "Rin Tin Tin."

Pete isn't at all disturbed about portraying the young 'un. He points out that a good number of the famous men of the West were that age or younger. Billy the Kid was a teen-age killer.

THERE ARE SOME who argue that Pete's youth—actually he's 23—is an important factor in pushing "Lawman" past the ratings of Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen. Evidence: Pete ranges from No. 2 to 4 in the weekly fan mail totals at Warner Brothers studio. Most of the letter writers are teen-agers, of course.

"That's all right with me," says the New York-born actor. "I can tell by the mail and by response when I go out on tours that the kids are for me. They are the ones who will make me a star."

AN AMBITIOUS fellow like Pete is apt to get where he wants to go—stardom in feature pictures. It's the same goal of Clint Walker, James Garner and other stablemates at the WB Western factory.

"This show is the best thing that could have happened to me," Pete said. "It gives me training that I couldn't have gotten any other way. We work hard, and we work fast, so when the time comes to do a feature, it will come easy to me."

"The show is good for me, too, because I don't get too much exposure. John and I divide up the duties. He dominates some of the shows; in some, we come out equal. About every fifth show is thrown toward me."

ABOUT THAT fast draw. Pete doesn't claim to be the fastest in TV, but he might be a good bet. Recently he matched his draw with the local fast guns during a telethon in Amarillo. The electric timer proclaimed Pete the winner. When a New Yorker can beat Texans to the draw, watch out!

DRAMA OF IRELAND—Piper Laurie and James MacArthur co-star as a young couple caught up in the Irish rebellion in the "Desilu Playhouse" drama, "The Innocent Assassin." In the hour-long teleplay MacArthur plays a young Irishman who is ordered by the Irish Republican Army to execute a traitor to their cause. The enormity of the act not only strains his loyalty to Ireland, but also threatens his romance with Miss Laurie.

GO-GO-GO!

COLOR

ADVERTISERS WANT "stoppers" — pictures and headlines that flag attention and induce readers to heed the advertising message.

Color is a strikingly effective stopper. Especially in newspaper advertising. A spot of color on an otherwise gray page draws the eye irresistibly. If the offer is timely and attractive, the copy will be read and the ad will pay off in profitable sales.

The I-J offers advertisers one to three extra run-of-paper colors. The additional investment is small compared with the exciting results — color gives your ads 50% to 150% extra "Go-Power"!

Get more details. Call the I-J Display Advertising Dept. and ask for information about color advertising.
